RAILROAD OFFICIALS MAY BEAR RESPONSIBILITY SHOULD STRIKE COME

President Informs Heads of Five Billion Dollars' Worth of Railroad Properties Public Will Know Where Responsibility Rests—Public Has Right to Expect Acceptance of Plan.

NAKED TRUTH TO BE FACED IN CRISIS

Officials Are Informed When They Plead for Consideration of Arbitration Principle That They Face a "Condition, Not a Principle"—Climax in Settlement Expected Monday or Tuesday.

Washington, Aug. 19.—President Wilson appealed to the railroad officials today to abandon their insistence on arbitration of the dispute threatening a nationwide strike and accept his plan of settlement, already agreed to by the employes, because in his opinion, the railroads are contending for a principle which it seemingly is impossible to apply to the present situation.

In one of the most dramatic scenes known to the white house in recent years, the president declared to the heads of $5,000,000,000 worth of properties, assembled at his summons:

"If a strike comes, the public will know where the responsibility rests. It will not be upon me."

PUBLIC EXPECTS ACCEPTANCE OF PLAN.

A few minutes later he issued a statement saying the public has a right to expect acceptance of his plan.

Refusing acceptance for the present, but not giving a final answer, Hale Holden, president of the Burlington road and spokesman for the thirty-three railroad officials, urged the president to uphold the principles of arbitration and declared his plan would "place in peril all that has been accomplished in the peaceful adjustment of labor controversies by methods of arbitration."

At the close of the conference, President Wilson summoned to Washington additional presidents of railroads from the west and executives already here, told him they would confer among themselves next week, probably Monday. Meanwhile representatives of both the railroads and the employes will remain here for informal conferences.

SITUATION NOT HOPELESS, BUT GRAVE.

The situation tonight was described tonight by a railroad president "not hopeless but grave." It will be at a standstill until Monday at least. As a result of the day's conferences, it was said on good authority that many of the railroad presidents looked upon the possibility of a strike as more remote than at any time since they came to Washington.

While President Wilson was still addressing the railroad executives telling them they faced "a condition, not a principle," his statement to the country reviewing his plan and characterizing it as a "thoroughly practicable and fair program," was given out. In the statement he urged the adoption of the eight-hour day because he "believed the concession right," suggested the creation by congress of a small body of men to investigate the results and urged abandonment of the demand for time and a half overtime pay by the men and "contingent" proposals by the railroads.

RIGHT OF EVERY CITIZEN TO BE HEARD.

"Mr. Holden insisted upon arbitration in his reply to the president, because "it is essentially the common right of every citizen of whatever condition in life to be heard." And because experience "has put the right to

CENTRAL POWERS ATTACKED IN ALL THEATRES OF WAR

LONG EXPECTED GENERAL OFFENSIVE ON SALONIKI FRONT OPENS ON TEUTONS WHICH MAY RESULT IN FINAL CONTESTS OF WAR.

The long expected general offensive on the Saloniki front has opened and the grand assault against the forces of the central powers now is in progress in every theatre of the world war. General Sarrail is attacking the Bulgar-German forces along the entire Greek-Serbian frontier, a distance of more than 150 miles.

Reports from both Berlin and Paris indicate that the entente allies are following the same tactics in the Balkans that signalized the opening of the great offensive on the Somme. Some bodies of troops are attacking at numerous points along the Bulgarian lines apparently with the intention of feeling out their opponents' position before the real battle opens. The French claim the capture of a number of villages in the initial phases of the offensive, while Berlin reports the capture of Florina, a Greek town fifteen miles southeast of Monastir, from the Serbians. Serbian headquarters admits this repulse.

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES ON EASTERN FRONT.

On the eastern front the Russians have forced their way into the great mountain barrier between Galicia and the Hungarian plains. The Austrians admit a retirement west of Jablonitza, the gateway to one of the most important passes through the mountains which was seized by the Russians last week.

Further to the south on the Bukowina end of the battle line the Russians have been forced back in their advance on the Kirlibaba, the next pass south of Jablonitza and about fifty miles from that point.

Memphis Ice Wagon Drivers Vote to Strike

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 19.—About 200 union ice wagon drivers and helpers tonight voted to strike when the several ice manufacturing concerns here failed to accede to demands for increased wages. The strike was ordered effective tomorrow morning.

GULF STORM CAUSE OF PROPERTY LOSS WITH FEW DEATHS

RAILROADS DAMAGED $300,000

Reports from Border Towns Indicate Considerable Property Loss, but No Fatalities—Storm Subsides and People Are Taking Stock of Conditions Caused by One Night's Gale.

Fort Worth, Aug. 20.—Allison Mayfield, chairman of the Texas railroad commission, together with William Capps of Fort Worth and Captain Armstrong of Rockport, is missing according to word received here last night. The three men left Rockport Thursday on a fishing trip and no word has been received from them since.

First communication with Corpus Christi, where Friday night's tropical storm was believed to have been felt hardest, showed Saturday afternoon that no great damage had been done to the city and that there were no fatalities there.

Greatest property damage was in the quarter where the Corpus Beach hotel is located. The hotel was partially unroofed by the heavy gale. All guests had been removed, however, and there were no casualties. Summer cottages, bathing pavilions and a pleasure pier in that section were entirely demolished.

The business section of Corpus Christi was not damaged beyond the breaking of scores of plate glass windows.

The food and water situation there was good, it was reported.

Interest has centered on the effect of the storm at Port Aransas and Aransas Pass, in the absence of definite word from those points. Each is a popular fishing resort, as well as a shipping center. Some believe these points may have felt the storm more severely than Corpus Christi.

Tonight's information shows that the fatalities reported during the day at Rockport were confused with the drowning of ten men of the crew of the steamer Pilot Boy, which sank off Aransas Pass Friday afternoon. These were the only deaths from the storm. The restored communication with Laredo, Texas, showed that city and the

George F. Weeks, an American newspaper man who has long been one of General Carranza's advisers, brings to the American people a new and fresh viewpoint of Mexico under Carranza rule. He reports that Mexico is just beginning an extraordinary period of prosperity under the government of Carranza, and that the hope of Mexico now is a long era of peace. The principal reason for this he ascribes to the fact that foreign merchants have come to the conclusion that the Carranza government is a stable one, and that import and export figures are showing great increases.

ARMED MOB HANGS NEGRO TO PHONE POLE AT RICE

NEGRO ACCUSED OF ATTEMPTED ASSAULT ON WHITE GIRL IS TAKEN FROM OFFICERS AND LYNCHED BEFORE REACHING JAIL.

Rice, Texas, Aug. 19.—Ed Lang, negro, was hanged to a telephone pole near here today by an armed mob of citizens for attempted criminal assault on a young white girl. Although posses caught the negro and turned him over to officers, a second contingent of citizens took the negro away from their custody and lynched him.

CLOSING OF STATE BANK IS FOLLOWED BY TWO WARRANTS

BANK CASHIER AND MAYOR OF LONGVIEW DISAPPEAR IN AUTOMOBILE TUESDAY NIGHT AND WHEREABOUTS IS UNKNOWN. SHORTAGE ABOUT $125,000.

Longview, Texas, Aug. 19.—As a result of the closing of the People's State bank here yesterday by order of State Bank Commissioner Patterson, warrants were issued today for Cashier G. M. Campbell and G. A. Bodenheim, mayor of Longview, charging embezzlement, misapplication of funds and false entries. Campbell and Bodenheim left Longview Tuesday night in an automobile and their whereabouts is not known.

It is said the shortage in the bank's accounts aggregates $125,000. Bodenheim was a cotton broker and is reputed to have lost heavily in cotton speculations recently. It is thought many brokerage firms will lose heavily. The net loss in cotton transactions is estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000. Depositors in the People's bank are believed to be amply protected under the guarantee law.

Spirit of Soldiers Good.

San Antonio, Aug. 19.—A wireless message from Fort Sam Houston, from Gen. Parker, Brownsville, said the total damage to national guard camps in that district will not exceed from $5,000 to $10,000. General Parker said the spirit of the men was good and practically all were in position again.

FIVE NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY MOB AT JONESVILLE, FLA

THREE MEN AND TWO WOMEN PAY PENALTY FOR AIDING IN ESCAPE OF NEGRO ACCUSED OF KILLING CONSTABLE THE DAY BEFORE.

Gainesville, Fla., Aug. 19.—Five negroes, three men and two women, were taken from the jail at Newberry, Fla., early today and hanged by a mob, and another negro man was shot and killed by deputy sheriffs near Jonesville, Fla., as the result of the killing yesterday of Constable S. G. Wynne and the shooting of D. L. Harris by Boisey Long, a negro. The lynched negroes were accused of aiding Long to escape.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON IS RELEASED AT VIENNA

New York, Aug. 19.—The release from prison in Vienna of Miss Alice Masaryk, daughter of an American woman, who was charged with high treason, was announced here tonight by Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul. Miss Masaryk, it was said, was freed July 3. Miss Masaryk is a daughter of Prof. Thomas Masaryk of Prague, who married a daughter of Rodolphe Garrigue, a New York banker. Dr. Marasyk is living in England, where he fled soon after the break of the war. His daughter's arrest, it has been charged, was due to the fact that on her father's departure from Prague she took charge of his library.

Dr. Masaryk is a staunch advocate of Bohemian nationality and attracted attention by his attacks on the treatment by Austria of the Southern Slavs and of the manner of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

State department officials t Washington informed those who asked some time ago that an appeal be made to the Austrian in Miss Masaryk's behalf, that the United States probably would make an informal inquiry through Ambassador Penfield.

No Word from Corpus.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 19.—No further word had been received in Dallas from Corpus Christi or other portions of South Texas swept by last night's storm other than the meagre details sent to the Associated Press at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. It appeared that the temporary wire which carried that information had failed and had not been recovered.

FUNSTON RECOMMENDS ABANDONMENT OF THE PUNITIVE EXPEDITION

Department Officials Express Regret at Premature Publication of Commander's Conclusions, but Indicate Plans Will Not Be Altered. Funston's Advice Asked to Aid Commission.

ADVICE MAY HAMPER COMMISSION'S WORK

This Question Virtually Settled, American Commissioners May Find It Hard to Obtain Proper Guarantees from Mexican Government as to Security of the Border from Bandit Raids.

JUAREZ REJOICES AT WITHDRAWAL NEWS

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 19.—Mexican reports in Juarez today indicated that no steps have been taken by Gen. J. J. Pershing's expedition looking toward a general withdrawal from Mexico. The American expedition lies stretched out in a compact line from Columbus, N. M., to El Valle, Chihuahua, a distance of about two hundred miles, the field headquarters being maintained at Colonia Dublan, 120 miles south of Columbus.

Reports that General Funston had recommended the withdrawal were received with the greatest enthusiasm in Juarez. General Gabriel Gavira, inspector general of the Carranza armies, and General Francisco Gonzales, commandant said that the withdrawal, if true "will tend to eliminate the greatest cloud upon the Mexican horizon."

$150,000 for Books for Border Troops.

San Antonio, Aug. 19.—D. L. Rogers, field secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was advised today that the Rockefeller Foundation had appropriated $150,000 for books for the troops along the border. A committee, it was stated, is now engaged in New York selecting the literature which will comprise works regarding the history of Mexico and Texas, fiction and scientific works. The idea is to select books that will interest and instruct men and to have them circulated with a view of reaching the greatest number of men in camps. The first consignment is expected to reach Texas within a few days and will be sent to the border at once. Other contributions from all parts of the United States aggregate several thousand volumes.

FUNSTON DECLINES TO TALK

San Antonio, Aug. 19.—General Funston when told that it had been admitted in Washington that he had recommended troop withdrawal from Mexico, declined to discuss the matter.

Washington, Aug. 19.—A recommendation from General Funston that the American troops be withdrawn was contained in a recent report of the situation at the request of the war department and designed for use in the joint commission which will discuss border problems. State department officials do not attempt to disguise their regret over premature publication of General Funston's conclusions, but they indicated today that it would not cause any alteration in plans.

WITHDRAWAL MOST PRESSING QUESTION.

Officials realize, it is understood, that the most pressing matter for discussion by the commission from the Mexican viewpoint will be the question of withdrawal of General Pershing's expeditionary forces. In order to furnish the American commissioners with full information, Gen. Funston was asked to express his views on the military aspects of the expedition. There is every indication that the commissioners and later the administration were expected to abide by the recommendations of the chief military adviser on border matters. Publication of the fact that General Funston believes it wise to withdraw the troops may hamper the American commissioners, some officials think, in obtaining whatever guarantees they may ask of the Mexican government as to security of the border from bandit raids. It is believed the administration was fully prepared to arrange for the recall of General Pershing's forces since both state and war department officials are understood to share the views expressed in General Funston's report.

COMMISSION TO CONSIDER OTHER MATTERS.

There can be little doubt, it now is said, that the withdrawal will be promptly agreed to when the commission meets, the conferees then turning their attention to the drafting of a protocol to cover future border operations, investigation of the causes of bandit raids and such other matters as they may wish to take up.

No intimation came from the white house today as to when announcement of the American membership of the commission might be expected. In view o fSecretary Lansing's recent assurances to Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate, that the commission could be assembled very soon it was believed tonight the names of commissioners would be made public early next week.

Double-Header With Oilers; News Will Show Both Games

Spectators at the Morning News electric score board yesterday afternoon saw a remarkable inning depicted—an inning that not only sewed up the game for the Navigators, but that was unique in many ways. In the first place, Beaumont had beaten Waco the day before with a left-hander. Having another left-hander in good shape, it was only natural for Manager Perry of the Oilers to start him today. He went fine for five innings. The dope ran true to form—all of Waco's left-handed batters proved easy victims to his offside shoots.

Then three left-hand hitters singled in a row and filled the bases. After that the hits and runs came so fast that nobody could keep up with them. The red lights flashed so fast from first to second to third to home that it looked like a ring of fire. These Waco batsmen didn't lose any time. No sooner would the red light denote a batsman up than the light would flash off—no balls or strikes or anything. Everybody up was pasting that first one. Three of the club's left-hand hitters, Causey, Bittle and Coyle each made two hits in this one inning.

It was a great inning to show on a board and the operator was happy for the first time in two days.

Today will be a great day, too. Waco will celebrate her last stand in Oilertown for the season by staging a double-header. The first game will be called at 3 o'clock and both games will be depicted on the scoreboard next to the News building to the west.

It is likely that Perritt will start for Waco against Watkins. These two classy pitchers staged a great battle when the Oilers were here the last time, the spectacled gentlemen taking Poll to 12-innings before he could gain a decision.

It's hard to tell just who'll pitch the second game. If Waco wins the first, the chances are that George Sage will start the second. Again, it is barely possible that Waco will get to Watkins or Harbin early and pile up a safe lead, in which event Poll may be pulled and saved for the second game, Sage taking up the pitching. Again, if the foolem boy, Perritt, has an easy game and the second one is to be seven innings, he may work both, although this of course is only a possibility.

Probably if Perritt should happen to drop his game, Eddie Donalds will work the second. Indeed, Donalds may start the first game, as he worked but seven innings of the Thursday game which he lost in the last inning.

Anyhow, somebody'll pitch and the News would like to see your smiling countenance facing its board.

Those pesky Gassers hung right on to us yesterday. They, too, have a double-header on with Santone, which will be bulletined throughout the afternoon, as will the other Texas league games. Late in the afternoon the big league results will be posted.

Many ladies were in the crowd yesterday. A special place has been reserved for them and they soon caught the hang of reading the lights and were as tensely interested as if watching a real game.

Low Price of Cotton Seed Believed Result of Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Laws

Washington, Aug. 19.—Investigation of complaints that a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law is responsible for the low price of cotton seed throughout the south has been begun by the department of justice.

The complaints came originally from Texas and Alabama, but the whole south is involved and the investigation will not be confined to those two states.

The information given the department was general in character and there were no facts furnished to show who is supposed to be responsible for the low price of cotton.

Cotton growers wrote the department, however, expressing their conviction that the depression is due to artificial conditions.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Rev. Wm. B. Marye, an evangelist, was brought to Charleston late today by postoffice inspectors who charged him with sending threatening letters to President Woodrow Wilson. He was arrested at Ada, W. Va. When taken before a United States commissioner, Marye admitted he had written to President Wilson urging him to prevent further munition shipments to the entente allies. He will be taken to Webster Springs, W. Va., Monday, where his case will be heard in a federal court if an indictment is returned.

Marye is a native of Fredericksburg, Va., but has lived for several years in California.

It is said the shortage in the bank's accounts aggregates $125,000. Bodenheim was a cotton broker and is reputed to have lost heavily in cotton speculations recently. It is thought many brokerage firms will lose heavily. The net loss in cotton transactions is estimated at between $300,000 and $400,000. Depositors in the People's bank are believed to be amply protected under the guarantee law.

Spirit of Soldiers Good.

San Antonio, Aug. 19.—A wireless message from Fort Sam Houston, from Gen. Parker, Brownsville, said the total damage to national guard camps in that district will not exceed from $5,000 to $10,000. General Parker said the spirit of the men was good and practically all were in position again.

FIVE NEGROES ARE LYNCHED BY MOB AT JONESVILLE, FLA

THREE MEN AND TWO WOMEN PAY PENALTY FOR AIDING IN ESCAPE OF NEGRO ACCUSED OF KILLING CONSTABLE THE DAY BEFORE.

Gainesville, Fla., Aug. 19.—Five negroes, three men and two women, were taken from the jail at Newberry, Fla., early today and hanged by a mob, and another negro man was shot and killed by deputy sheriffs near Jonesville, Fla., as the result of the killing yesterday of Constable S. G. Wynne and the shooting of D. L. Harris by Boisey Long, a negro. The lynched negroes were accused of aiding Long to escape.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON IS RELEASED AT VIENNA

New York, Aug. 19.—The release from prison in Vienna of Miss Alice Masaryk, daughter of an American woman, who was charged with high treason, was announced here tonight by Alexander von Nuber, Austrian consul. Miss Masaryk, it was said, was freed July 3. Miss Masaryk is a daughter of Prof. Thomas Masaryk of Prague, who married a daughter of Rodolphe Garrigue, a New York banker. Dr. Marasyk is living in England, where he fled soon after the break of the war. His daughter's arrest, it has been charged, was due to the fact that on her father's departure from Prague she took charge of his library.

Dr. Masaryk is a staunch advocate of Bohemian nationality and attracted attention by his attacks on the treatment by Austria of the Southern Slavs and of the manner of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina.

State department officials at Washington informed those who asked some time ago that an appeal be made to the Austrian in Miss Masaryk's behalf, that the United States probably would make an informal inquiry through Ambassador Penfield.

No Word from Corpus.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 19.—No further word had been received in Dallas from Corpus Christi or other portions of South Texas swept by last night's storm other than the meagre details sent to the Associated Press at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. It appeared that the temporary wire which carried that information had failed and had not been recovered.

Low Price of Cotton Seed Believed Result of Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Laws

Washington, Aug. 19.—Investigation of complaints that a combination in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law is responsible for the low price of cotton seed throughout the south has been begun by the department of justice.

The complaints came originally from Texas and Alabama, but the whole south is involved and the investigation will not be confined to those two states.

The information given the department was general in character and there were no facts furnished to show who is supposed to be responsible for the low price of cotton.

Cotton growers wrote the department, however, expressing their conviction that the depression is due to artificial conditions.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Rev. Wm. B. Marye, an evangelist, was brought to Charleston late today by postoffice inspectors who charged him with sending threatening letters to President Woodrow Wilson. He was arrested at Ada, W. Va. When taken before a United States commissioner, Marye admitted he had written to President Wilson urging him to prevent further munition shipments to the entente allies. He will be taken to Webster Springs, W. Va., Monday, where his case will be heard in a federal court if an indictment is returned.

Marye is a native of Fredericksburg, Va., but has lived for several years in California.

Double-Header With Oilers; News Will Show Both Games

Then three left-hand hitters singled in a row and filled the bases. After that the hits and runs came so fast that nobody could keep up with them. The red lights flashed so fast from first to second to third to home that it looked like a ring of fire. These Waco batsmen didn't lose any time. No sooner would the red light denote a batsman up than the light would flash off—no balls or strikes or anything. Everybody up was pasting that first one. Three of the club's left-hand hitters, Causey, Bittle and Coyle each made two hits in this one inning.

It was a great inning to show on a board and the operator was happy for the first time in two days.

Today will be a great day, too. Waco will celebrate her last stand in Oilertown for the season by staging a double-header. The first game will be called at 3 o'clock and both games will be depicted on the scoreboard next to the News building to the west.

It is likely that Perritt will start for Waco against Watkins. These two classy pitchers staged a great battle when the Oilers were here the last time, the spectacled gentlemen taking Poll to 12-innings before he could gain a decision.

It's hard to tell just who'll pitch the second game. If Waco wins the first, the chances are that George Sage will start the second. Again, it is barely possible that Waco will get to Watkins or Harbin early and pile up a safe lead, in which event Poll may be pulled and saved for the second game, Sage taking up the pitching. Again, if the foolem boy, Perritt, has an easy game and the second one is to be seven innings, he may work both, although this of course is only a possibility.

Probably if Perritt should happen to drop his game, Eddie Donalds will work the second. Indeed, Donalds may start the first game, as he worked but seven innings of the Thursday game which he lost in the last inning.

Anyhow, somebody'll pitch and the News would like to see your smiling countenance facing its board.

Those pesky Gassers hung right on to us yesterday. They, too, have a double-header on with Santons, which will be bulletined throughout the afternoon, as will the other Texas league games. Late in the afternoon the big league results will be posted.

Many ladies were in the crowd yesterday. A special place has been reserved for them and they soon caught the hang of reading the lights and were as tensely interested as if watching a real game.

COLQUITT'S PUBLIC ACTS REVIEWED BY JOHN M. DUNCAN

"LEST WE FORGET" IS KEYNOTE OF SUMMARY TENDING TO SHOW INCAPABILITY OF CANDIDATE FOR ANY POSITION REQUIRING EXECUTIVE ABILITY.

Editor Waco Morning News:

Had Mr. Colquitt been the most loyal democrat in Texas and the most faithful supporter of the president and his policies, he is still temperamentally and intellectually unfit to be United States senator. His whole public career shows him to be erratic, arrogant, domineering, intensely conceited and lacking in every element of statesmanship. Without real ability, he belongs to that class of shallow politicians who are prolific in nostrums and crazy expedients for the cure of all public ills, and who, regardless of the constitution, of common sense and of business principles, are quick to devise and proclaim specious measures of relief which are not the result of knowledge, wisdom or intelligent thought, but of a mad desire to popularize themselves with the masses. Promising the reign of peace and quiet he became governor, and he made the four years of his administration the most turbulent and stormy since reconstruction. He has never been consistent or steadfast in anything except in his slavish loyalty and obedience to the liquor interests, and in his determination to occupy the spotlight on every possible occasion.

When a candidate for governor in 1906, he proposed an elaborate measure revolutionizing the system of taxation—one which would have destroyed the public schools and led to disaster and chaos generally. He was defeated, and although a successful candidate for the same office four years later, he never mentioned his grand conception again.

During his first term he began a war on the Daughters of the Republic of Texas to wrest from them and vest in himself the custody and control of the historic Alamo and grounds. The custody of these had been given by a law of 1905 to the Daughters, and Governor Lanham in pursuance thereof in that year by written order transferred it to them. Governor Colquitt issued an edict wholly without law or precedent to support it, cancelling and withdrawing the order of Governor Lanham, nullifying the law of 1905 and directing the superintendent of public buildings and grounds to take possession of the property. In this edict the superintendent was directed to "place a Texas flag on the ramparts of the Alamo and keep it displayed at all times." This was doubtless to signalize the victory of this brave warrior against women, over the Daughters of the Republic. This course of the governor brought on a litigation in which it was finally held by the supreme court that the statute of 1905 was valid and that the Daughters were entitled to the custody of the Alamo, but the injunction they asked for was denied upon the ground that the entry of the superintendent of public buildings and grounds to make improvements did not interfere with their possession.

While governor in 1914 he devised a most elaborate and complicated bill for the establishment of what he termed The Bank of Texas, by which, among other revolutionary things, it proposed to take the entire permanent school fund of the state, a fund sacredly set apart for the support of common schools, consisting of $18,000,000 of interest bearing securities, and invest it in the stock of his wildcat bank. The bill was in plain conflict with three or four express provisions of the state constitution, but that did not "faze" him in the least. It would have abolished the state treasury and treasurer and in effect turned over the government to the officers and directors of The Bank of Texas. He claimed that the scheme "came to" him seven years before. In view of this it is a curious circumstance that the bill was plainly a bad imitation of the federal reserve banking act passed only a year before. Indeed, whole sections with the change of very few words were cribbed bodily from that law—a law which he now says is a failure. He squandered at least $150,000 of the people's money in calling two successive sessions of the legislature in 1914 in the attempt to force the passage of this measure, but it was so manifestly unconstitutional, chimerical and dangerous that even many members who had been among his closest friends voted against it and it was overwhelmingly defeated.

At the third special session of the legislature in 1914 he conceived and caused to be prepared and introduced in the legislature a bill well worthy of an inmate of a lunatic asylum. It proposed to make it a felony for a farmer's family to plant more than twenty acres in cotton for the year 1915. He stated in his message accompanying the bill that the attorney general had at his request prepared it. (House Journal, Third Called Session, p. 100.)

Fearing that many people will not believe it possible that such was the nature of the measure, I here set it out in full as found on page 128, Senate Journal, Third Called Session of 1914, except the emergency section and the section penalizing corporations:

"Section 1. That from and after January 1, A. D. 1915, the maximum quantity of land which it shall be lawful for any family or household, or the immediate servants or employes of such family or household for them, to plant, cultivate or grow in cotton within this state, or for any person not a constituent member of any family or household, or for his servants or employes for him, or for any corporation or its servants or employes for it, to plant, cultivate or grow in cotton within this state for one year from January 1, A. D. 1915, shall be twenty acres; provided, this limitation shall apply only to the family, household or immediate servants threeof, or to a person not a constituent member of a family or household and his servants and employes, or to any corporations, its servants and employes, and not to the quantity of land which may be cultivated on any one farm or plantation.

"Section 2. Any person who for himself or for another, whether such person shall be a natural person or a corporation, shall violate the terms of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be confined in the penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than five years, or by fine of not exceeding $5,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided further, that the suspended sentence act of this state shall not apply to those convicted under this act, and that the sentence herein required to be imposed upon conviction shall not in any event be suspended."

Mark you, it was not twenty acres per person, but per family or household. He proposed to send farmers to the penitentiary by whole families, and so bent was he upon making the law effective that he provided that violators of it should be exempt from the application of the suspended sentence law. The bill was introduced in the sentence on the day the message was sent in, October 6, 1914. Its publication in the newspapers raised such a storm of indignation that the governor sent in another message on October 9, in which with characteristic adroitness and audacity he endeavored to escape responsibility for the felony feature and saddle it on Looney. He says in this message, "Since the presentation of this subject to you my mail has been flooded by petitions and private letters from farmers and merchants about this course." He then goes on to say that the bill was prepared by the attorney general; that he did not have time to read it, and that "I do not recommend, in fact I am opposed to making any violation of the law a felony."

Now note the equivocal language of these extracts. He does not say that he did not know that the bill as prepared by Looney contained the felony penalty, nor that he did not suggest such a penalty, but that he did not read the bill. In his message accompanying its introduction, as we have seen, he stated that it was prepared by Looney at his request. Nor does he say that he did not favor that penalty at the time the bill was introduced, but that he is now opposed to it. The "flood" of petitions and letters from farmers and merchants had evidently changed his mind, but he did not have the candor to admit it. He still, however, urged the passage of the bill with misdemeanor penalties.

No matter what Mr. Looney advised about its constitutionality, it does not take a lawyer to known that such a law would have been an unconstitutional and outrageous invasion of personal liberty. It is strange that a man so devoted to "personal liberty" as to urge it for the protection of the liquor traffic could find in neither the constitution nor democratic principles any protection for the personal liberty of the farmer to plant as much cotton as he pleases.

But here is the main point and pith of this whole episode, showing the fine foresight and statesmanship of Mr. Colquitt: It turned out that the average price received by the farmer for the cotton crop of 1915 was 11 1-2 cents a pound, and that the enormous increase in the price of cotton seed brought the farmer such returns from them as would make the average price realized from his cotton 15 cents a pound, or $75 a bale. Had Colquitt's twenty-acre law been passed and enforced, whether by felony or by misdemeanor penalties, it would have reduced the Texas acreage by at least one-half. The Texas 1915 crop was 3,374,000 bales. It would thus have reduced the crop 1,687,000 bales, which would have been a dead loss to the farmers of Texas of one hundred and twenty-six million, five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

The bill was not only an insult to the farmers, but it would have been their ruin and that of thousands of merchants had it become a law. A man who has so little sense as to invent and urge the passage of such a fool bill has not sense enough to be United States senator.

Is it possible that any farmer acquainted with all these facts and who is able to get to the polls will not come out and vote against Colquitt on the 26th, if he has to walk ten miles to cast his ballot?

military camps surrounding it to have felt a heavy aftermath to the storm which hit the coast.

First Word by Messenger.

Houston, Aug. 19.—The first word to reach Houston out of Kingsville near the storm center, was by dispatch, carried to the nearest telegraph station, Sinton, and sent to the Chronicle. This dispatch says that the Casa Ricardo hotel at Kingsville was badly damaged, many windows being broken and that many small buildings were blown down.

Storm Reaches Laredo.

Laredo, Aug. 19.—Considerable property damage and great inconvenience to troops in the various national guard camps in the Laredo district resulted from a tropical storm which raged here from 6 o'clock last night until 4 o'clock this morning. For several hours Laredo was completely cut off from wire communication with the outside world. Practically every tent of the 9000 soldiers was blown down and the men were exposed to torrential rains for several hours.

No Loss of Life at Port O'Connor.

Victoria, Texas, Aug. 19.—Arrivals here from Port Lavaca, Port O'Connor and Seadrift, neighboring coasts, say that final investigation discloses no loss of life at those points in last night's hurricane.

The porch of the La Salle hotel at Port O'Connor was blown down, a moving picture theatre demolished, the Frisco roundhouse was destroyed and seventy-five summer cottages on the bluff were badly damaged. Water stood in the Frisco depot.

EARS ON SUBMARINE MINES.

American Inventor Has a New Defense Against U-Boats.

(Popular Science Monthly.)

Edward F. Chandler, an inventor who has made a close study of submarine problems, has worked out a system of supplying microphones to mines so that it would be possible to blow up a submarine trying to worm its way into a mine protected harbor, or a battleship seeking to enter a harbor at night or in a dense fog.

"In my system," writes Mr. Chandler, "the mines are arranged in groups of four, each group constituting a field unit. On each mine a microphone is mounted. These microphones literally hear the hum of a submarine's motor. Not only that, but the particular microphone which hears the submarine best because it is the nearest to it, can easily be located.

"It is simple enough to determine whether a submarine is nearer mine 1 or mine 2 of a given field unit of four mines. The field units are interconnected electrically, so that the entire harbor is sown with high explosive.

"A mine field equipped with microphones in the manner indicated is electrically connected with a luminous annunciator. In other words, wires run from each microphone to a board which is divided into squares corresponding in number with those of the mine field units. Behind each square a lamp is mounted. As a hostile ship passes through a mine field the nearest microphones pick up the vibrations of her propellers and the corresponding lamps on the board glow."

Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Rockefeller Foundation held July 14, an appropriation of $50,000, or so much thereof as might be needed, was made for the assistance of the department of health of the city of New York in controlling the epidemic of infantile paralysis.

This appropriation is to be expended by a special committee appointed by the mayor of the city of New York, of which his honor is chairman and Dr. Simon Flexner, vice chairman. Dr. Alvah H. Doty, formerly health officer of the port of New York, is the executive officer of the committee.

Remarkable Road And Race Track Records

JUNE, July and August have recorded a series of remarkable racing records achieved with the aid of Goodyear Cord Tires.

These victories are valuable because they offer corroborative evidence of the very qualities for which Goodyear Cord Tires are famous.

The terrific speed of the shorter contests, and the sustained speed of the longer ones, are added proof of that stoutness, liveliness and speediness which every Goodyear owner experiences in every-day use, and which led to the adoption of Goodyear Cord Tires as standard equipment on the Franklin, the Packard Twin-Six, the Locomobile, the Peerless, the White, the Haynes Twelve, and the Stutz.

In this race, the biggest event of the season on the Pacific Coast, and one of the few races recognized by the American Automobile Association, Eddie Rickenbacher won on Goodyear Cord Tires without tire trouble. He changed his four tires for safety's sake only. Lewis who won third changed but one tire. De Palma who won fourth changed but one tire. Illinois Governor Starts Home After Investigating Condition of Soldiers

Houston, Aug. 19.—"I came to Texas to satisfy myself as to the condition of the soldiers on the border because of the newspaper accounts which we received. I found that the most scrupulous care was being taken of them, that their physical condition was excellent and that their surroundings were good. Everything that possibly can be done for their comfort is being done."

This was the statement of Gov. E. F. Dunne of Illinois, who arrived in Houston Saturday after an inspection of the military conditions along the border.

Governor Dunne and his party were passengers on the first train to leave the storm stricken area of Brownsville. He came in on the gulf coast train which left Brownsville at 4 p. m. Friday. It arrived at the Union station at 7:45 p. m. Saturday.

"It was in response to an invitation from General Parker, commanding the Brownsville district, that I came to Texas to inspect the camps," said Governor Dunne. "I found the Illinois troops in excellent condition. I am proud of the way the cavalry is getting along, also the two brigades of infantry at San Antonio and the signal corps.

"The men seem to be satisfied with conditions, although many of them feel impatient. They say that if there is not going to be a scrap they want to get back to their business and homes."

Cure Hog Cholera With Oats.

Whenever a hog dies with a mysterious disease folks call it cholera. About five years ago, says G. W. Ward, in Farm and Home, my hogs began to die and it was called cholera, but really was pneumonia. I had seven shotes that weighed about 140 pounds each. They began to get sick and in two days four died. I cut the carcasses open and found the bowels badly packed. The contents were hard. The lungs and heart were affected and the liver "cooked to a jelly." The hogs had staggered as they walked and seemed to stiffen.

I was feeding alfalfa, cut with a scythe, and other green feed, but they got sick just the same. To save three out of the seven I boiled oats and gave them the water to drink for five days and no other feed but cooked oats. I didn't allow the oats to become sour before being fed. I fed the grain cold, but gave the first water off the oats warm, say for three doses and not over a pint to a hog, so as to be sure they drank it all. Three times in ten hours is often enough. Just pour it in the trough; don't try to drench.

Governor Colquitt issued an edict wholly without law or precedent to support it, cancelling and withdrawing the order of Governor Lanham, nullifying the law of 1905 and directing the superintendent of public buildings and grounds to take possession of the property. In this edict the superintendent was directed to "place a Texas flag on the ramparts of the Alamo and keep it displayed at all times." This was doubtless to signalize the victory of this brave warrior against women, over the Daughters of the Republic. This course of the governor brought on a litigation in which it was finally held by the supreme court that the statute of 1905 was valid and that the Daughters were entitled to the custody of the Alamo, but the injunction they asked for was denied upon the ground that the entry of the superintendent of public buildings and grounds to make improvements did not interfere with their possession.

While governor in 1914 he devised a most elaborate and complicated bill for the establishment of what he termed The Bank of Texas, by which, among other revolutionary things, it proposed to take the entire permanent school fund of the state, a fund sacredly set apart for the support of common schools, consisting of $18,000,000 of interest bearing securities, and invest it in the stock of his wildcat bank. The bill was in plain conflict with three or four express provisions of the state constitution, but that did not "faze" him in the least. It would have abolished the state treasury and treasurer and in effect turned over the government to the officers and directors of The Bank of Texas. He claimed that the scheme "came to" him seven years before. In view of this it is a curious circumstance that the bill was plainly a bad imitation of the federal reserve banking act passed only a year before. Indeed, whole sections with the change of very few words were cribbed bodily from that law—a law which he now says is a failure. He squandered at least $150,000 of the people's money in calling two successive sessions of the legislature in 1914 in the attempt to force the passage of this measure, but it was so manifestly unconstitutional, chimerical and dangerous that even many members who had been among his closest friends voted against it and it was overwhelmingly defeated.

At the third special session of the legislature in 1914 he conceived and caused to be prepared and introduced in the legislature a bill well worthy of an inmate of a lunatic asylum. It proposed to make it a felony for a farmer's family to plant more than twenty acres in cotton for the year 1915. He stated in his message accompanying the bill that the attorney general had at his request prepared it. (House Journal, Third Called Session, p. 100.)

Fearing that many people will not believe it possible that such was the nature of the measure, I here set it out in full as found on page 128, Senate Journal, Third Called Session of 1914, except the emergency section and the section penalizing corporations:

"Section 1. That from and after January 1, A. D. 1915, the maximum quantity of land which it shall be lawful for any family or household, or the immediate servants or employes of such family or household for them, to plant, cultivate or grow in cotton within this state, or for any person not a constituent member of any family or household, or for his servants or employes for him, or for any corporation or its servants or employes for it, to plant, cultivate or grow in cotton within this state for one year from January 1, A. D. 1915, shall be twenty acres; provided, this limitation shall apply only to the family, household or immediate servants thereof, or to a person not a constituent member of a family or household and his servants and employes, or to any corporations, its servants and employes, and not to the quantity of land which may be cultivated on any one farm or plantation.

"Section 2. Any person who for himself or for another, whether such person shall be a natural person or a corporation, shall violate the terms of this section shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be deemed guilty of a felony and upon conviction shall be confined in the penitentiary for a term of not less than one year nor more than five years, or by fine of not exceeding $5,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided further, that the suspended sentence act of this state shall not apply to those convicted under this act, and that the sentence herein required to be imposed upon conviction shall not in any event be suspended."

Mark you, it was not twenty acres per person, but per family or household. He proposed to send farmers to the penitentiary by whole families, and so bent was he upon making the law effective that he provided that violators of it should be exempt from the application of the suspended sentence law. The bill was introduced in the sentence on the day the message was sent in, October 6, 1914. Its publication in the newspapers raised such a storm of indignation that the governor sent in another message on October 9, in which with characteristic adroitness and audacity he endeavored to escape responsibility for the felony feature and saddle it on Looney. He says in this message, "Since the presentation of this subject to you my mail has been flooded by petitions and private letters from farmers and merchants about this course." He then goes on to say that the bill was prepared by the attorney general; that he did not have time to read it, and that "I do not recommend, in fact I am opposed to making any violation of the law a felony."

Now note the equivocal language of these extracts. He does not say that he did not know that the bill as prepared by Looney contained the felony penalty, nor that he did not suggest such a penalty, but that he did not read the bill. In his message accompanying its introduction, as we have seen, he stated that it was prepared by Looney at his request. Nor does he say that he did not favor that penalty at the time the bill was introduced, but that he is now opposed to it. The "flood" of petitions and letters from farmers and merchants had evidently changed his mind, but he did not have the candor to admit it. He still, however, urged the passage of the bill with misdemeanor penalties.

No matter what Mr. Looney advised about its constitutionality, it does not take a lawyer to known that such a law would have been an unconstitutional and outrageous invasion of personal liberty. It is strange that a man so devoted to "personal liberty" as to urge it for the protection of the liquor traffic could find in neither the constitution nor democratic principles any protection for the personal liberty of the farmer to plant as much cotton as he pleases.

But here is the main point and pith of this whole episode, showing the fine foresight and statesmanship of Mr. Colquitt: It turned out that the average price received by the farmer for the cotton crop of 1915 was 11 1-2 cents a pound, and that the enormous increase in the price of cotton seed brought the farmer such returns from them as would make the average price realized from his cotton 15 cents a pound, or $75 a bale. Had Colquitt's twenty-acre law been passed and enforced, whether by felony or by misdemeanor penalties, it would have reduced the Texas acreage by at least one-half. The Texas 1915 crop was 3,374,000 bales. It would thus have reduced the crop 1,687,000 bales, which would have been a dead loss to the farmers of Texas of one hundred and twenty-six million, five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars.

The bill was not only an insult to the farmers, but it would have been their ruin and that of thousands of merchants had it become a law. A man who has so little sense as to invent and urge the passage of such a fool bill has not sense enough to be United States senator.

Is it possible that any farmer acquainted with all these facts and who is able to get to the polls will not come out and vote against Colquitt on the 26th, if he has to walk ten miles to cast his ballot?

military camps surrounding it to have felt a heavy aftermath to the storm which hit the coast.

First Word by Messenger.

Houston, Aug. 19.—The first word to reach Houston out of Kingsville near the storm center, was by dispatch, carried to the nearest telegraph station, Sinton, and sent to the Chronicle. This dispatch says that the Casa Ricardo hotel at Kingsville was badly damaged, many windows being broken and that many small buildings were blown down.

Storm Reaches Laredo.

Laredo, Aug. 19.—Considerable property damage and great inconvenience to troops in the various national guard camps in the Laredo district resulted from a tropical storm which raged here from 6 o'clock last night until 4 o'clock this morning. For several hours Laredo was completely cut off from wire communication with the outside world. Practically every tent of the 9000 soldiers was blown down and the men were exposed to torrential rains for several hours.

No Loss of Life at Port O'Connor.

Victoria, Texas, Aug. 19.—Arrivals here from Port Lavaca, Port O'Connor and Seadrift, neighboring coasts, say that final investigation discloses no loss of life at those points in last night's hurricane.

The porch of the La Salle hotel at Port O'Connor was blown down, a moving picture theatre demolished, the Frisco roundhouse was destroyed and seventy-five summer cottages on the bluff were badly damaged. Water stood in the Frisco depot.

EARS ON SUBMARINE MINES.

(Popular Science Monthly.)

Edward F. Chandler, an inventor who has made a close study of submarine problems, has worked out a system of supplying microphones to mines so that it would be possible to blow up a submarine trying to worm its way into a mine protected harbor, or a battleship seeking to enter a harbor at night or in a dense fog.

"In my system," writes Mr. Chandler, "the mines are arranged in groups of four, each group constituting a field unit. On each mine a microphone is mounted. These microphones literally hear the hum of a submarine's motor. Not only that, but the particular microphone which hears the submarine best, because it is the nearest to it, can easily be located.

"It is simple enough to determine whether a submarine is nearer mine 1 or mine 2 of a given field unit of four mines. The field units are interconnected electrically, so that the entire harbor is sown with high explosive.

"A mine field equipped with microphones in the manner indicated is electrically connected with a luminous annunciator. In other words, wires run from each microphone to a board which is divided into squares corresponding in number with those of the mine field units. Behind each square a lamp is mounted. As a hostile ship passes through a mine field the nearest microphones pick up the vibrations of her propellers and the corresponding lamps on the board glow."

Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Rockefeller Foundation held July 14, an appropriation of $50,000, or so much thereof as might be needed, was made for the assistance of the department of health of the city of New York in controlling the epidemic of infantile paralysis.

This appropriation is to be expended by a special committee appointed by the mayor of the city of New York, of which his honor is chairman and Dr. Simon Flexner, vice chairman. Dr. Alvah H. Doty, formerly health officer of the port of New York, is the executive officer of the committee.

Remarkable Road And Race Track Records

JUNE, July and August have recorded a series of remarkable racing records achieved with the aid of Goodyear Cord Tires.

These victories are valuable because they offer corroborative evidence of the very qualities for which Goodyear Cord Tires are famous.

The terrific speed of the shorter contests, and the sustained speed of the longer ones, are added proof of that stoutness, liveliness and speediness which every Goodyear owner experiences in every-day use, and which led to the adoption of Goodyear Cord Tires as standard equipment on the Franklin, the Packard Twin-Six, the Locomobile, the Peerless, the White, the Haynes Twelve, and the Stutz.

World's record for 5 miles on one-mile track, Des Moines, Ia., Lewis driving Crawford car, 3 minutes, 2 seconds. 98 miles per hour.

Second place, 10-mile race, Des Moines, Ia., June 26, 1916, Lewis driving Crawford car. 90 miles per hour.

First place, 5-mile race, one-mile track, Des Moines, Ia., June 26, 1916, Lewis driving Crawford car. 90 miles per hour.

In this race, the biggest event of the season on the Pacific Coast, and one of the few races recognized by the American Automobile Association, Eddie Rickenbacher won on Goodyear Cord Tires without tire trouble. He changed his four tires for safety's sake only. Lewis who won third changed but one tire. De Palma who won fourth changed but one tire. Henderson who won fifth went through the entire race without a stop.

Illinois Governor Starts Home After Investigating Condition of Soldiers

Houston, Aug. 19.—"I came to Texas to satisfy myself as to the condition of the soldiers on the border because of the newspaper accounts which we received. I found that the most scrupulous care was being taken of them, that their physical condition was excellent and that their surroundings were good. Everything that possibly can be done for their comfort is being done."

This was the statement of Gov. E. F. Dunne of Illinois, who arrived in Houston Saturday after an inspection of the military conditions along the border.

Governor Dunne and his party were passengers on the first train to leave the storm stricken area of Brownsville. He came in on the gulf coast train which left Brownsville at 4 p. m. Friday. It arrived at the Union station at 7:45 p. m. Saturday.

"It was in response to an invitation from General Parker, commanding the Brownsville district, that I came to Texas to inspect the camps," said Governor Dunne. "I found the Illinois troops in excellent condition. I am proud of the way the cavalry is getting along, also the two brigades of infantry at San Antonio and the signal corps.

"The men seem to be satisfied with conditions, although many of them feel impatient. They say that if there is not going to be a scrap they want to get back to their business and homes."

Cure Hog Cholera With Oats.

Whenever a hog dies with a mysterious disease folks call it cholera. About five years ago, says G. W. Ward, in Farm and Home, my hogs began to die and it was called cholera, but really was pneumonia. I had seven shotes that weighed about 140 pounds each. They began to get sick and in two days four died. I cut the carcasses open and found the bowels badly packed. The contents were hard. The lungs and heart were affected and the liver "cooked to a jelly." The hogs had staggered as they walked and seemed to stiffen.

I was feeding alfalfa, cut with a scythe, and other green feed, but they got sick just the same. To save three out of the seven I boiled oats and gave them the water to drink for five days and no other feed but cooked oats. I didn't allow the oats to become sour before being fed. I fed the grain cold, but gave the first water off the oats warm, say for three doses and not over a pint to a hog, so as to be sure they drank it all. Three times in ten hours is often enough. Just pour it in the trough; don't try to drench.

FOURTH GOLF TOURNAMENT ENDS WITH BIG BANQUET

In the finals of the fourth annual invitation golf tournament held at the Huaco club, which ended yesterday, some unexpected turns of luck and skill appeared in the final day's play yesterday. At the close of Friday's rounds there was considerable interest attached to the finals in the first flight, which most fans were sure would be played between G. V. Rotan of Waco and the veteran, Commodoe Bryan Heard of Houston. But A. M. Badger of Dallas beat Heard in the semi-finals yesterday morning 3 and 2, thus pairing Rotan and Badgers for the afternoon round of finals. Rotan won 3 up and 2 to play.

In the second flight Dr. J. P. Hall of Waco beat Billie Smith of Waco 3 up and 2 to play and Lewis defaulted to Fort. In the finals in this flight, Dr. Hall proved superior to the young golfer, who is held in high esteem among the players here and elsewhere.

J. H. Cochran of Austin defeated Dreyfus of Dallas 5 up and 4 to play in the semi-finals yesterday morning and Jack Garret of Austin was winner over Russell 1 up. Garrett won the trophy in the finals, completed late yesterday afternoon.

A notable surprise was the semi-final between Rotan and Massingale, the former winning 2 and 2. It was an off day for Massingale, although he had done consistent work in the previous two days' play. Massingale made a try for the handicap prize, but got out of bounds once because of nigh winds, landed into the creek and finally withdrew from the contest.

A large gallery followed the most interesting matches. Others spectators went over the course in an effort to find out "what golf is all about anyhow."

RECORD OF THE PLAYERS.

Rotan qualified with the medal score of 74; defeated Coman Shear, Ardrey, Massingale and Badger.

Slaughter qualified with a 98, beat Brag, Chauteau, B. V. Thompson and J. M. Thompson.

The runners-up in each flight were the last named in each paragraph above and received medals.

Last night a large number of the players enjoyed a banquet at the Huaco club, the affair having been held in the summer dining room of the club. Allan D. Sanford was toastmaster and directed the affairs of the evening in a most pleasing way. The toastmaster presented the trophies to the winners, who in turn favored their friends with a speech or a story. George V. Rotan and Dr. Hall proved very popular orators.

Rotan was presented with a silver pitcher and a gold medal for lowest score in the qualifying round; Dr. J. O. Hall received a silver cup donated by the Raleigh Hotel; Jack Garrett a silver shaker, given by Tom Bush; R. L. Slaughter a bowl, Huaco club donor; H. Van Zandt a cup, donated by Pio Crespi, and Harry Shear, cup, Huaco club donor, in the Huaco handicap.

Shear won the Huaco handicap on a score of 72. C. M. Hubby Jr. taking a medal for best gross score of 78. H. Van andt won the consolation with a 72.

FORT WORTH WILL HAVE TOURNAMENT.

Fort Worth invited the golfers of the state to her first invitation golf tournament last night through the president of Glen Garden, who is familiarly and affectionately known as Happy Massingale. A cordial invitation was extended and the Fort Worth men said all golfers would be expected there. The tournament will be held in the Panther City Septembr 14 to 16. The Fort Worth delegation sang a parody that proved a hit, which runs as follows, being sung to the tune of "Tipperary:"

It's a short way to grand ole Fort Worth,
Where we golfers are bound to go
On the 14th of Old September,
To a grand old town we know.
Waco' you've been our standby
But we've got to leave you now,
For we're long, long gone to dear old Fort Worth,
So here's how, here's how.

Not all the visitors were able to remain over for the banquet last night. Those who did and those who did not left Waco with a friendly feeling, many of them saying, "I have been coming to Waco all the while and will be back next year." The banquet and in fact all the entertainment, will long be remembered, according to those who partook of the hospitality of Waco and the Huaco club.

RAILROAD SERVICE IS INTERRUPTED

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19.—Railroads and other public utilities operating through the storm stricken district damages aggregating more than $300,000 exclusive of losses in Corpus Christi, Brownsville and other points in the storm center.

It probably will take the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad a week or ten days to restore service to Corpus Christi and it may be fifteen days before its trains run to Rockport.

The damage to the railroads' properties may be $150,000. It lost a mile of the deck of the mile trestle entering Corpus Christi and perhaps three miles of embankment near Portland. The piling of the portion of the trestle swept away station. The roof of the depot at Alice was taken off by the wind. The depot at Sinton was not damaged. All small bridges between Aransas Pass and Rockport are gone with damage to the Alice branch was small.

A small portion of track of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico near Brownsville was washed out.

The Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company reported more than 800 cases of wire trouble in San Antonio. Some of the cables were damaged by lightning with the company's Laredo was repaired during the day as far as Dilley, about half way between Uvalde was recovered during the day.

Service north and east not interrupted by the storm.

Service to Corpus Christi may be restored with service to Brownsville, Mission, Pharr, McAllen and points in the lower valley is dependent upon restoration of the line between Robstown and Harlingen, a distance of 150 miles.

The Western Union Telegraph company estimated the storm damage to the company at $50,000. The company has a large force at work on its line.

The wires to Corpus Christi were lost at 3:30 p. m. They had been restored as far as Beeville Saturday night.

W. G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, gave out a brief statement tonight on behalf of the men, pointing out that in accepting President Wilson's plan, the employes "surrendered a very large portion of their demands," while the railway companies "seem about as unwilling to accept suggestions from the president of the United States as they have in the past refused to consider requests from the employes." He added the workmen would remain here, but would take no further action until released by Mr. Wilson.

Each part of the president's proposal is expected to be taken up separately and the answers given to the white house separately. President Wilson welcomed the railroad officials in the blue room and told them bluntly he believed they should accept his plan.

SHOULD FACE NAKED TRUTH.

"We must face the naked truth in this crisis," he said. "We must not discuss impracticable things. We must get down to a basis on which this situation can be solved."

Solemnly Mr. Wilson pointed out that he represented the one hundred million people of the nation, everyone of whom had a deep interest in the threatened strike. He said his only object was to avoid a break. In a voice rising at times so that it could be heard outside the closed doors, he declared he had tried to bring about arbitration, that his efforts had failed and that he had no way of forcing its acceptance. Congress, he declared, would not pass a compulsory arbitration law.

After the conference, the president told Mr. Holden he would be ready to receive the executives again whenever they were ready.

EXPECT CLIMAX MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

While the brotherhood men were in session today the president sent word to the officers of the union that they might excuse their members until Monday. The brotherhood leaders expect a climax in the situation Monday or Tuesday, when the other railroad presidents arrive. They intimated tonight they might make a formal reply to the railroad managers' statement tomorrow.

Among the railroad executives the claim was made tonight that a strike could be broken within a week.

Some railroad officials believe as many as fifteen or twenty per cent of the normal number of employes would be available for service, enough to guarantee the movement of all necessary freight. These claims are all denied vehemently by the brotherhood men, who contend they could bring the roads speedily to terms should a strike be called.

Among the western road executvies summoned by the president today are: M. H. Smith, Louisville and Nashville; C. E. Schaff, Missouri, Kansas and Texas; Edwin Gould, St. Louis and Southwestern.

Tonight the railroad presidents here sent to the white house a list of about seventy other officials whom they believed should be invited to the next conference if the president expects it to be a representative gathering.

Chicago Bank Fails to Open

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Police guarded the two branches of the private banking institution of Adolph Silver & Co., tonight when hundreds of depositors gathered in the streets after failure of the bank to open for Saturday night business as usual.

Police were informed that Max Silver, head of the firm and virtually owner, had been missing since Friday. His father, Joseph Silver, said the banker had left a letter with him Friday in which he said he was "going to seek new fields." The depositors in the bank probably numbering 1,500 are mostly Russians and Jews. More than $100,000 is said to have been on deposit.

JAPS SENT US HONEYSUCKLES.

And Recently China Donated New Variety of Fragrant Flowers.

(Philadelphia North American.)

Years ago Japan sent to this country a vigorous green vine which won favor through its lavish display of fragrant white flowers in late spring. For a time the vine and flowers were kept within the bounds of gardens, lawns and parks. Then it ran away. Today you'll find it roaming along the roadside, climbing stumps and hedges. It needs no gardener, for it can take care of itself. It's the honeysuckle.

The Japanese variety which ran away joined some of its American cousins, who are just as pretty and just as fragrant. There's the coral honeysuckle, for example—a famous porch climber in the Southern States, with trumpet shaped flowers, red outside and scarlet within. In England they have the woodbine—a cream colored, fragrant relative of the honeysuckle.

Recently there came a new variety from China, where it was found on the tops of mountains 6,000 feet above the sea. Its foliage is almost evergreen, and the flowers are a reddish bronze. Another variety has red flowers with yellow and buff markings.

There's no need to hunt for the honeysuckle. Its fragrance will announce it before you're near enough to see it.

COP ARRESTED OWN WIFE.

Mrs. Bridget Fitzgerald Broke Up the Dishes, He Testified.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Mrs. Bridget Fitzgerald, 47 years old, who was arrested recently by her husband, Sergt. P. J. Fitzgerald, and placed in police station on a charge of disorderly conduct, was discharged by the police magistrate, who manifested sympathy for Mrs. Fitzgerald and indignation over treatment to which she had been subjected.

Fitzgerald testified his wife became disorderly in their home, broke some dishes and struck him with a cup. He had her taken to the police station in the motor patrol. Soon afterward a son, Thomas Fitzgerald, discovered Mrs. Fitzgerald's plight and furnished bail for her release.

Mrs. Fitzgerald told the magistrate her husband had beaten her at different times during the last two years, and failed to contribute to her support. She said that he tied her with ropes and kept her bound for three hours. She showed the magistrate bruises on her arms which, she said, had been caused by the ropes.

Thomas Fitzgerald and his sister, Miss Julia Fitzgerald, corroborated the testimony of their mother, and said they had found it impossible to live at home on account of their father.

INDEPENDENT LOCAL AND LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE

One Telephone—Double Service

6500 Independent Telephones in Waco and McLennan County Are "At Your Service"—Now and Hereafter—Through Waco's New and Modern Consolidated Telephone Exchange.

Last night, eleven o'clock, witnessed the passing of the "old telephone" and the "new telephone," and left but ONE telephone—the consolidated Independent system, with all the advantages of the dual systems, and none of the disadvantages. At your command today, through your telephone, are ALL the telephones in Waco and hundreds more in McLennan county, and both the Southwestern and the Independent "Long Distance" lines. One telephone—double service.

The New Long Distance Service

Subscribers of the Texas Telephone Company in Waco have the option of using the long distance lines of either the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone Company, or the Texas Telephone Company. Connection may be had from any telephone, with the toll lines of either company, and the subscriber is requested to specify which lines he desires to use.

To file a long distance call—call for "Long Distance" in the usual way. When the long distance operator answers, file the call the usual way, stating whether you wish the message sent on "Independent" or "Southwestern" line.

For information as to rates, places reached, etc., call "Long Distance."

FOURTH GOLF TOURNAMENT ENDS WITH BIG BANQUET

In the finals of the fourth annual invitation golf tournament held at the Huaco club, which ended yesterday, some unexpected turns of luck and skill appeared in the final day's play yesterday. At the close of Friday's rounds there was considerable interest attached to the finals in the first flight, which most fans were sure would be played between G. V. Rotan of Waco and the veteran, Commodoe Bryan Heard of Houston. But A. M. Badger of Dallas beat Heard in the semi-finals yesterday morning 3 and 2, thus pairing Rotan and Badgers for the afternoon round of finals. Rotan won 3 up and 2 to play.

In the second flight Dr. J. P. Hall of Waco beat Billie Smith of Waco 3 up and 2 to play and Lewis defaulted to Fort. In the finals in this flight, Dr. Hall proved superior to the young golfer, who is held in high esteem among the players here and elsewhere.

J. H. Cochran of Austin defeated Dreyfus of Dallas 5 up and 4 to play in the semi-finals yesterday morning and Jack Garret of Austin was winner over Russell 1 up. Garrett won the trophy in the finals, completed late yesterday afternoon.

In the fourth flight R. L. Slaughter of Austin and Thompson staged a close match in the semi-finals, Slaughter winning 1 up in 20 holes. In the final round Slaughter beat Thompson and won the trophy.

A notable surprise was the semi-final between Rotan and Massingale, the former winning 3 and 2. It was an off day for Massingale, although he had done consistent work in the previous two days' play. Massingale made a try for the handicap prize, but got out of bounds once because of nigh winds, landed into the creek and finally withdrew from the contest.

A large gallery followed the most interesting matches. Others spectators went over the course in an effort to find out "what golf is all about anyhow."

RECORD OF THE PLAYERS.

Rotan qualified with the medal score of 74; defeated Coman Shear, Ardrey, Massingale and Badger.

Slaughter qualified with a 98, beat Brog, Chauteau, B. V. Thompson and J. M. Thompson.

The runners-up in each flight were the last named in each paragraph above and received medals.

Last night a large number of the players enjoyed a banquet at the Huaco club, the affair having been held in the summer dining room of the club. Allan D. Sanford was toastmaster and directed the affairs of the evening in a most pleasing way. The toastmaster presented the trophies to the winners, who in turn favored their friends with a speech or a story. George V. Rotan and Dr. Hall proved very popular orators.

Rotan was presented with a silver pitcher and a gold medal for lowest score in the qualifying round; Dr. J. O. Hall received a silver cup donated by the Raleigh Hotel; Jack Garrett a silver shaker, given by Tom Bush; R. L. Slaughter a bowl, Huaco club donor; H. Van Zandt a cup, donated by Pio Crespi, and Harry Shear, cup, Huaco club donor, in the Huaco handicap.

Shear won the Huaco handicap on a score of 72. C. M. Hubby Jr. taking a medal for best gross score of 78. H. Van andt won the consolation with a 72.

FORT WORTH WILL HAVE TOURNAMENT.

Fort Worth invited the golfers of the state to her first invitation golf tournament last night through the president of Glen Garden, who is familiarly and affectionately known as Happy Massingale. A cordial invitation was extended and the Fort Worth men said all golfers would be expected there. The tournament will be held in the Panther City Septembr 14 to 16. The Fort Worth delegation sang a parody that proved a hit, which runs as follows, being sung to the tune of "Tipperary:"

It's a short way to grand ole Fort Worth,
Where we golfers are bound to go
On the 14th of Old September.
To a grand old town we know.
Waco' you've been our standby
But we've got to leave you now.
For we're long, long gone to dear old Fort Worth,
So here's how, here's how.

Not all the visitors were able to remain over for the banquet last night. Those who did and those who did not left Waco with a friendly feeling, many of them saying, "I have been coming to Waco all the while and will be back next year.' The banquet and in fact all the entertainment, will long be remembered, according to those who partook of the hospitality of Waco and the Huaco club.

RAILROAD SERVICE IS INTERRUPTED

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19.—Railroads and other public utilities operating through the storm stricken district damages aggregating more than $300,000 exclusive of losses in Corpus Christi, Brownsville and other points in the storm center.

It probably will take the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railroad a week or ten days to restore service to Corpus Christi and it may be fifteen days before its trains run to Rockport.

The damage to the railroads' properties may be $150,000. It lost a mile of the deck of the mile trestle entering Corpus Christi and perhaps three miles of embankment near Portland. The piling of the portion of the trestle swept away station. The roof of the depot at Alice was taken off by the wind. The depot at Sinton was not damaged. All small bridges between Aransas Pass and Rockport are gone with damage to the Alice branch was small.

A small portion of track of the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico near Brownsville was washed out.

The Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company reported more than 800 cases of wire trouble in San Antonio. Some of the cables were damaged by lightning with the company's Laredo was repaired during the day as far as Dilley, about half way between Uvalde was recovered during the day.

Service north and east not interrupted by the storm.

Service to Corpus Christi may be restored with service to Brownsville, Mission, Pharr, McAllen and points in the lower valley is dependent upon restoration of the line between Robstown and Harlingen, a distance of 150 miles.

The Western Union Telegraph company estimated the storm damage to the company at $50,000. The company has a large force at work on its line.

The wires to Corpus Christi were lost at 3:30 p. m. They had been restored as far as Beeville Saturday night.

W. G. Lee, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, gave out a brief statement tonight on behalf of the men, pointing out that in accepting President Wilson's plan, the employes "surrendered a very large portion of their demands," while the railway companies "seem about as unwilling to accept suggestions from the president of the United States as they have in the past refused to consider requests from the employes." He added the workmen would remain here, but would take no further action until released by Mr. Wilson.

Each part of the president's proposal is expected to be taken up separately and the answers given to the white house separately. President Wilson welcomed the railroad officials in the blue room and told them bluntly he believed they should accept his plan.

SHOULD FACE NAKED TRUTH.

"We must face the naked truth in this crisis," he said. "We must not discuss impracticable things. We must get down to a basis on which this situation can be solved."

Solemnly Mr. Wilson pointed out that he represented the one hundred million people of the nation, everyone of whom had a deep interest in the threatened strike. He said his only object was to avoid a break. In a voice rising at times so that it could be heard outside the closed doors, he declared he had tried to bring about arbitration, that his efforts had failed and that he had no way of forcing its acceptance. Congress, he declared, would not pass a compulsory arbitration law.

After the conference, the president told Mr. Holden he would be ready to receive the executives again whenever they were ready.

EXPECT CLIMAX MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

While the brotherhood men were in session today the president sent word to the officers of the union that they might excuse their members until Monday. The brotherhood leaders expect a climax in the situation Monday or Tuesday, when the other railroad presidents arrive. They intimated tonight they might make a formal reply to the railroad managers' statement tomorrow.

Among the railroad executives the claim was made tonight that a strike could be broken within a week.

Some railroad officials believe as many as fifteen or twenty per cent of the normal number of employes would be available for service, enough to guarantee the movement of all necessary freight. These claims are all denied vehemently by the brotherhood men, who contend they could bring the roads speedily to terms should a strike be called.

Among the western road executvies summoned by the president today are: M. H. Smith, Louisville and Nashville; C. E. Schaff, Missouri, Kansas and Texas; Edwin Gould, St. Louis and Southwestern.

Tonight the railroad presidents here sent to the white house a list of about seventy other officials whom they believed should be invited to the next conference if the president expects it to be a representative gathering.

Chicago Bank Fails to Open

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Police guarded the two branches of the private banking institution of Adolph Silver & Co., tonight when hundreds of depositors gathered in the streets after failure of the bank to open for Saturday night business as usual.

Police were informed that Max Silver, head of the firm and virtually owner, had been missing since Friday. His father, Joseph Silver, said the banker had left a letter with him Friday in which he said he was "going to seek new fields." The depositors in the bank probably numbering 1,500 are mostly Russians and Jews. More than $100,000 is said to have been on deposit.

JAPS SENT US HONEYSUCKLES.

And Recently China Donated New Variety of Fragrant Flowers.

(Philadelphia North American.)

Years ago Japan sent to this country a vigorous green vine which won favor through its lavish display of fragrant white flowers in late spring. For a time the vine and flowers were kept within the bounds of gardens, lawns and parks. Then it ran away. Today you'll find it roaming along the roadside, climbing stumps and hedges. It needs no gardener, for it can take care of itself. It's the honeysuckle.

The Japanese variety which ran away joined some of its American cousins, who are just as pretty and just as fragrant. There's the coral honeysuckle, for example—a famous porch climber in the Southern States, with trumpet shaped flowers, red outside and scarlet within. In England they have the woodbine—a cream colored, fragrant relative of the honeysuckle.

Recently there came a new variety from China, where it was found on the tops of mountains 6,000 feet above the sea. Its foliage is almost evergreen, and the flowers are a reddish bronze. Another variety has red flowers with yellow and buff markings.

There's no need to hunt for the honeysuckle. Its fragrance will announce it before you're near enough to see it.

COP ARRESTED OWN WIFE.

Mrs. Bridget Fitzgerald Broke Up the Dishes, He Testified.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Mrs. Bridget Fitzgerald, 47 years old, who was arrested recently by her husband, Sergt. P. J. Fitzgerald, and placed in police station on a charge of disorderly conduct, was discharged by the police magistrate, who manifested sympathy for Mrs. Fitzgerald and indignation over treatment to which she had been subjected.

Fitzgerald testified his wife became disorderly in their home, broke some dishes and struck him with a cup. He had her taken to the police station in the motor patrol. Soon afterward a son, Thomas Fitzgerald, discovered Mrs. Fitzgerald's plight and furnished bail for her release.

Mrs. Fitzgerald told the magistrate her husband had beaten her at different times during the last two years, and failed to contribute to her support. She said that he tied her with ropes and kept her bound for three hours. She showed the magistrate bruises on her arms which, she said, had been caused by the ropes.

Thomas Fitzgerald and his sister, Miss Julia Fitzgerald, corroborated the testimony of their mother, and said they had found it impossible to live at home on account of their father.

NOT A TEUTONIC WEAKNESS.

It is an anomalous situation which causes any citizen of this country of German antecedents to look with leniency upon the couse of Oscar Colquitt.

No people are more rigid than the Germans in their views with respect to the duty which the individual and the officer owe the state. The kaiser has banished from the realm some of his own relatives because of offenses against the state. Absolute and ungrudging loyalty to the state is their rule, and be it said to their credit, it is enforced with more vigor against the high than against the lowly.

This was the situation: The government at Washington was engaged in a controversy with the Berlin government which at one time threatened to result in the severing of diplomatic relations and possibly in war.

Colquitt entered into secret correspondence with New York agencies which were hostile to the American government and seeking to further the ends of the Berlin government, appealed to them for assistance in furtherance of his ambition to go to the senate, an dpromised that if he should be elected senator he would vigorously oppose the Washington administration and do all within his power to accomplish the ends desired by the Berlin government.

This is the admitted record. It ought to be sufficient to cause every voter who adheres to Germanic standards to vote against Colquitt for senator.

If, while this controversy was in progress, a German candidate for the reichstag had entered into secret correspondence with agencies at Berlin enlisted in behalf of the Washington government, and had proposed if elected to oppose the kaiser's government, and fight with all his might for the policies advocated at Washington, a mere disclosure of the facts would not only have brought about his political downfall, but would probably have resulted in much graver consequences to himself.

Descendants of Germans cannot afford to give their approval to a proceeding which would be regarded with abhorrence in Germany.

Few—very few—Germans have ever proved disloyal to their state.

Yes, dear Record, Colquitt has a right, a constitutional right and a moral right, to fight the democratic party and the democratic president as much as he pleases. This is a free country, and no man has any strings on him, without his own consent. But when in 1914 Colquitt declared, "I am fully convinced the national election of 1916 will end the democratic regime," and gave all his efforts from that day to this to bring about the fulfillment of his prophecy, he ceased to be a democrat and should climb into his own pen. Benedict Arnold had a right to fight for England if he preferred its colors, but he had no right to pretend to fight for America and actually fight for England.

Commissioner Earle Mayfield charges that the interstate commerce commission "has deliberately set out to arrogate unto itself all the power in the world, and to destroy every state railroad commission in the United States." Which scheme, if it exists, should be very promptly nipped in the bud. One way to do it is to increase water facilities. The Brazos is the way out for Waco and for Central Texas.

The Old Alcalde made a pretty good governor of Texas when his hair was white as cotton. Coke, Reagan and Maxey were old men when they rendered their best service to the state. Gladstone's work for humanity increased with his age. The John Sullivan type of politician is measured by his age, but Texas has never taken kindly to that brand.

The National Negro Business league, in session at Kansas City closed its labors with a ringing indorsement of Hughes. Fortunately, Sambo does not vote to any considerable extent in a democratic primary in Texas. If he did—well, everybody knows how he would vote.

Lillian Russell strongly recommends the bath as a beauty promoter. If Lillian had suggested that a month ago, maybe a suitable plank might have been incorporated in the democratic platform since the subject was not voted on by the people.

The Pruett tragedy at Seabrook is an old story with variations. Drunken husband; deserted wife. Murdered husband; crazed wife. How long will the state of Texas consent to be an accomplice in such tragedies?

THE WAR OUTLOOK.

Continued successes of the allies in every quarter, coupled with the significant fact that societies have been organized in Germany to pave the way for peace, indicate that the end of the war is probably not far off. Much fighting may yet be expected. The drives in the east and in the west will not end until the forces of the central powers are out of Belgium, France, Servia and Russia. Bulgaria will, undoubtedly, be chastened, and Turkey annihilated.

Russia has called together the greatest fighting force the world ever saw, and it is a safe prediction that she will not lose the present opportunity to achieve the ends for which she has persistently struggled since the days of Catherine. Constantinople and an open outlet to the sea are the goals which have incited her to put forth the efforts which now amaze the world.

The Balkans have been a fruitful source of contention among European powers. With Germany, Austria and Bulgaria out of consideration, tne others will be able to come to an agreement that will satisfy their several aims. Hence the war may be expected to go on until the allies are able to dictate, without reserve, the terms of peace. This is probably the explanation of the move in Germany to educate the people to the point of acceptation of terms which will be disappointing. If the drive in the west makes much further headway, Germany will soon face invasion, and to prevent this will probably make overtures for peace before an alien army shall cross her borders.

Of course there remains the possibility that the Teutons may gather together all their reserve forces and by a supreme effort overcome the vast armies which face them everywhere. They have shown unequalled fighting skill, and their organization is still perfect. It would be almost a miracle if they shall escape the net now closing about them, but miracles have happened and may happen again.

"The trouble with Colquitt is that he is neither open to argument or amenable to reason."—Hugh Fitzgerald in Fort Worth Record. Then how did it happen that he was approved as eligible for a loan from that $25,000 left-over brewery campaign fund? Did the brewers ever loan a politician money who was not amenable to reason? Never no, never; no, never!

The Fort Worth Record parades in a box on its front page the fact that the allies have spent millions in Fort Worth for horses and mules, which money has been distributed among the farmers of Oklahoma and Texas, and on its editorial page it seeks to discredit Wilson because he failed to prevent these purchases. It's hard to find any solid ground in politics when you take the Colquittian route.

That fisherman who discovered 500 wiggling snakes in a bunch in Lake Caddo is no doubt a voracious scribe, but he should be warned that East Texas peaches, in a certain stage, when devoured in large quantities, will make a goat look like a rhinoceros.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Tribune, objects to the use of the term, "jamboree," as applied by The News to the proceedings of the late unlamented Houston convention. Well, suppose, by way of compromise, we call it a mullingtawney fudgerwust.

The republican jump from Roosevelt to Hughes has finally resolved itself into an offer to substitute a cold potato for a hot tamale, and the national appetite can get along very well without either.

The child labor bill has been finally passed and goes to the president, who will sign it. Thus the breach between Colquitt and Bailey on one side and the democratic party on the other goes on widening day by day.

Texas cities which have applied for a farm loan bank are Dallas, Houston, Austin, Fort Worth and—the only ideal site in Texas—Waco. The proper thing to do is to make it unanimous for Waco.

It does look a little like Galveston handed one to Corpus Christi, just to take the starch out of her summer flowers.

Portugal will get into the war. When the little fish get busy, it means that some of the big fish are about ready to go to sleep.

Representative Callaway was absent when the house voted on preparedness. But his vacant chair cast a silent vote just the same that was potential.

When the republican candidate is driven back to '65 for an issue, things must be in a bad way for the G. O. P.

Paris is moving to lengthen women's skirts. Is it possible a thin diet over there is making the French leg skinny?

NOT WANTED IN THE ARMY.

Col. John S. Hoover, who is in charge of recruiting the federal army in Texas, says the Texas national guard needs 1,800 more infantrymen, sixty more calvrymen and sixty-five engineers.

Time was when the habits of a soldier were of the free and easy nature. That day is over. Of this Colonel Hoover says:

"In the last few months I have seen and been out with 3,000 officers and not once have I seen a man drunk. The army has cut out drinking, just as every business concern in the country has cut it out. It has become a business organization of the highest efficiency, and booze fighting is no longer tolerated."

To emphasize this statement, Colonel Hoover gave orders that no drinking man should be enlisted.

Parents who have boys on the border, in the army, will read this statement with a great deal of interest and relief.

A man may be ever so willing for liquor to attack somebody else, but no sane man wants it as a foe in his own family.

The attorney general rules that the telephone cannot be used in dry territory as a purchasing agency for booze. This will be regarded by some Texans as an unconstitutional abridgment of their right to talk as they feel.

Is it possible that Mr. Bailey's flop to Colquitt has any psychological relation to the next senatorial contest? As the blind man said, "Let us see; let us see."

That Corpus Christi blow turned tail and ran when it got a taste of the senatorial breeze now sweeping through Texas.

Italy Editor "Catches On!"

Not many years ago the country newspapers were boosted from every stump, these speakers telling of the wonderful influence, their good in building up the communities in which they were published and how progressive and deserving the papers were. In those days nearly all the newspapers carried all kinds of whiskey advertising. But in these days about the first thing a big man does, if he is on the whiskey side, is to tell how mean and sorry the editors and their papers are. Few newspapers now will carry a whiskey ad at any price. See the point? The fellow who bemeans the newspapers nowadays is in nine cases out of ten, a man who tails after the whiskey ring of Texas.—Italy News-Herald.

Wilson Blamed for Firmness.

"The democratic administration has been a one-man government. The democratic party appears to be a one-man party. But the United States of America is not yet a one-man country," says the Milwaukee Free Press. This is an argument which is apt to be made against any president who has strength enough to discharge the duties of his office with firmness. The same cry is sure to be made against any president whose administration has been a success, because to accomplish anything a president must necessarily use his power. When such a cry is made against a president by his political enemies it is an indication of paucity of real grounds for complaint. They are hard up for campaign thunder when they must resort to such a charge as that.

To call the United States a one-man country simply because the president exercises the power which has been bestowed upon him is equally as childish as it would be to call a city a one-man city because it has one man for mayor and a state a one-man state because it has one man for governor. The argument of the Milwaukee paper is likely to remind people that the president of the United States is given more real power than some European monarchs. Realizing this they will also see the advantage of placing this power in the hands of one who has shown himself as wise and dependable as Woodrow Wilson. It draws the issue on the president, and Mr. Wilson cannot help but benefit by comparisons between his own fitness and that of his republican opponent.

So far the republicans have not scored a point in the campaign. Organs of the party will soon discover that it will not pay them to blame the democratic party for giving the country a president that measures up to the requirements of the office.—Pensacola News.

NOT A TEUTONIC WEAKNESS.

It is an anomalous situation which causes any citizen of this country of German antecedents to look with leniency upon the couse of Oscar Colquitt.

No people are more rigid than the Germans in their views with respect to the duty which the individual and the officer owe the state. The kaiser has banished from the realm some of his own relatives because of offenses against the state. Absolute and ungrudging loyalty to the state is their rule, and be it said to their credit, it is enforced with more vigor against the high than against the lowly.

This was the situation: The government at Washington was engaged in a controversy with the Berlin government which at one time threatened to result in the severing of diplomatic relations and possibly in war.

Colquitt entered into secret correspondence with New York agencies which were hostile to the American government and seeking to further the ends of the Berlin government, appealed to them for assistance in furtherance of his ambition to go to the senate, an dpromised that if he should be elected senator he would vigorously oppose the Washington administration and do all within his power to accomplish the ends desired by the Berlin government.

This is the admitted record. It ought to be sufficient to cause every voter who adheres to Germanic standards to vote against Colquitt for senator.

If, while this controversy was in progress, a German candidate for the reichstag had entered into secret correspondence with agencies at Berlin enlisted in behalf of the Washington government, and had proposed if elected to oppose the kaiser's government, and fight with all his might for the policies advocated at Washington, a mere disclosure of the facts would not only have brought about his political downfall, but would probably have resulted in much graver consequences to himself.

Descendants of Germans cannot afford to give their approval to a proceeding which would be regarded with abhorrence in Germany.

Few—very few—Germans have ever proved disloyal to their state.

Yes, dear Record, Colquitt has a right, a constitutional right and a moral right, to fight the democratic party and the democratic president as much as he pleases. This is a free country, and no man has any strings on him, without his own consent. But when in 1914 Colquitt declared, "I am fully convinced the national election of 1916 will end the democratic regime," and gave all his efforts from that day to this to bring about the fulfillment of his prophecy, he ceased to be a democrat and should climb into his own pen. Benedict Arnold had a right to fight for England if he preferred its colors, but he had no right to pretend to fight for America and actually fight for England.

Commissioner Earle Mayfield charges that the interstate commerce commission "has deliberately set out to arrogate unto itself all the power in the world, and to destroy every state railroad commission in the United States." Which scheme, if it exists, should be very promptly nipped in the bud. One way to do it is to increase water facilities. The Brazos is the way out for Waco and for Central Texas.

The Old Alcalde made a pretty good governor of Texas when his hair was white as cotton. Coke, Reagan and Maxey were old men when they rendered their best service to the state. Gladstone's work for humanity increased with his age. The John Sullivan type of politician is measured by his age, but Texas has never taken kindly to that brand.

The National Negro Business league, in session at Kansas City closed its labors with a ringing indorsement of Hughes. Fortunately, Sambo does not vote to any considerable extent in a democratic primary in Texas. If he did—well, everybody knows how he would vote.

Lillian Russell strongly recommendg the bath as a beauty promoter. If Lillian had suggested that a month ago, maybe a suitable plank might have been incorporated in the democratic platform since the subject was not voted on by the people.

The Pruett tragedy at Seabrook is an old story with variations. Drunken husband; deserted wife. Murdered husband; crazed wife. How long will the state of Texas consent to be an accomplice in such tragedies?

THE WAR OUTLOOK.

Continued successes of the allies in every quarter, coupled with the significant fact that societies have been organized in Germany to pave the way for peace, indicate that the end of the war is probably not far off. Much fighting may yet be expected. The drives in the east and in the west will not end until the forces of the central powers are out of Belgium, France, Servia and Russia. Bulgaria will, undoubtedly, be chastened, and Turkey annihilated.

Russia has called together the greatest fighting force the world ever saw, and it is a safe prediction that she will not lose the present opportunity to achieve the ends for which she has persistently struggled since the days of Catherine. Constantinople and an open outlet to the sea are the goals which have incited her to put forth the efforts which now amaze the world.

The Balkans have been a fruitful source of contention among European powers. With Germany, Austria and Bulgaria out of consideration, the others will be able to come to an agreement that will satisfy their several aims. Hence the war may be expected to go on until the allies are able to dictate, without reserve, the terms of peace. This is probably the explanation of the move in Germany to educate the people to the point of acceptation of terms which will be disappointing. If the drive in the west makes much further headway, Germany will soon face invasion, and to prevent this will probably make overtures for peace before an alien army shall cross her borders.

Of course there remains the possibility that the Teutons may gather together all their reserve forces and by a supreme effort overcome the vast armies which face them everywhere. They have shown unequalled fighting skill, and their organization is still perfect. It would be almost a miracle if they shall escape the net now closing about them, but miracles have happened and may happen again.

"The trouble with Colquitt is that he is neither open to argument or amenable to reason."—Hugh Fitzgerald in Fort Worth Record. Then how did it happen that he was approved as eligible for a loan from that $25,000 left-over brewery campaign fund? Did the brewers ever loan a politician money who was not amenable to reason? Never no, never; no, never!

The Fort Worth Record parades in a box on its front page the fact that the allies have spent millions in Fort Worth for horses and mules, which money has been distributed among the farmers of Oklahoma and Texas, and on its editorial page it seeks to discredit Wilson because he failed to prevent these purchases. It's hard to find any solid ground in politics when you take the Colquittian route.

That fisherman who discovered 500 wiggling snakes in a bunch in Lake Caddo is no doubt a voracious scribe, but he should be warned that East Texas peaches, in a certain stage, when devoured in large quantities, will make a goat look like a rhinoceros.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Tribune, objects to the use of the term, "jamboree," as applied by The News to the proceedings of the late unlamented Houston convention. Well, suppose, by way of compromise, we call it a mullingtawney fudgerwust.

The republican jump from Roosevelt to Hughes has finally resolved itself into an offer to substitute a cold potato for a hot tamale, and the national appetite can get along very well without either.

The child labor bill has been finally passed and goes to the president, who will sign it. Thus the breach between Colquitt and Bailey on one side and the democratic party on the other goes on widening day by day.

Texas cities which have applied for a farm loan bank are Dallas, Houston, Austin, Fort Worth and—the only ideal site in Texas—Waco. The proper thing to do is to make it unanimous for Waco.

It does look a little like Galveston handed one to Corpus Christi, just to take the starch out of her summer flowers.

Portugal will get into the war. When the little fish get busy, it means that some of the big fish are about ready to go to sleep.

Representative Callaway was absent when the house voted on preparedness. But his vacant chair cast a silent vote just the same that was potential.

When the republican candidate is driven back to '65 for an issue, things must be in a bad way for the G. O. P.

Paris is moving to lengthen women's skirts. Is it possible a thin diet over there is making the French leg skinny?

NOT WANTED IN THE ARMY.

Col. John S. Hoover, who is in charge of recruiting the federal army in Texas, says the Texas national guard needs 1,800 more infantrymen, sixty more calvrymen and sixty-five engineers.

Time was when the habits of a soldier were of the free and easy nature. That day is over. Of this Colonel Hoover says:

"In the last few months I have seen and been out with 3,000 officers and not once have I seen a man drunk. The army has cut out drinking, just as every business concern in the country has cut it out. It has become a business organization of the highest efficiency, and booze fighting is no longer tolerated."

To emphasize this statement, Colonel Hoover gave orders that no drinking man should be enlisted.

Parents who have boys on the border, in the army, will read this statement with a great deal of interest and relief.

A man may be ever so willing for liquor to attack somebody else, but no sane man wants it as a foe in his own family.

The attorney general rules that the telephone cannot be used in dry territory as a purchasing agency for booze. This will be regarded by some Texans as an unconstitutional abridgment of their right to talk as they feel.

Is it possible that Mr. Bailey's flop to Colquitt has any psychological relation to the next senatorial contest? As the blind man said, "Let us see; let us see."

That Corpus Christi blow turned tail and ran when it got a taste of the senatorial breeze now sweeping through Texas.

Preparedness for What?

Oh, yes, lots of people believe in hell and most of 'em believe in heaven; however, the great majority of 'em show about as much interest in preparedness for one place as the other.—West News.

Ennis Editor's Viewpoint!

Ed White, colored, was arrested last night for theft of a lawn mower.—Waxahachie Light.

Anybody who could steal a lawn mower ought to be sent to the insane asylum, unless he wants it for his wife to use, of course, it is different then. —Ennis News.

How About the Future?

There is something to do in life besides driving around in an auto, wearing fine clothes and hanging around places of idleness and pleasure. Why not take life a little more seriously? A serious and a hard time is coming for nearly all of these idlers and pleasure seekers.—Italy News-Herald.

Do Republicans Break Pledges?

Before climbing on the Hughes band wagon women of the suffrage states might stop a moment to size up the republican candirates for congress with the view to finding out whether they endorse the suffrage views of the presidential candidate. Those of us who are still young can remember occasions when republican promises were broken.—El Paso Times.

Italy Editor "Catches On!"

Not many years ago the country newspapers were boosted from every stump, these speakers telling of the wonderful influence, their good in building up the communities in which they were published and how progressive and deserving the papers were. In those days nearly all the newspapers carried all kinds of whiskey advertising. But in these days about the first thing a big man does, if he is on the whiskey side, is to tell how mean and sorry the editors and their papers are. Few newspapers now will carry a whiskey ad at any price. See the point? The fellow who bemeans the newspapers nowadays is in nine cases out of ten, a man who tails after the whiskey ring of Texas.—Italy News-Herald.

Wilson Blamed for Firmness.

"The democratic administration has been a one-man government. The democratic party appears to be a one-man party. But the United States of America is not yet a one-man country," says the Milwaukee Free Press. This is an argument which is apt to be made against any president who has strength enough to discharge the duties of his office with firmness. The same cry is sure to be made against any president whose administration has been a success, because to accomplish anything a president must necessarily use his power. When such a cry is made against a president by his political enemies it is an indication of paucity of real grounds for complaint. They are hard up for campaign thunder when they must resort to such a charge as that.

To call the United States a one-man country simply because the president exercises the power which has been bestowed upon him is equally as childish as it would be to call a city a one-man city because it has one man for mayor and a state a one-man state because it has one man for governor. The argument of the Milwaukee paper is likely to remind people that the president of the United States is given more real power than some European monarchs. Realizing this they will also see the advantage of placing this power in the hands of one who has shown himself as wise and dependable as Woodrow Wilson. It draws the issue on the president, and Mr. Wilson cannot help but benefit by comparisons between his own fitness and that of his republican opponent.

So far the republicans have not scored a point in the campaign. Organs of the party will soon discover that it will not pay them to blame the democratic party for giving the country a president that measures up to the requirements of the office.—Pensacola News.

TRIED DEATH GAS ON SELF.

For Ten Days American Investigator Hardly Could Speak.

(Chicago Herald.)

Col. Spencer Cosby, United States military attache at Paris, has been speaking in a hoarse whisper of late. His friends have noted it and have expressed their regrets at his bad cold. Colonel Cosby's voice has not permitted him to reply, and he has let it go at that—a cold. But it was not a cold.

The use which the German army has made of poison gas in the present war has brought a new and terrible element of destruction into military science. Just what this terrible new agency is, what part it plays in the offensive and defensive tactics, and to what extent, if any, it must be reckoned with as a permanent element in future warfare—these are problems which the military experts throughout the world are trying to determine.

In France, where the ravages of the poison gas have been particularly apparent, the military attaches of many countries have been active in obtaining data for their government on this new agency.

Colonel Cosby shared the keen interest of his brother military investigators, and in one respect he went far beyond them. There was ample data from the battle fields and the hospitals, where ghastly patients were a living witness of the effects of the new element. But Colonel Cosby determined on a direct personal investigation of the element itself—the poison gas in all its forms—just as a medical scientist has at times put some new serum to the supreme test on himself. All sorts of gas, fresh and powerful, from the nearby fighting fronts have been brought together.

The facilities for such a test of the gases were not easily obtained. But these were at last secured, and the American military attache was the first and only one to be granted these exceptional facilities.

With these preliminaries arranged, Colonel Cosby found himself in the presence of long lines of bottles, ranged on shelves, much as in a chemist's shop. The large bottles contained the various forms of liquid gas, direct from the front, and in varying degrees of strength. Most of them showed a volatile yellow liquid which, on being exposed to the air, gave off the deadly gases which have wrought such havoc.

There were three distinct groups of these gases; first, those bursting into flame, and commonly known as liquid flame; second, the tear-producing gases, which do not kill or permanently maim, but which so blind a column of onrushing troops that they become helpless and are brought to a halt; and, third, the actual poison gas, which suffocates and kills with ten times the horror of a bullet or shell.

"This is the least deadly," the chief chemist explained, as he presented one of the bottles containing the inflammatory gas. He drew the glass stopper very cautiously and Colonel Cosby took a slight whiff of the gas. It was not overpowering or violent in its effect—only a pungent odor of ether.

Then the second class of gases were reached—the tear-producing gases—and these, too, were tested in the same way. These also were not overpowering, but gave the same sharp odor of ether and a perceptible effect on the eyes. Colonel Cosby was bginning to think the gases were not so very bad after all.

They had reached the poison gas—the deadly gas which clutches and kills. The chemist paused.

"You will not try this," he said, appealingly.

"Yes, all of them," the colonel said, positively, recalling the rather agreeable pungent odor of the other gases.

"Then we must be very cautious," the chemist said. "Place yourself about a foot away from the bottle. I will raise the glass stopper the slightest possible fraction of an inch, so that only an insignificant portion of gas can escape—but it will be enough. Now, ready."

He drew the stopper the slightest particle, and only for an instant, with Colonel Cosby a foot away. But in that instant the colonel felt he had been hurled back twenty feet. Tongues of fire were eating his throat and ten thousand needles were darting around his neck. It seemed as though live vitriol had been emptied into his mouth and was coursing through his veins. His whole vocal system was paralyzed. This infinitesimal portion of the deadly gas has, in an instant, overpowered him.

Colonel Cosby took a motor car home, his throat still on fire, but not otherwise physically affected. That night every mouthful of dinner had the unmistakable taste of the poison gas; each draught of water had the same taste of the deadly gas, and even the puff of a cigar had the taste of so many puffs of this death dealing gas—always the fiery needles and so many draughts of vitriol.

Colonel Cosby could speak to his family only in inarticulate whispers. When he saw a physician the next day the throat was found to be in a very bad condition, as from an acute attack of laryngitis. The colonel continued on his duties, but for a week he could speak only in whispers. It was ten days before the clutch of the poison gas on the throat had been relaxed enough to let him speak again in full voice.

Elastic Opinions.

"Do you think the election will go your way?"

"Can't say as to that," replied Senator Sorghum. "I'm going to do my best to go its way."

WHERE IT PAYS TO BE "DRY."

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

Temperance pays. At least it does so far as the three hundred employes of the Philadelphia Quartz company are concerned. With them, however, the reward for total abstinence is not merely of a moral nature, but one far more tangible—a matter of dollars and cents.

More than two years ago the officials of this company hit upon a novel method to promote temperance among their men. If temperance can be made a paying proposition, they concluded, the men will not be slow to recognize its value. Therefore, it was decided to make a ten per cent increase in the wages of those employes who would agree to sign a pledge.

The company is one of the oldest in the city, having been organized almost one hundred years ago. It is run by Friends, and William T. Elkinton is the president.

It was contended that a man who does not drink, and whose brain is normal, can do better work and a greater volume of it than the man who takes a drink or two a day. As the company wanted to give the men what they were worth, it was impossible for them to deal fairly with the nondrinking men, and at the same time pay them no more than those who indulged in alcoholics received. Therefore, the pledge system was adopted.

At first the signing of the pledge was merely voluntary, but now every person who enters the employment of the company is expected to do so. On the other hand, the method of keeping check on employes is purely honorary. The systems, as explained by Howard Elkinton, of the sales department of the company, and a nephew of the president, is based entirely upon the honesty of the men.

"After they have signed the pledge," said Mr. Elkinton, "we do not give it another thought. We have perfect confidence that any man who slips up will report the same to us, and so far our confidence has been sustained."

According to Mr. Elkinton, all except a very few of the older employes have signed the pledge. "I suppose," he continued, "that these men decided it was too late in life to change their ways. They were retained on the payroll, however, and nothing was said about the matter."

After a two years' tryout the officials of the company declare that the system has proved a success far beyond their expectations. "Its benefits both to us and to the men have been manifold," Mr. Elkinton explained. "For the men it has resulted in better pay, better home life and greater opportunities for their families, while for us it has meant fewer accidents and a greater output of work."

UGH! CALOMEL IS HORRIBLE! IT SHOCKS YOUR LIVER, IF BILIOUS

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

High Grade Goods The Popular Demand

It is becoming increasingly difficult, nowadays, to sell inferior goods. Immediate results may seem to justify such a course, but in the end the customer's confidence fails you, trade drops off and business dwindles away.

That is the reason that we seek to sell only the highest quality of stationery and office supplies.

And that is why it will pay you to purchase your supplies of us. Others will have more confidence in you and in the stability of your business if your stationery, your desks, your filing devices, all reflect a high standard of Quality.

The church has been without a pastor for a number of weeks and it is deemed unwise to continue longer without one. Every member of the congregation is urged to be present and express his or her wish in a vote for a pastor. There have been a number of very able men before the church during the time it has been without a pastor and out of them all it should be able to select an excellent man for the place. Members, be present and vote for your man.

TRIED DEATH GAS ON SELF.

For Ten Days American Investigator Hardly Could Speak.

(Chicago Herald.)

Col. Spencer Cosby, United States military attache at Paris, has been speaking in a hoarse whisper of late. His friends have noted it and have expressed their regrets at his bad cold. Colonel Cosby's voice has not permitted him to reply, and he has let it go at that—a cold. But it was not a cold.

The use which the German army has made of poison gas in the present war has brought a new and terrible element of destruction into military science. Just what this terrible new agency is, what part it plays in the offensive and defensive tactics, and to what extent, if any, it must be reckoned with as a permanent element in future warfare—these are problems which the military experts throughout the world are trying to determine.

In France, where the ravages of the poison gas have been particularly apparent, the military attaches of many countries have been active in obtaining data for their government on this new agency.

Colonel Cosby shared the keen interest of his brother military investigators, and in one respect he went far beyond them. There was ample data from the battle fields and the hospitals, where ghastly patients were a living witness of the effects of the new element. But Colonel Cosby determined on a direct personal investigation of the element itself—the poison gas in all its forms—just as a medical scientist has at times put some new serum to the supreme test on himself. All sorts of gas, fresh and powerful, from the nearby fighting fronts have been brought together.

The facilities for such a test of the gases were not easily obtained. But these were at last secured, and the American military attache was the first and only one to be granted these exceptional facilities.

With these preliminaries arranged, Colonel Cosby found himself in the presence of long lines of bottles, ranged on shelves, much as in a chemist's shop. The large bottles contained the various forms of liquid gas, direct from the front, and in varying degrees of strength. Most of them showed a volatile yellow liquid which, on being exposed to the air, gave off the deadly gases which have wrought such havoc.

There were three distinct groups of these gases; first, those bursting into flame, and commonly known as liquid flame; second, the tear-producing gases, which do not kill or permanently maim, but which so blind a column of onrushing troops that they become helpless and are brought to a halt; and, third, the actual poison gas, which suffocates and kills with ten times the horror of a bullet or shell.

"This is the least deadly," the chief chemist explained, as he presented one of the bottles containing the inflammatory gas. He drew the glass stopper very cautiously and Colonel Cosby took a slight whiff of the gas. It was not overpowering or violent in its effect—only a pungent odor of ether.

Then the second class of gases were reached—the tear-producing gases—and these, too, were tested in the same way. These also were not overpowering, but gave the same sharp odor of ether and a perceptible effect on the eyes. Colonel Cosby was bginning to think the gases were not so very bad after all.

They had reached the poison gas—the deadly gas which clutches and kills. The chemist paused.

"You will not try this," he said, appealingly.

"Yes, all of them," the colonel said, positively, recalling the rather agreeable pungent odor of the other gases.

"Then we must be very cautious," the chemist said. "Place yourself about a foot away from the bottle. I will raise the glass stopper the slightest possible fraction of an inch, so that only an insignificant portion of gas can escape—but it will be enough. Now, ready."

He drew the stopper the slightest particle, and only for an instant, with Colonel Cosby a foot away. But in that instant the colonel felt he had been hurled back twenty feet. Tongues of fire were eating his throat and ten thousand needles were darting around his neck. It seemed as though live vitriol had been emptied into his mouth and was coursing through his veins. His whole vocal system was paralyzed. This infinitesimal portion of the deadly gas has, in an instant, overpowered him.

Colonel Cosby took a motor car home, his throat still on fire, but not otherwise physically affected. That night every mouthful of dinner had the unmistakable taste of the poison gas; each draught of water had the same taste of the deadly gas, and even the puff of a cigar had the taste of so many puffs of this death dealing gas—always the fiery needles and so many draughts of vitriol.

Colonel Cosby could speak to his family only in inarticulate whispers. When he saw a physician the next day the throat was found to be in a very bad condition, as from an acute attack of laryngitis. The colonel continued on his duties, but for a week he could speak only in whispers. It was ten days before the clutch of the poison gas on the throat had been relaxed enough to let him speak again in full voice.

WHERE IT PAYS TO BE "DRY."

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

Temperance pays. At least it does so far as the three hundred employes of the Philadelphia Quartz company are concerned. With them, however, the reward for total abstinence is not merely of a moral nature, but one far more tangible—a matter of dollars and cents.

More than two years ago the officials of this company hit upon a novel method to promote temperance among their men. If temperance can be made a paying proposition, they concluded, the men will not be slow to recognize its value. Therefore, it was decided to make a ten per cent increase in the wages of those employes who would agree to sign a pledge.

The company is one of the oldest in the city, having been organized almost one hundred years ago. It is run by Friends, and William T. Elkinton is the president.

It was contended that a man who does not drink, and whose brain is normal, can do better work and a greater volume of it than the man who takes a drink or two a day. As the company wanted to give the men what they were worth, it was impossible for them to deal fairly with the nondrinking men, and at the same time pay them no more than those who indulged in alcoholics received. Therefore, the pledge system was adopted.

At first the signing of the pledge was merely voluntary, but now every person who enters the employment of the company is expected to do so. On the other hand, the method of keeping check on employes is purely honorary. The systems, as explained by Howard Elkinton, of the sales department of the company, and a nephew of the president, is based entirely upon the honesty of the men.

"After they have signed the pledge," said Mr. Elkinton, "we do not give it another thought. We have perfect confidence that any man who slips up will report the same to us, and so far our confidence has been sustained."

According to Mr. Elkinton, all except a very few of the older employes have signed the pledge. "I suppose," he continued, "that these men decided it was too late in life to change their ways. They were retained on the payroll, however, and nothing was said about the matter."

After a two years' tryout the officials of the company declare that the system has proved a success far beyond their expectations. "Its benefits both to us and to the men have been manifold," Mr. Elkinton explained. "For the men it has resulted in better pay, better home life and greater opportunities for their families, while for us it has meant fewer accidents and a greater output of work."

UGH! CALOMEL IS HORRIBLE! IT SHOCKS YOUR LIVER, IF BILIOUS

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not sallivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

High Grade Goods The Popular Demand

It is becoming increasingly difficult, nowadays, to sell inferior goods. Immediate results may seem to justify such a course, but in the end the customer's confidence fails you, trade drops off and business dwindles away.

That is the reason that we seek to sell only the highest quality of stationery and office supplies.

And that is why it will pay you to purchase your supplies of us. Others will have more confidence in you and in the stability of your business if your stationery, your desks, your filing devices, all reflect a high standard of Quality.

DR. J. B. GAMBRELL DISCUSSES TYPES

SAYS THERE ARE TWO TYPES OF ANTIS, REPRESENTED IN THE SENATORIAL RUN-OFF BY CULBERSON AND COLQUITT, RESPECTIVELY.

There are several kinds of democrats. The reactionary democrat, who wants everything like it used to be, the stand-pat democrat who wants everything like it is, and the progressive democrat who believes in applying the principles of the federal constitution to the conditions and needs of the country, progressively, as the conditions and needs arise. Prohibition democrats are practically all of the progressive type. And not a few anti-prohibitionists are progressives, also. All these are liable to become pros at any time.

In the senatorial run off we have two types of democrats and two types of antis in the race. We must choose between them and they are before the country on their records. It is very important to choose wisely. Senator Culberson is well known in Texas and throughout the nation. In my judgment, he is a very much abler man than Governor Colquitt. He is a sane, careful statesman with nothing of the jingo in him. He has never made an unworthy appeal for votes. His alignments have never been with special interests. He has never profited, nor sought to profit by the slush fund of the organized liquor traffic. He has, on the other hand, given his influence, personal and official ,to clean politics. He has maintained the best traditions of the party and of the country throughout his long career. He is an American of the finest type. Senator Culberson is a progressive democrat of the Woodrow Wilson type. He understands constitution and reveres it, but is not enslaved by any cheap formulas, so that he can not apply the principles of the constitution to the changing wants of the country. A man who can not do this is a misfit in this growing country.

A POLITICIAN BUT NOT A STATESMAN.

Nearly everything Senator Culberson is, Governor Colquitt is not. He is an astute politician, but not a statesman at all. As I have noticed his career, it is scrappy, full of catches, such as his plans for helping farmers, which serious minded men knew to be impracticable at the time. He has never understood the Mexican problem, which is a variable one owing to the unsettled conditions with which the president has had to deal. He is a marplot in a grave situation, with much speech, confusing the thoughtless and helping nothing. He would be an utter misfit in the senate unless he fit in with the republicans, which he really does.

WORST TYPE OF ANTI.

Governor Colquitt is an anti of the worst possible type. No man in Texas has done as much to build up the liquor machine in the state as has the ex-governor. Take from him the saloon vote and the anti-Wilson foreign vote, those who are more devoted to and dominated by the lands they came from than they are to the institution of America—I say, take from Governor Colquitt these votes and he would be impotent in Texas politics. The saloon vote is a peril to everything good and ought to be a millstone around the ex-governor's neck. The saloon helped him to be governor, and he as governor helped them personally and officially to the full limit of his power.

There are men and women by the hundreds of thousands in Texas who are building colleges, churches, giving their lives to bring on a better day in this state ,a day of purity in politics and safety for the homes of the people. Not one who believes in eliminating the corrupting influence of the organized liquor business from the social and public life of the state, ought to vote for Governor Colquitt. For him to succeed now will be an inducement to ambitions young men to seek the saloon route to office.

If Governor Colquitt is elected we may expect to see him on the stump as our senator next year advocating the cause of the saloon in the statewide election, slated to come on. That is what he did as governor.

Therefore, putting aside the superior ability of Senator Culberson, his sanity, and nation wide influence, and putting aside all considerations of obligations to the stalwart American administration at Washington, as a matter of caring for pure politics and proper ideals in public life, Governor Colquitt ought to be defeated by an overwhelming vote. He is the highest exponent of saloon politics in public life today, and saloon politics allied with un-Americanism, at that.

J. B. GAMBRELL.

EVERYBODY SHOULD VOTE.

Geo. W. Carroll Stresses Duty of Citizens to Vote Next Saturday.

To the Democrats in Texas Who Believe in the Wilson Administration and Good Government:

In my judgment there never was a more important election involving only the choice of men held in Texas than the run-off election on the 26th of this month for a United States senator.

This not being a regular election, there is great danger of the people not turning out to vote, and my experience in politics, as well as my observation during the past twenty-five years, is that the majority of the people who have no interest except for the general good are not as active in elections as the mercenary and selfish are.

Senator Culberson embodies the strength, the character and the dignity of our state. His election will represent the triumph of no faction, but will be expressive of a balanced public mind and a staunch and loyal democracy.

Let every man charge himself with the mission to go and vote and to see that his neighbor votes. My only object in appearing here in print at all is to ask our citizens to vote and to get out votes. See to it. Make it a point to vote and we will win.

Very respectfully,

GEO. W. CARROLL.

C. E. Tonight.

Keeping Yourself Well

THE DAY OF WEAKNESS

After you have had a trying experience, or worn yourself out with an unusually hard day's work, your body is not in shape to resist disease. Its vitality is lowered, and the forces that resist infection are lacking in power.

Certain infections are always present. One of the worst of these is that of influenza. If your strength is lowered, it is likely to effect a lodgment, and no man can ever foretell what this will lead to.

For such periods of weakness you need a good tonic. Your heart should be strengthened, your circulation made more vigorous, your digestion toned up. The tonic that many thousands have found most satisfactory is Peruna. It has been used as often to ward off illnesses as to overcome them.

In the tablet form you may carry it with you, using it whenever you realize you are not up to full physical power. It's better to prevent than to be ill, and for such conditions Peruna is heartily recommended by thousands.

Manalin is the ideal laxative. It cleans the waste from the system, tones up the liver and helps you overcome the constipation habit. Safe, pleasant and effective. Liquid or candy tablets.

OLD SETTLERS' DAY ON SEPTEMBER 9TH

Saturday, September 9, has been fixed as the McLennan County Old Settlers' Day, and it is proposed to hold one of the most enjoyable occasions of the kind yet recorded, plans to that end having been set under way yesterday afternoon at a meeting of a delegation of the old settlers held in the office of Moore & Moore on South Fourth street.

There will be another meeting held this week, at which time committees will be named, arrangements made to secure the old fiddlers necessary to such a day and occasion; speakers selected, plans laid for the old-fashioned dinner on the grounds, and for the various features of pleasure and amusement, but most of the real pleasure of the day will come from the association of those who have long lived here; the past occasions have been history making and have been enjoyed to the deepest and fullest extent, and this will be one of the best yet held, it is thought.

The gathering will be held at Cameron park, around the historic Proctor Springs, it is thought, and every arrangement for the comfort and pleasure of attendants will receive full measure of attention.

Among those who were present yesterday afternoon were the following well known gentlemen who took a deep interest in the movement: Bart Moore, Col. W. A. Poage, Robert Ross, Luke Moore, W. W. Seley and A. R. McCollum. All of these were enthusiastic as to the gathering of old settlers, and will do their full part to make it a success.

Central Texas Bank Secures Samples of Ginned Cotton

The Central Texas Exchange National bank has again this year secured from the government the samples of cotton which were exhibited here last year, and these are in the bank where they may be seen by all who care to examine them.

The samples include all grades of cotton from the lowest to the highest commercial grades used, and these are highly instructive. It was a fine piece of enterprise on the part of the Central Texas bank to again secure the samples, as the exhibit is educational. It ought to be placed in the Cotton Palace next fall, also.

It was stated yesterday by President Howell McCullough of the Central Texas bank that the samples did not receive the attention last year that had been hoped, but it was decided to try them again this year. All persons interested in cotton, and especially in grading the great staple, should study the samples on exhibition.

Waco Men Speak at Lorena.

E. G. Senter and S. P. Ross addressed good crowds at Lorena last night in the interest of the candidacy of Senator Culberson for the nomination at the run-off primaries next Saturday. The addresses were well received and it is stated by some of those pesent that Culberson will have a walk-over in the Lorena box.

212 BALES COTTON SOLD YESTERDAY

There was "something doing" yesterday in the matter of cotton brought to Waco, and when night came it was found by Public Weigher Sem Nix that there had been weighed yesterday a grand total of 212 bales of the valuable staple, the price ranging from 14c to 14.30c a pound. The bales were unusually heavy ones.

Public Weigher Sem Nix found also that on this same date last year there were only three bales sold, while the total sold up to date last year for the season was twenty-nine bales; up to last night there had been sold for this season 433 bales, a big difference in favor of the present year. Cotton plants have deteriorated very rapidly in the past twenty to thirty days, on account of the drouth, but in spite of this farmers as a rule say they want to see dry weather, believing that this would be better in the end and tend to prevent the coming of insects.

Cottonseed are selling for about $30 a ton, adding a little over $15 a bale to the amount received for a bale of cotton.

Waco Delegation to San Antonio Returns Home

City and county officials who attended the Texas Good Roads convention in San Antonio have returned home and report a great meeting, with representatives present from all parts of Texas.

Mayor John Dollins, Street Commissioner J. F. Stampp, City Engineer George B. Gurley, County Judge Geo. N. Denton, County Engineer R. J. Windrow, County Auditor W. T. Lockwood, with County Commissioners Smith, Moseley and Boyd, returned yesterday, several of these having gone through in machines, and several citizens went to the gathering also, among these being Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, W. V. Crawford and W. W. Naman from the Y. M. B. L. and others.

Mayor John Dollins yesterday afternoon said the meeting at San Antonio was a very instructive one, and he thinks much good was accomplished, as the people all over Texas are getting roused up over good roads. Mayor Brown of San Antonio took Mayor Dollins and other of the city officials out for an auto drive over San Antonio, and much information of great interest was secured regarding the Alamo City and its financial status. As an instance, it is stated that the floating debt of San Antonio is rapidly approaching the $1,500,000 mark, and much of this is being carried at 5½ per cent interest, so it will be seen that Waco's floating indebtedness of about one-thirtieth of this amount shows Waco up to good advantage as to financial standing.

The Waco gentlemen all enjoyed their stay, and report most courteous treatment.

Red Cross Magazine's Reference to Waco

The Red Cross Magazine, which is the official organ of the American Red Cross, takes particular notice in this month's issue of the splendid service which the local chapter performed at the time the troop trains were passing through Waco en route to the border. Especial mention is made of the distribution of postal cards to the soldier boys, and of the much appreciated lunches which were served at the trains.

One of the principal illustrations in this month's number of the magazine is a photograph of the Red Cross window display installed by the Goldstein-Migel company at the beginning of the Red Cross membership campaign. This attractive window, which was very effective in arousing interest among the people of Waco, will now doubtless be copied in many other cities. The idea of making this window display was suggested by the Goldstein-Migel company, who very generously donated the use of one of their big front windows for the purpose.

President W. W. Seley, Dr. I. L. McGlasson and many others, including a large number of ladies, took deep interest in the work of the local Red Cross and much was accomplished in many ways, and the recognition on the part of the American Red Cross Magazine shows that this attracted attention on the outside.

Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Cleinsman.

To the Voters of McLennan County.

As chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, I desire to urge the voters wherever possible to carry their poll tax receipts with them when they go to the polls to vote on August 26th. This will be a great time saver to the officers holding the election, and will also be a great saving to the committee.

I desire to thank you in advance for your consideration of this request.

Chairman Democratic Executive Committee.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

There was a chemical call yesterday morning shortly before 11 o'clock to the Magnolia Petroluem company, but was only a grass fire and was speedily put out.

Cotton is rolling in pretty fast now and during the present week many bales are expected to be brought in unless weather conditions prevent. It is opening rapidly.

Big crowds surged and thronged the streets yesterday afternoon and last night. The crowds were even larger than the ones one and two weeks ago, and all indications were that a good deal of money was spent yesterday in the shops of the city.

It is stated that the pecan crop of the section west of here is poor this season in many places. The price of the nuts probably will be high this season, but in that respect the price will simply be keeping up the general tendency.

The Central Christian church has employed Prof. George Brierly to take charge of their music and drill their choir for the coming season. Professor Brierly is recognized as one of the best chorus leaders and voice instructors that Waco has ever had. The church is planning to have a great chorus to lead their music this fall and winter.

Pat Cleburne Camp U. C. V. will meet today at 4 o'clock in the afternoon at the armory, and at that time the regular election of officers will occur. Some other business, chiefly of routine nature, will receive attention, but the fact that there is to be an election of officers doubtless will bring the veterans out in numbers.

At the next meeting of the North Waco School Civic Center, to be held next Friday night week, there will be a program of unusual interest, and refreshments also will be served. It is believed this will be the greatest meeting of the kind yet held, and arrangments looking to a great time will be made. Some matters of importance in a business way are to come before that meeting, too.

The city ticket offices of the rail-roads still close on Saturday afternoons, but this will not be the case much longer, as with September business will begin to pick up, making it necessary soon thereafter to keep open on Saturday afternoons. It has not been found necessary this summer, however, and the city ticket office men have enjoyed a little needed rest.

Culberson Rally of Big Proportions Planned This Week

It was decided to hold a monster rally some time next week in behalf of Senator Charles A. Culberson, at a meeting held yesterday morning in the office of J. D. Williamson on South Fourth street, at which time the Culberson central committee and the Young Men's Culberson club had joint committees to confer and merged the two organizations.

It is proposed to have music at this big mass meeting, to have a speaker of statewide fame, and to have all this section represented if possible, the idea being to make it a really big proposition. The name of the speaker, place of holding the meeting, etc., will be announced later.

Last night and yesterday afternoon volunteer speakers were sent out to Lorena, McGregor, Moody and Riesel, and the county will be belted during the week.

Buggy Overturned, Mrs. Eaton Injured

Mrs. Ellen Eaton of 615 River street, East Waco, had the misfortune to have her right limb broken at the ankle about 7 o'clock last night while driving near the old pumping station near the Mann place above the bridges.

The horse she was driving stepped into a piece of road where there was a sharp and sudden rise of ground, overturning the buggy and throwing Mrs. Eaton out. She was taken to the Providence sanitarium by the ambulance of the L. C. Puckett Undertaking company, and received medical attention by Drs. E. D. Hodges and Ed Smith, and was resting very well last night. Her husband was in Marlin when the accident happened.

DR. J. B. GAMBRELL DISCUSSES TYPES

SAYS THERE ARE TWO TYPES OF ANTIS, REPRESENTED IN THE SENATORIAL RUN-OFF BY CULBERSON AND COLQUITT, RESPECTIVELY.

There are several kinds of democrats. The reactionary democrat, who wants everything like it used to be, the standpat democrat who wants everything like it is, and the progressive democrat who believes in applying the principles of the federal constitution to the conditions and needs of the country, progressively, as the conditions and needs arise. Prohibition democrats are practically all of the progressive type. And not a few anti-prohibitionists are progressives, also. All these are liable to become pros at any time.

In the senatorial run off we have two types of democrats and two types of antis in the race. We must choose between them and they are before the country on their records. It is very important to choose wisely. Senator Culberson is well known in Texas and throughout the nation. In my judgment, he is a very much abler man than Governor Colquitt. He is a sane, careful statesman with nothing of the jingo in him. He has never made an unworthy appeal for votes. His alignments have never been with special interests. He has never profited, nor sought to profit by the slush fund of the organized liquor traffic. He has, on the other hand, given his influence, personal and official ,to clean politics. He has maintained the best traditions of the party and of the country throughout his long career. He is an American of the finest type. Senator Culberson is a progressive democrat of the Woodrow Wilson type. He understands constitution and reveres it, but is not enslaved by any cheap formulas, so that he can not apply the principles of the constitution to the changing wants of the country. A man who can not do this is a misfit in this growing country.

A POLITICIAN
BUT NOT A STATESMAN.

Nearly everything Senator Culberson is, Governor Colquitt is not. He is an astute politician, but not a statesman at all. As I have noticed his career, it is scrappy, full of catches, such as his plans for helping farmers, which serious minded men knew to be impracticable at the time. He has never understood the Mexican problem, which is a variable one owing to the unsettled conditions with which the president has had to deal. He is a marplot in a grave situation, with much speech, confusing the thoughtless and helping nothing. He would be an utter misfit in the senate unless he fit in with the republicans, which he really does.

WORST TYPE OF ANTI.

Governor Colquitt is an anti of the worst possible type. No man in Texas has done as much to build up the liquor machine in the state as has the ex-governor. Take from him the saloon vote and the anti-Wilson foreign vote, those who are more devoted to and dominated by the lands they came from than they are to the institution of America—I say, take from Governor Colquitt these votes and he would be impotent in Texas politics. The saloon vote is a peril to everything good and ought to be a millstone around the ex-governor's neck. The saloon helped him to be governor, and he as governor helped them personally and officially to the full limit of his power.

There are men and women by the hundreds of thousands in Texas who are building colleges, churches, giving their lives to bring on a better day in this state ,a day of purity in politics and safety for the homes of the people. Not one who believes in eliminating the corrupting influence of the organized liquor business from the social and public life of the state, ought to vote for Governor Colquitt. For him to succeed now will be an inducement to ambitions young men to seek the saloon route to office.

If Governor Colquitt is elected we may expect to see him on the stump as our senator next year advocating the cause of the saloon in the statewide election, slated to come on. That is what he did as governor.

Therefore, putting aside the superior ability of Senator Culberson, his sanity, and nation wide influence, and putting aside all considerations of obligations to the stalwart American administration at Washington, as a matter of caring for pure politics and proper ideals in public life, Governor Colquitt ought to be defeated by an overwhelming vote. He is the highest exponent of saloon politics in public life today, and saloon politics allied with un-Americanism, at that.

J. B. GAMBRELL.

EVERYBODY SHOULD VOTE.

Geo. W. Carroll Stresses Duty of Citizens to Vote Next Saturday.

In my judgment there never was a more important election involving only the choice of men held in Texas than the run-off election on the 26th of this month for a United States senator.

This not being a regular election, there is great danger of the people not turning out to vote, and my experience in politics, as well as my observation during the past twenty-five years, is that the majority of the people who have no interest except for the general good are not as active in elections as the mercenary and selfish are.

Senator Culberson embodies the strength, the character and the dignity of our state. His election will represent the triumph of no faction, but will be expressive of a balanced public mind and a staunch and loyal democracy.

Let every man charge himself with the mission to go and vote and to see that his neighbor votes. My only object in appearing here in print at all is to ask our citizens to vote and to get out votes. See to it. Make it a point to vote and we will win.

Very respectfully,
GEO. W. CARROLL.

C. E. Tonight.

At the Christian Endeavor service tonight at the Second Presbyterian church the subject will be "Spiritual, Mental and Physical Growth."

The meetings of late have been unusually successful and the service tonight, to be led by Miss Myrtle Lee, is expected to come up to, if not surpass all previous services, as Miss Lee is a thoroughly drilled Endeavorer. Come early; the service begins at 8 o'clock. Visitors cordially welcomed.

Keeping Yourself Well

THE DAY OF WEAKNESS

After you have had a trying experience, or worn yourself out with an unusually hard day's work, your body is not in shape to resist disease. Its vitality is lowered, and the forces that resist infection are lacking in power.

Certain infections are always present. One of the worst of these is that of influenza. If your strength is lowered, it is likely to effect a lodgment, and no man can ever foretell what this will lead to.

For such periods of weakness you need a good tonic. Your heart should be strengthened, your circulation made more vigorous, your digestion toned up. The tonic that many thousands have found most satisfactory is Peruna. It has been used as often to ward off illnesses as to overcome them.

In the tablet form you may carry it with you, using it whenever you realize you are not up to full physical power. It's better to prevent than to be ill, and for such conditions Peruna is heartily recommended by thousands.

Manalin is the ideal laxative. It cleans the waste from the system, tones up the liver and helps you overcome the constipation habit. Safe, pleasant and effective. Liquid or candy tablets.

OLD SETTLERS' DAY ON SEPTEMBER 9TH

Saturday, September 9, has been fixed as the McLennan County Old Settlers' Day, and it is proposed to hold one of the most enjoyable occasions of the kind yet recorded, plans to that end having been set under way yesterday afternoon at a meeting of a delegation of the old settlers held in the office of Moore & Moore on South Fourth street.

There will be another meeting held this week, at which time committees will be named, arrangements made to secure the old fiddlers necessary to such a day and occasion; speakers selected, plans laid for the old-fashioned dinner on the grounds, and for the various features of pleasure and amusement, but most of the real pleasure of the day will come from the association of those who have long lived here; the past occasions have been history making and have been enjoyed to the deepest and fullest extent, and this will be one of the best yet held, it is thought.

The gathering will be held at Cameron park, around the historic Proctor Springs, it is thought, and every arrangement for the comfort and pleasure of attendants will receive full measure of attention.

Among those who were present yesterday afternoon were the following well known gentlemen who took a deep interest in the movement: Bart Moore, Col. W. A. Poage, Robert Ross, Luke Moore, W. W. Seley and A. R. McCollum. All of these were enthusiastic as to the gathering of old settlers, and will do their full part to make it a success.

Central Texas Bank Secures Samples of Ginned Cotton

The Central Texas Exchange National bank has again this year secured from the government the samples of cotton which were exhibited here last year, and these are in the bank where they may be seen by all who care to examine them.

The samples include all grades of cotton from the lowest to the highest commercial grades used, and these are highly instructive. It was a fine piece of enterprise on the part of the Central Texas bank to again secure the samples, as the exhibit is educational. It ought to be placed in the Cotton Palace next fall, also.

It was stated yesterday by President Howell McCullough of the Central Texas bank that the samples did not receive the attention last year that had been hoped, but it was decided to try them again this year. All persons interested in cotton, and especially in grading the great staple, should study the samples on exhibition.

Notice

The Shaffer-Neal company, operating a dry cleaning plant, has been purchased by V. F. Girardy and associates. The name of the company will be changed to The Waco Dry Cleaners.

Mr. Hugh Allen, formerly with the Shaffer-Neal company, will continue to manage the business and will be pleased to welcome his many friends.

The plant will be overhauled, and new machinery installed. The cleaning department will be in the hands of an expert cleaner from the East.

Our motto will be "Nothing too good for our customers." We not only promise to turn out the best work, but will always do it promptly and make old garments look like new. We will call for and deliver same to any part of the city.

In addition to men's garments we will specialize in women's wearing apparel, household furnishings, rugs, curtains, woolen blankets, etc.

The new management wishes to keep its business entirely separate from the old business and a new set of books will be opened.

A list of all accounts due the Shaffer-Neal company will be left with Mr. Allen at the plant and at the Waco State bank, where debtors can call and pay.

The creditors of the Shaffer-Neal company are requested to file itemized statements of their accounts with Mr. Allen at the plant and when checked up will be paid.

Waco Men Speak at Lorena.

E. G. Senter and S. P. Ross addressed good crowds at Lorena last night in the interest of the candidacy of Senator Culberson for the nomination at the run-off primaries next Saturday. The addresses were well received and it is stated by some of those pesent that Culberson will have a walk-over in the Lorena box.

212 BALES COTTON SOLD YESTERDAY

There was "something doing" yesterday in the matter of cotton brought to Waco, and when night came it was found by Public Weigher Sem Nix that there had been weighed yesterday a grand total of 212 bales of the valuable staple, the price ranging from 14c to 14.30c a pound. The bales were unusually heavy ones.

Public Weigher Sem Nix found also that on this same date last year there were only three bales sold, while the total sold up to date last year for the season was twenty-nine bales; up to last night there had been sold for this season 432 bales, a big difference in favor of the present year. Cotton plants have deteriorated very rapidly in the past twenty to thirty days, on account of the drouth, but in spite of this farmers as a rule say they want to see dry weather, believing that this would be better in the end and tend to prevent the coming of insects.

Cottonseed are selling for about $30 a ton, adding a little over $15 a bale to the amount received for a bale of cotton.

Waco Delegation to San Antonio Returns Home

City and county officials who attended the Texas Good Roads convention in San Antonio have returned home and report a great meeting, with representatives present from all parts of Texas.

Mayor John Dollins, Street Commissioner J. F. Stampp, City Engineer George B. Gurley, County Judge Geo. N. Denton, County Engineer R. J. Windrow, County Auditor W. T. Lockwood, with County Commissioners Smith, Moseley and Boyd, returned yesterday, several of these having gone through in machines, and several citizens went to the gathering also, among these being Secretary E. F. Drake of the Chamber of Commerce, W. V. Crawford and W. W. Naman from the Y. M. B. L. and others.

Mayor John Dollins yesterday afternoon said the meeting at San Antonio was a very instructive one, and he thinks much good was accomplished, as the people all over Texas are getting roused up over good roads. Mayor Brown of San Antonio took Mayor Dollins and other of the city officials out for an auto drive over San Antonio, and much information of great interest was secured regarding the Alamo City and its financial status. As an instance, it is stated that the floating debt of San Antonio is rapidly approaching the $1,500,000 mark, and much of this is being carried at 5½ per cent interest, so it will be seen that Waco's floating indebtedness of about one-thirtieth of this amount shows Waco up to good advantage as to financial standing.

The Waco gentlemen all enjoyed their stay, and report most courteous treatment.

Red Cross Magazine's Reference to Waco

The Red Cross Magazine, which is the official organ of the American Red Cross, takes particular notice in this month's issue of the splendid service which the local chapter performed at the time the troop trains were passing through Waco en route to the border. Especial mention is made of the distribution of postal cards to the soldier boys, and of the much appreciated lunches which were served at the trains.

One of the principal illustrations in this month's number of the magazine is a photograph of the Red Cross window display installed by the Goldstein-Migel company at the beginning of the Red Cross membership campaign. This attractive window, which was very effective in arousing interest among the people of Waco, will now doubtless be copied in many other cities. The idea of making this window display was suggested by the Goldstein-Migel company, who very generously donated the use of one of their big front windows for the purpose.

President W. W. Seley, Dr. I. L. McGlasson and many others, including a large number of ladies, took deep interest in the work of the local Red Cross and much was accomplished in many ways, and the recognition on the part of the American Red Cross Magazine shows that this attracted attention on the outside.

Watermelon Cut.

A crowd of young folks from town enjoyed a delightful swim and watermelon cut at Easley's on the Bosque last Saturday night. After the watermelons had been disposed of various games were indulged in until time to start homeward.

Among those who had the pleasure of this delightful occasion were Misses Clara Evans, May Jones, Jennie Forsgard, Velma Torbett, Helen Olenbush, Claudie Prewitt, Jamie Strange, Ruth Buchanan, Motie Cass of Cameron and Corinne Speight of Houston, with Messrs. J. T. Willis, Walter Reese, Turner, Woodard Allen, Arthur Prewitt, Ira Goode, Mac Sherman, Ben Burrows and Sherman Lunney. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reese, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sherman and Mr. and Mrs. Cleinsman.

To the Voters of McLennan County.

As chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, I desire to urge the voters wherever possible to carry their poll tax receipts with them when they go to the polls to vote on August 26th. This will be a great time saver for the officers holding the election, and will also be a great saving to the committee.

I desire to thank you in advance for your consideration of this request.

H. F. BROWN,
Chairman Democratic Executive Committee.
Attest:
CHAS. B. BRAUN, Secretary.

NOTICE MASONS.

The committee on work of the Grand Lodge of Texas will hold its midsummer session in Fort Worth, Texas, from August 21 to 26, inclusive. Sessions will be held in the morning, afternoon and evening of each day. All Masons cordially invited to attend.

Tells Her Experience To Benefit Others

MRS. DUNLAP SENDS A LETTER ADDRESSED TO THE READERS OF THE PAPER.

A sense of duty to others who might suffer as she had impelled Mrs. R. C. Dunlap of Dekalb, Mo., to send the following signed statement to the St. Joseph, Mo., News Press:

"The readers of the News-Press, especially those suffering from gallstones, stomach trouble and appendicitis, will find in Fruitola and Traxo a permanent cure. After suffering for three years the most excruciating pain from gall-stones I found this wonderful remedy and am now in perfect health and have been for almost four years. Never have any symptoms of the old trouble. I had been told by three doctors that nothing but an operation would save me. I know several who have undergone an operation but still have gall-stones. This medicine is an oil which softens the stones and cures the liver. It can be bought at any drug store."

Fruitola is an intestinal lubricant that softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, and expels the accumulation to the patient's great relief. Traxo is a tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation.

Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Waco they can be obtained at W. R. Morrison's Drug Co.

Astonishing Power of Iron to Give Strength to Broken Down Nervous People

Physician Says Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate Folk 200 Per cent in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. Sauer, a well known Specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night; others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who are ailing all the time double and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Powers-Kelly Drug Co., W. B. Morrison Drug Co. and all other druggists.

JAP SCHOLAR GIVES IMPRESSION OF A NATIVE FILIPINO

DECLARES GOVERNMENT OF ISLANDS BY JAPS WOULD BE DIFFICULT BECAUSE NATIVES BELIEVE THEY ARE SUPERIOR TO JAPANESE IN CIVILIZATION.

Tokio, Aug. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Dr. Inazo Nitobe, a Japanese scholar well-known in the United States, where he spent several years, has just published impressions of a recent visit to the Philippine islands and his articles have attracted wide attention in Japan.

Dr. Nitobe said he heard many Americans in the Philippines express belief that the islands would ultimately pass into the hands of the Japanese, but he believed the attitude of the natives might be quite different.

"The natives," said he, "believe they are superior to the Japanese, having enjoyed a European civilization for four hundred years and having used a language derived fro mthe Latin. As a matter of fact, the Filipinos are no equal for the Japanese in politics, national defense or industry, but possessing as they do such foreign ideas and customs, though ancient, they rather look down upon the Japanese. It remains a serious question whether they would condescend to look up to the Japanese as their superiors.

"They have, furthermore, not neglected to pay close attention to the Japanese administration in Formosa and Korea. While Japan's administration is not without its faults, it has been as a rule a great success, and yet when comparison is made between Japan's colonial administration and that of America in the Philippines, they are widely different.

UNLIMITED LIBERTY OF SPEECH.

"In the Philippines the natives enjoy unlimited liberty of speech; they write and discuss as they like and no official intervention takes place. Viewed from this respect alone, would the Filipino welcome Japanese control, when he realized the present condition of Japan's policy in Formosa and Korea?"

The writer referred to the many political liberties and prerogatives possessed by the Filipinoos under American rule, and spoke particularly of the fact that American teachers in the public schools are gradually being replaced by native instructors. He added: "Visit the primary schools, and you will see the native instructors teaching very patriotic songs with the spirit of independence and dominating note, such as 'My Native Land, the Philippines, the Philippines.'

"In the high schools, native books are used as text books, encouraging the spirit of political independence. There were more than eighty dialects in these islands, but today English is the common language, thus uniting the diversed inhabitants into one.

"Our wonder grows, then, why the natives under such favorable conditions should desire to discard American rule to be replaced by that of Japan."

WHAT U. S. DOES FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Dr. Nitobe pointed out that the United States spends the huge sum of $30,000,000 annually in the Philippines. Add to this the immovable capital already invested in the islands, something like from twenty to thirty million dollars more. It was not necessary, he said, to enumerate the blessings that have been brought about to the natives by the inflow of such a large amount of specie. Their wages have increased, and the standard of living has been raised. Should the Philippines be transferred to Japan now, for instance, it would be hard to gain such advantages as these in the immediate future even if good might come in the long run. The writer added: "Try as I will, it is hard for me to find a reason to welcome the Japanese. It seems to me that the desire of transferring the ownership in some fitting form comes from the American inhabitants rather than from the Filipinos themselves."

In conclusion Prof. Nitobe declared that it was absurd for Japanese to talk about the acquisition of the Philippines. Their cry should be "Southward Ho" in commerce but not in territorial aggrandizement. He felt confident that the American government would not object to economic enterprise by the Japanese in the Philippines. Indeed, he had been informed on his visit that in not one single instance has a business proposition by the Japanese been opposed by the authorities.

By Mlle. Mariex, France's Great Prize Beauty.

It's wonderful to look beautiful and youthful. The Countess de Chevanne, who at seventy years of age possesses a marvelously soft, smooth, velvet-like skin and an almost girl-like complexion without a wrinkle in sight, told the writer personally in Paris that she owed it all to the discovery of skin osmosis. With this marvelous discovery every complexion blemish can be banished in three nights in many instances, and you can awaken in the morning with a beautiful natural rose colored complexion fresh as a daisy.

I have known dozens of hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, aged-looking women who had given up all hope of ever looking beautiful and youthful again to "come back" and again become most beautiful, youthful and fascinating in from two to three weeks' time by this wonderful simple method.

No matter what your age or what you have tried unsuccessfully, skin osmosis will positively bring you new beauty and youth. Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good pure roseated cream, which you can obtain from your druggist. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream.

In three weeks or less watch the magic transformation. See how the old, hardened, coarse, rough skin turns into new, fresh, soft, youthful looking skin almost before your very eyes, all due to simple skin osmosis produced solely by warm water and roseated cream. But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams and must not be confounded with them. I personally prefer Creme Tobalon (Roseated), but any good brand will do. If you have wrinkles get a box of Japanese Ice Pencils and use them in connection with the cream and you get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing, in one night's time and awaken on the morrow to witness most astonishing results.

I personally guarantee success in every case, in any of my newspaper articles which I write on subjects relating to beauty, or I will refund the amount paid for any products which I recommend, provided you take your dealer's receipt at the time you make your purchase. My American address is Simone Mariex, 20 West 22nd street, New York.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Creme Tokalon Roseated have such unbounded confidence in their particular brand that they offer to forfeit $200.00 to any charitable institution, if it can be shown that it will not banish every complexion blemish and give most astonishing new beauty to wrinkled, care-worn, aged women in three days time in many instances. It can be obtained absolutely fresh and guaranteed pure from W. B. Morrison Drug Co., Powers-Kelly Drug Co., Provident Drug Co. or most any good druggist in this city.

Her Love-Potion.

A young woman who thought she was losing her husband's affection went to a seventh daughter of a seventh daughter for a love-powder. The mystery-woman told her:

"Get a raw piece of beef, cut flat, about an inch thick. Slice an onion in two, and rub the meat on both sides with it. Put on pepper and salt, and toast it on each side over a red coal fire. Drop on it three lumps of butter and two sprigs of parsley, and get him to eat it."

The young wife did so, and her husband loved her ever after.—Tit-Bits.

MONEY TO LOAN TO BUILD HOMES

This company now offers loans on improved Waco residence property, and having operated throughout Texas for over 25 years, has assisted thousands in securing their own homes. The loans of this company are with a few exceptions, made on homes, either to build or to remove existing incumbrances. Many who have transferred their mortgages into this company find that they are now paying principle and interest as easily as they have heretofore paid the interest alone. The reason is plain: The payments are always the same and are due at fixed intervals. Every mortgage made by this company contains a clause providing for its discharge after a fixed number of payments have been made, unless sooner discharged through maturity. The mortgagor has the option to pay off his mortgage in full, or in part, at any time without having to pay any unearned interest. A loan from this company has to be adjusted but once. There is no annual uneasiness. Each month takes care of itself. The burden is easily distributed throughout the whole time. There is absolutely no delay in furnishing a loan through this company.

MRS. DUNLAP SENDS A LETTER ADDRESSED TO THE READERS OF THE PAPER.

HOW TO SECURE ONE OF THESE PRIZES.

The articles on "How to Increase the Population, Prosperity and Popularity of Waco," must not be over seventy-five words in length.

They must be addressed to the Contest Editor of the Waco Morning News.

The articles should be typewritten or written plainly with pen and ink on one side of the paper.

Any man or woman over eighteen years of age, living in the city of Waco, whether or not they are members of the Royal Order of the Lions, may compete for these prizes.

The contest closes on October 1, and the committee in charge, appointed by the Lions club, consisting of R. E. Pellow, Harry M. Baine and A. R. Wilson, will select five judges to award these prizes.

The Lions club feels that it will get a wealth of information relative to Waco and its merits and that is their object in fostering this friendly contest. It is impossible to arrange these prizes in the order of valuation, but the winner of any of them should indeed feel that they are a token to their ability, insight and demands of the city in which they live.

It is believed by the Lions club that a great interest will be taken in this matter, for everyone living here that is really for Waco, has given more or less study to the subject matter in question. When one is asked the question "If you are for Waco, or just live here," hundreds will be found that will give the matter serious thought, and assist in this great co-operative movement.

SPECIAL PRIZES TO TRAVELING MEN.

Aside from the above R. E. Pellow gives $5 in accommodation at the Raleigh for the best article written by a traveling man on this subject and J. P. Everett gives a $6 coupon book, good at the Hippodrome, Waco; Queen, Galveston; Old Mill and Queen at Dallas and Queen at Houston, to the traveling man writing the best article.

Physician Says Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Increase Strength of Delicate Folk 200 Per cent in Two Weeks' Time in Many Instances.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a recent discourse Dr. E. Sauer, a well known Specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, said: "If you were to make an actual blood test on all people who are ill you would probably be greatly astonished at the exceedingly large number who lack iron and who are ill for no other reason than the lack of iron. The moment iron is supplied all their multitude of dangerous symptoms disappear. Without iron the blood at once loses the power to change food into living tissue and therefore nothing you eat does you any good; you don't get the strength out of it. Your food merely passes through your system like corn through a mill with the rollers so wide apart that the mill can't grind. As a result of this continuous blood and nerve starvation, people become generally weakened, nervous and all run down, and frequently develop all sorts of conditions. One is too thin; another is burdened with unhealthy fat; some are so weak they can hardly walk; some think they have dyspepsia, kidney or liver trouble; some can't sleep at night; others are sleepy and tired all day; some fussy and irritable; some skinny and bloodless, but all lack physical power and endurance. In such cases it is worse than foolishness to take stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your fagging vital powers for the moment, maybe at the expense of your life later on. No matter what any one tells you, if you are not strong and well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who are ailing all the time double and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of their symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. You can talk as you please about all the wonders wrought by new remedies, but when you come down to hard facts there is nothing like good old iron to put color in your cheeks and good, sound, healthy flesh on your bones. It is also a great nerve and stomach strengthener and the best blood builder in the world. The only trouble was that the old forms of inorganic iron, like tincture of iron, iron acetate, etc., often ruined people's teeth, upset their stomachs and were not assimilated, and for these reasons they frequently did more harm than good. But with the discovery of the newer forms of organic iron all this has been overcome. Nuxated Iron, for example, is pleasant to take, does not injure the teeth and is almost immediately beneficial.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks' time provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by Powers-Kelly Drug Co., W. B. Morrison Drug Co. and all other druggists.

DECLARES GOVERNMENT OF ISLANDS BY JAPS WOULD BE DIFFICULT BECAUSE NATIVES BELIEVE THEY ARE SUPERIOR TO JAPANESE IN CIVILIZATION.

Tokio, Aug. 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Dr. Inazo Nitobe, a Japanese scholar well-known in the United States, where he spent several years, has just published impressions of a recent visit to the Philippine islands and his articles have attracted wide attention in Japan.

Dr. Nitobe said he heard many Americans in the Philippines express belief that the islands would ultimately pass into the hands of the Japanese, but he believed the attitude of the natives might be quite different.

"The natives," said he, "believe they are superior to the Japanese, having enjoyed a European civilization for four hundred years and having used a language derived fro mthe Latin. As a matter of fact, the Filipinos are no equal for the Japanese in politics, national defense or industry, but possessing as they do such foreign ideas and customs, though ancient, they rather look down upon the Japanese. It remains a serious question whether they would condescend to look up to the Japanese as their superiors.

"They have, furthermore, not neglected to pay close attention to the Japanese administration in Formosa and Korea. While Japan's administration is not without its faults, it has been as a rule a great success, and yet when comparison is made between Japan's colonial administration and that of America in the Philippines, they are widely different.

UNLIMITED LIBERTY OF SPEECH.

"In the Philippines the natives enjoy unlimited liberty of speech; they write and discuss as they like and no official intervention takes place. Viewed from this respect alone, would the Filipino welcome Japanese control, when he realized the present condition of Japan's policy in Formosa and Korea?"

The writer referred to the many political liberties and prerogatives possessed by the Filipinoos under American rule, and spoke particularly of the fact that American teachers in the public schools are gradually being replaced by native instructors. He added: "Visit the primary schools, and you will see the native instructors teaching very patriotic songs with the spirit of independence and dominating note, such as 'My Native Land, the Philippines, the Philippines.'

"In the high schools, native books are used as text books, encouraging the spirit of political independence. There were more than eighty dialects in these islands, but today English is the common language, thus uniting the diversed inhabitants into one.

"Our wonder grows, then, why the natives under such favorable conditions should desire to discard American rule to be replaced by that of Japan."

WHAT U. S. DOES FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

Dr. Nitobe pointed out that the United States spends the huge sum of $30,000,000 annually in the Philippines. Add to this the immovable capital already invested in the islands, something like from twenty to thirty million dollars more. It was not necessary, he said, to enumerate the blessings that have been brought about to the natives by the inflow of such a large amount of specie. Their wages have increased, and the standard of living has been raised. Should the Philippines be transferred to Japan now, for instance, it would be hard to gain such advantages as these in the immediate future even if good might come in the long run. The writer added: "Try as I will, it is hard for me to find a reason to welcome the Japanese. It seems to me that the desire of transferring the ownership in some fitting form comes from the American inhabitants rather than from the Filipinos themselves."

In conclusion Prof. Nitobe declared that it was absurd for Japanese to talk about the acquisition of the Philippines. Their cry should be "Southward Ho" in commerce but not in territorial aggrandizement. He felt confident that the American government would not object to economic enterprise by the Japanese in the Philippines. Indeed, he had been informed on his visit that in not one single instance has a business proposition by the Japanese been opposed by the authorities.

By Mlle. Mariex, France's Great Prize Beauty.

It's wonderful to look beautiful and youthful. The Countess de Chevanne, who at seventy years of age possesses a marvelously soft, smooth, velvet-like skin and an almost girl-like complexion without a wrinkle in sight, told the writer personally in Paris that she owed it all to the discovery of skin osmosis. With this marvelous discovery every complexion blemish can be banished in three nights in many instances, and you can awaken in the morning with a beautiful natural rose colored complexion fresh as a daisy.

I have known dozens of hollow-cheeked, wrinkled, aged-looking women who had given up all hope of ever looking beautiful and youthful again to "come back" and again become most beautiful, youthful and fascinating in from two to three weeks' time by this wonderful simple method.

No matter what your age or what you have tried unsuccessfully, skin osmosis will positively bring you new beauty and youth. Merely wash your face in warm water at night and rub in a teaspoonful or two of any good pure roseated cream, which you can obtain from your druggist. In the morning wash the face with cold water and rub in more cream.

In three weeks or less watch the magic transformation. See how the old, hardened, coarse, rough skin turns into new, fresh, soft, youthful looking skin almost before your very eyes, all due to simple skin osmosis produced solely by warm water and roseated cream. But be sure to use only pure roseated cream, as it is an entirely different thing from ordinary face creams and must not be confounded with them. I personally prefer Creme Tobalon (Roseated), but any good brand will do. If you have wrinkles get a box of Japanese Ice Pencils and use them in connection with the cream and you get quick action on the deepest wrinkles, no matter of how long standing, in one night's time and awaken on the morrow to witness most astonishing results.

I personally guarantee success in every case, in any of my newspaper articles which I write on subjects relating to beauty, or I will refund the amount paid for any products which I recommend, provided you take your dealer's receipt at the time you make your purchase. My American address is Simone Mariex, 20 West 22nd street, New York.

NOTE—The manufacturers of Creme Tokalon Roseated have such unbounded confidence in their particular brand that they offer to forfeit $200.00 to any charitable institution, if it can be shown that it will not banish every complexion blemish and give most astonishing new beauty to wrinkled, care-worn, aged women in three days time in many instances. It can be obtained absolutely fresh and guaranteed pure from W. B. Morrison Drug Co., Powers-Kelly Drug Co., Provident Drug Co. or most any good druggist in this city.

Her Love-Potion.

A young woman who thought she was losing her husband's affection went to a seventh daughter of a seventh daughter for a love-powder. The mystery-woman told her:

"Get a raw piece of beef, cut flat, about an inch thick. Slice an onion in two, and rub the meat on both sides with it. Put on pepper and salt, and toast it on each side over a red coal fire. Drop on it three lumps of butter and two sprigs of parsley, and get him to eat it."

The young wife did so, and her husband loved her ever after.—Tit-Bits.

MONEY TO LOAN TO BUILD HOMES

This company now offers loans on improved Waco residence property, and having operated throughout Texas for over 25 years, has assisted thousands in securing their own homes. The loans of this company are with a few exceptions, made on homes, either to build or to remove existing incumbrances. Many who have transferred their mortgages into this company find that they are now paying principle and interest as easily as they have heretofore paid the interest alone. The reason is plain: The payments are always the same and are due at fixed intervals. Every mortgage made by this company contains a clause providing for its discharge after a fixed number of payments have been made, unless sooner discharged through maturity. The mortgagor has the option to pay off his mortgage in full, or in part, at any time without having to pay any unearned interest. A loan from this company has to be adjusted but once. There is no annual uneasiness. Each month takes care of itself. The burden is easily distributed throughout the whole time. There is absolutely no delay in furnishing a loan through this company.

Two Wins Today Would Lash the Crew Up There Tight

WACO SCORES NINE IN SIXTH

DUCKY SWAN HURLS NEAT BALL UNTIL FATAL SIXTH ROUND KILLING.

CAUSEY KEEPS WINNING GAMES

Beaumont, Aug. 19.—Until the sixth inning today, Ducky Swan had the Navs helpless. Then Causey started the rally that netted nine runs on as many hits, and gave the Skippers a 9 to 1 victory over the Oilers in the second game of the series. Causey, Bittle, Coyle, Tanner, Conwell, Leslie and Kuhn contributed the hits that netted the runs, Bittle and Causey delivering two apiece in the big inning. Causey started the slaughter with a single to right field. Bittle got an infield hit to second, Causey advancing. Coyle was safe on Dodd's fumble, filling the bases. Tanner flied to center and Causey scored on the sacrifice, Bittle taking third and Coyle second. James was safe at first when he hit a roller to Tarleton, who tried for Bittle at the plate, but failed. Coyle took third and James stole second. Grubb forced Conwell at the plate, Dodd to Wilson, James going to third and Grubb to first. Conwell got an infield hit down the third base line, James scoring and Grubb taking second. Leslie also got an infield hit to short, jamming the bags again. Kuhn singled to left, scoring Grubb and Conwell, Leslie going to second. Causey singled to center, scoring Leslie and Kuhn also counted when Nixon made a wild heave ot the plate. Causey trotted to second on the throw-in. Bittle singled to center and Coyle singled to left. Tanner scored them both with a hot drive to right. James ended the awful nightmare.

But two extra base hits were registered, Kuhn getting a double and Nixon a home run over the fence in right center in the eighth. That was the only run allowed by Causey, who pitched a great game, despite the many hits charged against him. Conwell had a great day at bat, with three singles in a row.

The Beaumont infield acquired a bad attack of stage fright in Waco's sixth. Chances that should have been easy outs were handled slowly, and went for infield hits. Waco's victory broke Beaumont's winning streak, which had extended over the last two weeks.

Aside from the one bad frame, Swan allowed only three hits, no two bunched and twirled a masterful game until the break came. The Skippers' outbreak was a characteristic attack. When Red Causey singled, the first man up, the rest of his mates couldn't be stopped. Bittle really swatted out three hits in the sixth inning, as Umpire Vitter called his first drive a foul. THE OSTEND BATHING COSTUME IS THOUGHT MODEST ON COAST

The "horrible example" that failed to horrify.

Recent disputes along the California beaches as to what is a decent and what an indecent bathing costume have brought forth the Ostend bathing suit, illustrated here. It was thought this garb would serve well enough as a horrible example and that modest suits would follow. But no one was horrified and the suit has since become quite popular.

STARS OF A FEW YEARS AGO FADE AWAY AND FEW FANS PAUSE TO SEE THEM GO

Every season sees the passing on of stars who seem to have scarcely passed their heydey. Babe Adams after a few brilliant seasons has gone to the minors, and Red Dooin, for thirteen years with the Phillies, one of the greatest small catchers the game has known, after a short stay with the Giants last fall, is now forgotten and playing in the smallest bush league.

Party of Syrian Fans Back Home After Auto Trip to Houston and Galveston

With the exception of a slight rawness in the region of his vocal cords and a noticeable "croupy" grunt when speaking, Albert George, the boy with the big noise who has done so much to help the Navs win, arrived back in Waco yesterday after a successful trot through Galveston and Houston with a party of six friends. Albert and the other half-dozen rooters—Sam Petros, J. George, George Abraham, Sam Holloway and Pete Petros—made the south Texas trip in automobiles, and have seen Waco play every game since Sunday with the exception of the two in Beaumont.

Needless to say, the Navs won five of the seven.

Just as the umpire was calling the batteries for the twenty-inning game with the Pirates Sunday, the local bunch entered the grounds.

"I started hollering just as soon as we found seats," said George. "The whole park was crowded an' jes' as I broke loose ev'body turned around and stared. 'Here comes about a hundred Waco fans,' they buzzed. Then we settled down to work. I gave three or four long ones in each inning and pretty soon the Waco team was oll lookin' over where we sat. When Hill went to bat in the seventeenth he saw us up in the bleachers, grinned and tipped his cap. Say, that made me feel good and for the first time since I been usin' this scream, my throat begin to hurt. An' I ain't braggin' when I say it, but looks to me like I won that ball game with my voice."

Albert said that he met Conwell on the street after the first game in Houston and the Nav infielder wanted him to go with the team on all the road trips.

"Conwell said we put plenty of pep in the club when they saw us seven out there pullin' for 'em and made all of 'em play harder," related Albert. "I sure'd like to do that, but I gotta 'tend to my job here. Anyway, gasoline ain't free, as I've noticed lately. But we wouldn't give anything for the good time we had on the trip. Nobody threatened to whip us for rootin' for Waco—not even in Houston.

"Will I be at the News scoreboard today for the double-header? Well, listen for me, that's all."

TEAMS FORMED ON RIO GRANDE

Brownsville, Aug. 19.—A "big league" series for the baseball championship of the lower border will open tomorrow throughout the Rio Grande valley, where two nine-team leagues have been formed among the regulars and national guardsmen in the Brownsville division. Other leagues in the Llano Grande, Mercedes and McAllen divisions will start playing soon.

The leagues have been formed and placed in working order by Capt. F. S. Besson, detailed as manager for baseball in the Brownsville section. According to the schedule, each team will play two games with every team in the league, being in the form of a round-robin tournament. Play will start tomorrow and will continue on each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday until Obtober 9. The leaders in each league will then play in a series for the championship of the lower border.

League No. 1—Fourth infantry, First Illinois cavalry, Thirty-sixth infantry, First Virginia infantry, all stationed at Brownsville; First Oklahoma infantry and Fourth South Dakota infantry at San Benito; First Iowa infantry, Iowa engineers and all medical corps stationed at Brownsville.

League No. 2.—Third United States cavalry squadron; First engineers, Second Virginia infantry; Fourth and Fifth field artillery, all of Brownsville; Twenty-sixth United States infantry at Hardingen; Second Iowa infantry and Third Iowa infantry at Brownsville, and First Louisiana infantry at San Benito.

A similar baseball series is now being arranged at Laredo. Army officers here are considering the possibilities of games between the champions of the lower border and the Laredo district for an "all border" championship.

In every unit on the lower border there are several players of more or less note, either in the college or professional classes.

Visiting Dallas Nine Noses Waco Out

The proceeds, which amounted to $47.25, were turned over to the Buckner's Orphan Home in Dallas as a substantial help in combating the epidemic of typhoid fever which has swept over the entire district around the institution.

Last night a banquet was tendered the visiting team by the fifty-one Waco employes. Sixteen Dallas men came in the party.

TENNIS UPSETS IN EAST RAISE DOUBTS AS TO WHO'LL BE THE SEASON'S HERO

Clarence Griffin (above) and Wm. M. Johnston. Right, R. Norris Williams.

Tennis fans in the east are being regaled with a quality of the game they have not enjoyed for many seasons. Every sort of thrill has already surprised them and yet more are continually coming. Clarence Griffin has beaten Norris Williams decisively and then lost to J. J. Armstrong. Wm. Johnston, last season's champ, may come through again but the dope is so unsettled as to discourage speculation.

Two Wins Today Would Lash the Crew Up There Tight

WACO SCORES NINE IN SIXTH

DUCKY SWAN HURLS NEAT BALL UNTIL FATAL SIXTH ROUND KILLING.

CAUSEY KEEPS WINNING GAMES

Beaumont, Aug. 19.—Until the sixth inning today, Ducky Swan had the Navs helpless. Then Causey started the rally that netted nine runs on as many hits, and gave the Skippers a 9 to 1 victory over the Oilers in the second game of the series. Causey, Bittle, Coyle, Tanner, Conwell, Leslie and Kuhn contributed the hits that netted the runs, Bittle and Causey delivering two apiece in the big inning. Causey started the slaughter with a single to right field. Bittle got an infield hit to second, Causey advancing. Coyle was safe on Dodd's fumble, filling the bases. Tanner flied to center and Causey scored on the sacrifice, Bittle taking third and Coyle second. James was safe at first when he hit a roller to Tarleton, who tried for Bittle at the plate, but failed. Coyle took third and James stole second. Grubb forced Conwell at the plate, Dodd to Wilson, James going to third and Grubb to first. Conwell got an infield hit down the third base line, James scoring and Grubb taking second. Leslie also got an infield hit to short, jamming the bags again. Kuhn singled to left, scoring Grubb and Conwell, Leslie going to second. Causey singled to center, scoring Leslie and Kuhn also counted when Nixon made a wild heave ot the plate. Causey trotted to second on the throw-in. Bittle singled to center and Coyle singled to left. Tanner scored them both with a hot drive to right. James ended the awful nightmare.

But two extra base hits were registered, Kuhn getting a double and Nixon a home run over the fence in right center in the eighth. That was the only run allowed by Causey, who pitched a great game, despite the many hits charged against him. Conwell had a great day at bat, with three singles in a row.

The Beaumont infield acquired a bad attack of stage fright in Waco's sixth. Chances that should have been easy outs were handled slowly, and went for infield hits. Waco's victory broke Beaumont's winning streak, which had extended over the last two weeks.

Aside from the one bad frame, Swan allowed only three hits, no two bunched and twirled a masterful game until the break came. The Skippers' outbreak was a characteristic attack. When Red Causey singled, the first man up, the rest of his mates couldn't be stopped. Bittle really swatted out three hits in the sixth inning, as Umpire Vitter called his first drive a foul. THE OSTEND BATHING COSTUME IS THOUGHT MODEST ON COAST

The "horrible example" that failed to horrify.

Recent disputes along the California beaches as to what is a decent and what an indecent bathing costume have brought forth the Ostend bathing suit, illustrated here. It was thought this garb would serve well enough as a horrible example and that modest suits would follow. But no one was horrified and the suit has since become quite popular.

Every season sees the passing on of stars who seem to have scarcely passed their heydey. Babe Adams after a few brilliant seasons has gone to the minors, and Red Dooin, for thirteen years with the Phillies, one of the greatest small catchers the game has known, after a short stay with the Giants last fall, is now forgotten and playing in the smallest bush league.

With the exception of a slight rawness in the region of his vocal cords and a noticeable "croupy" grunt when speaking, Albert George, the boy with the big noise who has done so much to help the Navs win, arrived back in Waco yesterday after a successful trot through Galveston and Houston with a party of six friends. Albert and the other half-dozen rooters—Sam Petros, J. George, George Abraham, Sam Holloway and Pete Petros—made the south Texas trip in automobiles, and have seen Waco play every game since Sunday with the exception of the two in Beaumont.

Needless to say, the Navs won five of the seven.

Just as the umpire was calling the batteries for the twenty-inning game with the Pirates Sunday, the local bunch entered the grounds.

"I started hollering just as soon as we found seats," said George. "The whole park was crowded an' jes' as I broke loose ev'body turned around and stared. 'Here comes about a hundred Waco fans,' they buzzed. Then we settled down to work. I gave three or four long ones in each inning and pretty soon the Waco team was oil lookin' over where we sat. When Hill went to bat in the seventeenth he saw us up in the bleachers, grinned and tipped his cap. Say, that made me feel good and for the first time since I been usin' this scream, my throat begin to hurt. An' I ain't braggin' when I say it, but looks to me like I won that ball game with my voice."

Albert said that he met Conwell on the street after the first game in Houston and the Nav infielder wanted him to go with the team on all the road trips.

"Conwell said we put plenty of pep in the club when they saw us seven out there pullin' for 'em and made all of 'em play harder," related Albert. "I sure'd like to do that, but I gotta 'tend to my job here. Anyway, gasoline ain't free, as I've noticed lately. But we wouldn't give anything for the good time we had on the trip. Nobody threatened to whip us for rootin' for Waco—not even in Houston.

"Will I be at the News scoreboard today for the double-header? Well, listen for me, that's all."

TEAMS FORMED ON RIO GRANDE

Brownsville, Aug. 19.—A "big league" series for the baseball championship of the lower border will open tomorrow throughout the Rio Grande valley, where two nine-team leagues have been formed among the regulars and national guardsmen in the Brownsville division. Other leagues in the Llano Grande, Mercedes and McAllen divisions will start playing soon.

The leagues have been formed and placed in working order by Capt. F. S. Besson, detailed as manager for baseball in the Brownsville section. According to the schedule, each team will play two games with every team in the league, being in the form of a round-robin tournament. Play will start tomorrow and will continue on each Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday until October 9. The leaders in each league will then play in a series for the championship of the lower border.

League No. 1—Fourth infantry, First Illinois cavalry, Thirty-sixth infantry, First Virginia infantry, all stationed at Brownsville; First Oklahoma infantry and Fourth South Dakota infantry at San Benito; First Iowa infantry, Iowa engineers and all medical corps stationed at Brownsville.

League No. 2.—Third United States cavalry squadron; First engineers, Second Virginia infantry; Fourth and Fifth field artillery, all of Brownsville; Twenty-sixth United States infantry at Harlingen; Second Iowa infantry and Third Iowa infantry at Brownsville, and First Louisiana infantry at San Benito.

There are five baseball fields at Fort Brown for the Brownsville division, one field at Harlingen, one at San Benito, one at the Iowa camp and one at the Virginia camp. A similar baseball series is now being arranged at Laredo. Army officers here are considering the possibilities of games between the champions of the lower border and the Laredo district for an "all border" championship.

In every unit on the lower border there are several players of more or less note, either in the college or professional classes.

Visiting Dallas Nine Noses Waco Out

The proceeds, which amounted to $47.25, were turned over to the Buckner's Orphan Home in Dallas as a substantial help in combating the epidemic of typhoid fever which has swept over the entire district around the institution.

Last night a banquet was tendered the visiting team by the fifty-one Waco employes. Sixteen Dallas men came in the party.

Kumagae Wrests Cup from Johnston

Newport, R. I., Aug. 19.—Ichiya Kumagae of Tokio furnished the biggest sensation of the tennis season today wrresting victory from William M. Johnston of San Francisco, national champion, in the finals of the annual tournament for the Casino cup. The match went into five sets.

Kumagae had the better of the Californian, winning the first two sets. Although Johnston won the next two, he weakened in the final set and went down to defeat before the even, accurate play of his steady-going opponent. The scores were 6-1, 9-7, 5-7, 2-6, 9-7.

Johnston's title was unaffected by the match.

SIX DAYS RACING WITH GOOD PURSES AT COTTON PALACE

There will be six days of high-class horse racing at the Cotton Palace. Owners of thoroughbred animals all over the country have expressed a desire to enter their horses in the races to be conducted by the Cotton Palace exposition.

The track has been improved to such an extent that it is now considered one of the fastest tracks in the southwest. Horsemen who have been working out their animals this spring and summer declare that nothing else could be done to make the track any better.

Sanger Team Plays East Waco Today

The Sanger Brothers Sluggers and East Waco will engage in what promises to be the fastest game of amateur ball in Waco this season. Both teams have made envious records, but have never played each other before and they will enter the fray in fine fettle and each is confident of victory. The game will be played this afternoon at Katy park, starting promptly at 4 o'clock. It is believed a large crowd will be out to watch the battle and Manager Carter of the Sanger club announced that he had secured one of the best umpires in the state to officiate. There will be no admission charge.

PLENTY OF COMFORT AT NEWS SCOREBOARD TODAY

The News offers its electric scoreboard to the public today as probably the most comfortable free board in the country.

Not only is the space in front of the board shady, but it is out of the street and the crowd is unmolested by traffic.

Street Commissioner Cockcroft settled the dust in the alley and on the lot itself by having the Franksstreet sprinkler make a couple of trips over it. The thoughtfulness of the city official added no little to the comfort of the big crowd. Plenty of police protection was furnished, although the boys showed no disposition to get mad at Vitter and start chunking the numerous brick bats handy.

Today a double-header will be played off on the board—Waco at Beaumont. First game at 3 o'clock sharp.

NORTON BREAKS HURDLE RECORD AT A. A. U. MEET

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 19.—A world's record was broken and another equalled but not allowed in the A. A. U. track and field meet here today.

John Norton of the Olympic club, San Francisco, was credited with breaking the world's record on the 220-yard hurdles on a curved track, his time being 24 1-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than the record formerly held by Fred Kelly of the Los Angeles A. C.

Sporting Comment

Our own Roger Hornsby is topping the National sluggers with a total of 174 bases on his hits thus far for the season. Some nifty number, huh? But glance at the American and find the leader there. Joe Jackson, another product of the South, has banked out blows enough to make 221 bases, or 47 more than Hornsby.

To take the place of Cold Feet Rankin Johnson, Fort Worth has picked up Pitcher Countryman for the rest of the chase. The Buffs hit him hard in one inning for seven runs, but he escapes credit for a defeat. Houston also showed a new face in the line-up, a youngster by the name of Ball holding down third.

How the club does hit 'em for this Causey kid. When he loses a game he can't have the alibi of "They don't hit behind me." Give George Sage the runs Red gets and you'd find the big fellow near the top. Causey hasn't lost a game since long before the club left home. Hill has dropped two and Donalds one on the trip.

Wish Sid Smith'd crack a shin—naw, we don't either. But it's coufounded irritable to rock along, leadin' by one point, and then again holding the fort through the courtesy of the printer, which means we're on top in the baseball calendar in Waco, although tied with the runners-up. Wait till the Gassers hit Beaumont, though.

The Yanks are now keeping company with the humble Athletics, having fallen to seventh place this morning. Al Walters batted 1.000 in yesterday's game, but his share wasn't enough. By the way, New York has the hardest-hitting catching staff in either league, with Nunamaker swatting .287, Alexander .286 and Walters .280, according to the latest averages compiled by Irwin Howe.

Ty Cobb and Max Carey are the real speed boys of the majors, each having swiped forty sacks. This is a comparatively low mark for the Peach, however. He got off to a late start, and didn't appear around in tip-top form until a month and a half of the season had gone by. As our advertising friends say, Nuxated Iron put the missing vitality in him.

The "Old Fox" Clark Griffith, has been dissatisfied with the work of Southpaw Joe Boehling for the past two seasons. Since winning eleven straight games three seasons ago, Joe hasn't been of much help to Walter Johnson et al. Now he goes to the Indians, under what conditions is not known, whether by outright purchase or in trade. He forced in the winning run against Boston yesterday.

Grover Alexander broke the major league record for shut-out games in the course of a season by goose-egging the Cincinnati Reds last week for his thirteenth whitewash of the year. Christy Mathewson had topped the bunch previously with a mark of twelve, and that for the whole race, too. Big Alex has a sweet chance to establish a high-water mark that won't be reached for some time to come.

There's been a bunch of double-headers scheduled on this swing, but either darkness or rain have interfered to prevent playing them. Waco split with Houston Thursday and plays another bargain bill this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The dope looks like Perritt and Donalds or Sage against Harbin and Watkins, although Joe Martina, who hasn't pitted himself against the Navs this year, may start one affair—we said start it.

Ducky Swan musta been feeling awfully good when he started that sixth. But, oh, what a headache afterwards. Waco's rush and swoop in that inning has turned the odds in their favor among many of the fans. The ability to crack down unexpectedly on an invincibly-working pitcher for a bag full of runs and the game won the pennants for Waco in 1914 and 1915. Now the nine this year seems to have inherited the same knack.

MERIDIAN DEFEATS IREDELL.

Meridian, Aug. 19.—In a series of three games at Iredell Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Meridian won the first game 7 to 3, Iredell the second 8 to 7 and the third game was a farce, Meridian winning by a score of 16 to 6. The first game was featured by the pitching of Gunn of Meridian, who struck out 16 men and allowed only one hit.

Iredell won th second game with a garrison finish. In the last half of the ninth the score was 7 to 5 in favor of Meridian, but two errors and two hits gave the home nine three runs and the game.

In the three games Tittle of Meridian stole 9 bases, got 6 hits in 13 times at bat and scored 8 runs. In the last game Iredell got three home runs, which netted but five scores. Gunn was sent to the mound in the third and held them runless for the remainder of the game.

Batteries: First day, Meridian, Gunn and Hill, Iredell, Tidwell and Tidwell; second day, Pederson and Hill, Hitt and Tidwell; third day, Word, Jarret, Gunn and Hill; Schenck, Scott, Tidwell and Tidwell.

RUMOR HAS ART WILSON LINED UP AS SUCCESSOR TO "IN-BAD" JOE TINKER

Catcher Art Wilson.

Art Wilson, the Pirate catcher, who recently went to the Cubs in the much discussed Schulte deal is rumored to be booked as a probable successor to Joe Tinker whose prestige in Chicago has suffered some since the forfeited game of a while ago. Moreover there is the belief among Chicago officials that the Cubs should be leading the National league.

BAYLOR SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR '16

In announcing the schedule for the season of 1916, the Baylor football management has taken particular pains that no muddle for the state title will be considered, even for a minute, for they have arranged a representative schedule and when the season is over a string of eight wins will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt as to whether the Bears will have any claims to the title.

In the season just past both the Texans and the Farmers were a bit slow about coming to terms. After the season was finished loud cries arose on every hand as to why there were no games between championship contenders.

After staging such a wonderful comeback as Baylor did in the last season, the management was continually beset by men desiring games for the very evident reason that the Bears would be a strong contender for the title. Thus Baylor has games with both A. & M. and Texas, so that when the whistle blows for the last time on Thanksgiving day, unless several tie games arise, there will be little doubt as to who's who on the Texas gridiron.

October 14—Trinity at Dallas.
October 28—Texas at Austin.
November 4—Southwestern at Waco.
November 11—Texas A. & M. at Waco.
November 18—Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater.
November 24—Austin College at Waco.
November 30—T. C. U. at Fort Worth.

CATS SHOULD BE CARED FOR.

It Is Kinder to Drown Kittens Than to Let Them Grow Up as Strays.
(Our Dumb Animals.)

In order to afford free access to and from a room or house for a cat, it is a good plan to provide a hole in a window, door or wall and cover it with a cloth suspended from the top to keep out flies, as well as to stop drafts. If a cat is put through this hole a few times it will learn to find its way through it at will.

That cats may not become too numerous it is better to drown the kittens, or all but one of every litter born, instead of letting them grow up to starve or be killed by dogs or be turned out in some strange neighborhood. This seems to be hte first and most necessary fact to bring home to people who want to help with regard to the problem of too many cats.

Plenty of water should be always accessible for cats—in fact, this is one of the first and greatest requirements of all domestic animals, especially in the hot summer months.

A cat's coat of fur may be kept shiny and handsome by brushing it with an old clothes brush kept for the purpose. The cat becomes very fond of its brushing if it is not done roughly; it is a "modern improvement" that beats a cat's tongue "all hollow" for making the fur smooth and glossy.

The lost and forsaken cats whom we constantly come across present the greatest difficulty. Our own cats we feel we can do our duty by, but what about these others?

When leaving home in the summer do not forget to make some provision for your cat. Either take her with you, or find a neighbor or friend who will take care of her for you, but if this is impossible, be humane enough to see that her life is taken in as painless a manner to her as can be.

It isn't the fact that England started the war that enrages the kaiser, but the realization that she is going to end it.—Boston Transcript.

CAPTURED GERMAN SUBMARINE FURNISHES INSTRUCTION TO CANADIAN OFFICERS

Every day military officers pay a visit to the captured German submarine U-C 5, which is lying at Temple pier, London. The British are learning every detail of the construction of the submarine and expect to profit from their observation. General Sam Hughes, Canadian military chief, went down into the submarine and spent several hours examining the construction of the vessel. The naval authorities have prepared minute drawings of all important variations in construction used in the German vessel as compared with the English vessels.

There will be six days of high-class horse racing at the Cotton Palace. Owners of thoroughbred animals all over the country have expressed a desire to enter their horses in the races to be conducted by the Cotton Palace exposition.

Sanger Team Plays East Waco Today

The Sanger Brothers Sluggers and East Waco will engage in what promises to be the fastest game of amateur ball in Waco this season. Both teams have made envious records, but have never played each other before and they will enter the fray in fine fettle and each is confident of victory. The game will be played this afternoon at Katy park, starting promptly at 4 o'clock. It is believed a large crowd will be out to watch the battle and Manager Carter of the Sanger club announced that he had secured one of the best umpires in the state to officiate. There will be no admission charge.

PLENTY OF COMFORT AT NEWS SCOREBOARD TODAY

The News offers its electric scoreboard to the public today as probably the most comfortable free board in the country.

Not only is the space in front of the board shady, but it is out of the street and the crowd is unmolested by traffic.

Street Commissioner Cockcroft settled the dust in the alley and on the lot itself by having the Franklin street sprinkler make a couple of trips over it. The thoughtfulness of the city official added no little to the comfort of the big crowd. Plenty of police protection was furnished, although the boys showed no disposition to get mad at Vitter and start chunking the numerous brick bats handy.

Today a double-header will be played off on the board—Waco at Beaumont. First game at 3 o'clock sharp.

NORTON BREAKS HURDLE RECORD AT A. A. U. MEET

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 19.—A world's record was broken and another equalled but not allowed in the A. A. U. track and field meet here today.

John Norton of the Olympic club, San Francisco, was credited with breaking the world's record on the 220-yard hurdles on a curved track, his time being 24 1-5 seconds, one-fifth of a second faster than the record formerly held by Fred Kelly of the Los Angeles A. C.

Sporting Comment

Our own Roger Hornsby is topping the National sluggers with a total of 174 bases on his hits thus far for the season. Some nifty number, huh? But glance at the American and find the leader there. Joe Jackson, another product of the South, has banked out blows enough to make 221 bases, or 47 more than Hornsby.

To take the place of Cold Feet Rankin Johnson, Fort Worth has picked up Pitcher Countryman for the rest of the chase. The Buffs hit him hard in one inning for seven runs, but he escapes credit for a defeat. Houston also showed a new face in the line-up, a youngster by the name of Ball holding down third.

How the club does hit 'em for this Causey kid. When he loses a game he can't have the alibi of "They don't hit behind me." Give George Sage the runs Red gets and you'd find the big fellow near the top. Causey hasn't lost a game since long before the club left home. Hill has dropped two and Donalds one on the trip.

Wish Sid Smith'd crack a shin—naw, we don't either. But it's confounded irritable to rock along, leadin' by one point, and then again holding the fort through the courtesy of the printer, which means we're on top in the baseball calendar in Waco, although tied with the runners-up. Wait till the Gassers hit Beaumont, though.

The Yanks are now keeping company with the humble Athletics, having fallen to seventh place this morning. Al Walters batted 1.000 in yesterday's game, but his share wasn't enough. By the way, New York has the hardest-hitting catching staff in either league, with Nunamaker swatting .287, Alexander .286 and Walters .280, according to the latest averages compiled by Irwin Howe.

Ty Cobb and Max Carey are the real speed boys of the majors, each having swiped forty sacks. This is a comparatively low mark for the Peach, however. He got off to a late start, and didn't appear around in tip-top form until a month and a half of the season had gone by. As our advertising friends say, Nuxated Iron put the missing vitality in him.

The "Old Fox" Clark Griffith, has been dissatisfied with the work of Southpaw Joe Boehling for the past two seasons. Since winning eleven straight games three seasons ago, Joe hasn't been of much help to Walter Johnson et al. Now he goes to the Indians, under what conditions is not known, whether by outright purchase or in trade. He forced in the winning run against Boston yesterday.

Grover Alexander broke the major league record for shut-out games in the course of a season by goose-egging the Cincinnati Reds last week for his thirteenth whitewash of the year. Christy Mathewson had topped the bunch previously with a mark of twelve, and that for the whole race, too. Big Alex has a sweet chance to establish a high-water mark that won't be reached for some time to come.

There's been a bunch of double-headers scheduled on this swing, but either darkness or rain have interfered to prevent playing them. Waco split with Houston Thursday and plays another bargain bill this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The dope looks like Perritt and Donalds or Sage against Harbin and Watkins, although Joe Martina, who hasn't pitted himself against the Navs this year, may start one affair—we said start it.

Ducky Swan musta been feeling awfully good when he started that sixth. But, oh, what a headache afterwards. Waco's rush and swoop in that inning has turned the odds in their favor among many of the fans. The ability to crack down unexpectedly on an invincibly-working pitcher for a bag full of runs and the game won the pennants for Waco in 1914 and 1915. Now the nine this year seems to have inherited the same knack.

MERIDIAN DEFEATS IREDELL.

Meridian, Aug. 19.—In a series of three games at Iredell Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Meridian won the first game 7 to 3, Iredell the second 8 to 7 and the third game was a farce, Meridian winning by a score of 16 to 6. The first game was featured by the pitching of Gunn of Meridian, who struck out 16 men and allowed only one hit.

Iredell won th second game with a garrison finish. In the last half of the ninth the score was 7 to 5 in favor of Meridian, but two errors and two hits gave the home nine three runs and the game.

In the three games Tittle of Meridian stole 9 bases, got 6 hits in 13 times at bat and scored 8 runs. In the last game Iredell got three home runs, which netted but five scores. Gunn was sent to the mound in the third and held them runless for the remainder of the game.

Batteries: First day, Meridian, Gunn and Hill, Iredell, Tidwell and Tidwell; second day, Pederson and Hill, Hitt and Tidwell; third day, Word, Jarret, Gunn and Hill; Schenck, Scott, Tidwell and Tidwell.

RUMOR HAS ART WILSON LINED UP AS SUCCESSOR TO "IN-BAD" JOE TINKER

Catcher Art Wilson.

Art Wilson, the Pirate catcher, who recently went to the Cubs in the much discussed Schulte deal is rumored to be booked as a probable successor to Joe Tinker whose prestige in Chicago has suffered some since the forfeited game of a while ago. Moreover there is the belief among Chicago officials that the Cubs should be leading the National league.

BAYLOR SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR '16

In announcing the schedule for the season of 1916, the Baylor football management has taken particular pains that no muddle for the state title will be considered, even for a minute, for they have arranged a representative schedule and when the season is over a string of eight wins will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt as to whether the Bears will have any claims to the title.

In the season just past both the Texans and the Farmers were a bit slow about coming to terms. After the season was finished loud cries arose on every hand as to why there were no games between championship contenders.

After staging such a wonderful comeback as Baylor did in the last season, the management was continually beset by men desiring games for the very evident reason that the Bears would be a strong contender for the title. Thus Baylor has games with both A. & M. and Texas, so that when the whistle blows for the last time on Thanksgiving day, unless several tie games arise, there will be little doubt as to who's who on the Texas gridiron.

October 14—Trinity at Dallas.
October 28—Texas at Austin.
November 4—Southwestern at Waco.
November 11—Texas A. & M. at Waco.
November 18—Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater.
November 24—Austin College at Waco.
November 30—T. C. U. at Fort Worth.

CATS SHOULD BE CARED FOR.

It Is Kinder to Drown Kittens Than to Let Them Grow Up as Strays.

(Our Dumb Animals.)

In order to afford free access to and from a room or house for a cat, it is a good plan to provide a hole in a window, door or wall and cover it with a cloth suspended from the top to keep out flies, as well as to stop drafts. If a cat is put through this hole a few times it will learn to find its way through it at will.

That cats may not become too numerous it is better to drown the kittens, or all but one of every litter born, instead of letting them grow up to starve or be killed by dogs or be turned out in some strange neighborhood. This seems to be the first and most necessary fact to bring home to people who want to help with regard to the problem of too many cats.

Plenty of water should be always accessible for cats—in fact, this is one of the first and greatest requirements of all domestic animals, especially in the hot summer months.

A cat's coat of fur may be kept shiny and handsome by brushing it with an old clothes brush kept for the purpose. The cat becomes very fond of its brushing if it is not done roughly; it is a "modern improvement" that beats a cat's tongue "all hollow" for making the fur smooth and glossy.

The lost and forsaken cats whom we constantly come across present the greatest difficulty. Our own cats we feel we can do our duty by, but what about these others?

When leaving home in the summer do not forget to make some provision for your cat. Either take her with you, or find a neighbor or friend who will take care of her for you, but if this is impossible, be humane enough to see that her life is taken in as painless a manner to her as can be.

It isn't the fact that England started the war that enrages the kaiser, but the realization that she is going to end it.—Boston Transcript.

Every day military officers pay a visit to the captured German submarine U-C 5, which is lying at Temple pier, London. The British are learning every detail of the construction of the submarine and expect to profit from their observation. General Sam Hughes, Canadian military chief, went down into the submarine and spent several hours examining the construction of the vessel. The naval authorities have prepared minute drawings of all important variations in construction used in the German vessel as compared with the English vessels.

SHREVEPORT RATE CASE DECISION IS EXPLAINED

H. D. Driscoll, Traffic Commissioner of Waco Chamber of Commerce, Shows Effect of Federal Action on Commerce of Texas, With Resultant Effects on Business Men of Waco.

It is doubtful if there is a man in Texas who has not heard or read somthing about the "Shreveport rate case." On the other hand, it is doubtful if there are one hundred men in the entire state who understand the meaning of the case and the effect it will have on the commerce of Texas, and particularly the city of Waco.

Following its usual custom of getting its information from people who know, the Morning News requested H. D. Driscoll, traffic commissioner of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, to prepare a complete resume of the case, giving the resultant effects upon the business men of this city.

Mr. Driscoll has the reputation of being one of the best informed traffic men in the country. He has had much experience in that line, and has appeared frequently before the interstate commerce commission and various state railroad commissions.

The following statement of the case is undoubtedly the most complete that has ever appeared in any Texas paper:

"The railroad commission of Louisiana, by direction of the legislature of that state, brought the original proceeding before the interstate commerce commission in what is known as the Shreveport rate case, alleging that rates for the transportation of freight from Shreveport to points in eatsern Texas were unreasonable and unduly prejudicial as compared with rates on like traffic from competing Texas points to destinations in Texas.

"The original order of the commission required the carriers to abstain from exacting any higher rates for the transportation of any article from Shreveport to Dallas and points intermediate, by the Texas and Pacific and from Shreveport to Houston, and points intermediate by the Houston and Shreveport and Houston, East and West Texas, than were contemporaneously exacted for transportation of such articles from Dallas or Houston for an equal distance towards Shreveport. The carriers appealed to the commerce court, where the order was upheld, and that court's decision was later sustained by the supreme court of the United States. The Louisiana commission filed another complaint asking for additional relief and the interstate commerce commission made a supplemental order on June 7, 1915, which applied to many carriers which were not parties to the original proceedings, and required the carriers to maintain rates from Shreveport to all points in what is known as East Texas, that is, east of the line drawn through Gainesville, Fort Worth and Waco, and then via the Brazos river to the gulf. In this order the commission presrcibed a scale of class rates to apply between Shreveport and the Texas points in question, and also requried the carriers to apply the provisions of the western classification on such business instead of the Texas classification which applied out of the Texas points.

"After the rates were published certain of them were suspended by the interstate commerce commission and handled in two different dockets, and these suspension cases, together with the formal cases were, by agreement of counsel for all interested, consolidated for hearing and argument and disposed of in one report. Here, as before, the railroad commission was represented at the hearing, but entered no appearance.

THREE ISSUES INVOLVED.

"The issues in the consolidated cases may be didvided into three parts:

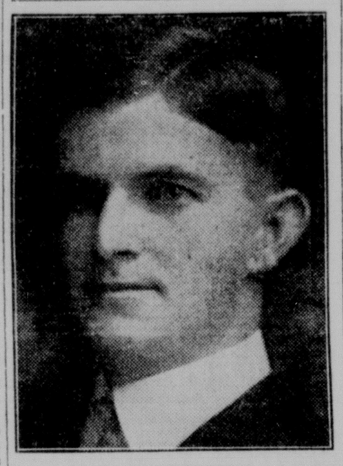

"First, the reasonableness of defendant's class and commodity rates between Shreveport and points in Texas.

"Second, whether or not such class and commodity rates are unduly prejudicial to Shreveport as compared with rates maintained by the defendants for the transportation of like property for similar distances within the state of Texas, and,

"Whether or not the application of the provisions of the western classification to the transportation of property between Shreveport and points in Texas, while contemporaneously applying the provisions of the Texas classification to the transportation of like property within the state of Texas, is not an undue prejudice to Shreveport.

"In response to a suggestion by the commission at the argument, and with the consent of counsel for all parties, the carriers filed a list of commodities upon which they were willing to apply for the transportation between Shreveport and Texas stations, rates equivalent to the current Texas rates, or those recently approved by the Texas commission.

"The list includes fertilizer, scrap iron (not junk) lime, salt, sugar, molasses, logs, fence posts, packing house products and fresh meat, canned goods, cartridges, hides, in carloads and less than carloads, oil (crude and fuel, including distillates and creosote), iron rails and fastenings and railway supplies and material. This arrangement being satisfactory to the complainants, the commission made no finding with respect to the reasonableness of the rates on such commodities.

H. D. DRISCOLL
Traffic Commissioner Waco Chamber of Commerce.

"Commodities on which the rates were left in issue were cattle, horses and mules, stone, sand and gravel, brick, junk, lignite, cordwood, tan bark, gin and irrigation machinery, glass fruit jars and bottles, iron and steel articles, potatoes and turnips, fruits, melons and vegetables, empty barrels and kegs, blackstrap molasses, cottonseed and products, unshelled peanuts, flour, wheat, corn and hay, and (2) various commodities which move within Texas on class rates up to certain distances, beyond which the rates are blanketed. These commodities include agricultural implements, except hand implements, bagging and ties, cans, cases and pails, baskets, chocolate raw materials, dry goods, window glass, table glassware, horse and mule shoes, oil (refined petroleum), iron and steel pipe, wrapping paper, printing paper, tin articles, wire and nails, door locks, tools, files and rass.

The commission in passing on the rates on these latter commodities, as well as the class rates, state that it has been established beyond any possibility of doubt that 'the present relationship of rates and the difference in classification has been and is now unduly prejudicial to Shreveport and operate to unduly restrict the trade and commerce of that city. The only excuse for this apparent and admitted discrimination against Shreveport is the claim of the carriers that the interstate rates in Texas are under the control of the Texas railroad commission, and that the carriers are powerless to increase them except by permission of that body.'

"They take it that the power and authority of the interstate commerce commission to make such an order in this case has been fully sustained by the supreme court of the United States in Houston and Texas railway versus United States, 234 U. S. Page 342. In that case the court said:

"'Whenever the interstate and intrastate transactions of carriers are so related that the government of one involves the control of the other, it is congress and not the state that is entitled to prescribe the final and dominant rule, for, otherwise, congress would be denied the exercise of its constitutional authority, and the state and not the nation would be supreme within the national field.'

"The interstate commission could have made an order requiring defendants to remove the discrimination and allowed the carriers to increase the Texas rates to the level of the interstate rates ,or to reduce the interstate rates to the intrastate basis. But they go on to say that should the interstate rates be reduced to the Texas basis, the Texas rates and regulations would be given extra territorial force and would become the standard for interstate commerce.

"The effect would not stop with Shreveport but would include Alexandria and Monroe, La., Vicksburg, Miss., and other points that are in competition with Shreveport, and in their opinion they state there is no more reason for extending the Texas rates and classifications to Shreveport than to other points in Louisiana or to states east of the Mississippi.

To remedy the situation the interstate commerce commission prescribed the following scale of class rates for single line application for distances up to four hundred miles, which rates are to be observed as a maximum in common point territory, and prescribed a scale of differentials to apply in differential territory for distances up to three hundred miles.

Cents	8	7	6	5	4	4	4	3	2	2

The maximum rates to be applied in the state is $1.36, first-class, as against $1.05 at the present time.

Carriers operating circuitous routes and desiring to meet competition at competitive points and maintain higher rates at intermediate points, will be expected to make application to the commission for authority to depart from the fourth section violation, and no order is entered with respect thereto. In the decision they decline to say what relationship should exist between rates from Galveston and other gulf points on one hand, and Houston and other inland points on the other. On Texas state traffic, Galveston has been on a differential basis over Houston ranging from 7c on first-class to 2c on class E. In a recent order of the Texas commission, the Galveston differential was abolished; those rates, however, have not as yet become effective, and Galveston, today, is shipping under the same differential as existed for some years.

The following table showing the Texas scale and the interstate commerce commission scale on the ten classes and twenty-two commodities for 10, 50, 100, 200, 300 and 400 miles, respectively, will give a fair idea of the changes that will be made necessary in the Texas rates to comply with the interstate commerce commission's orders:

*Rates per ton of 2,000 pounds.

A number of the rates prescribed by the interstate commerce commission are lower than the new Texas scale, which is to go into effect September 1. As an illustration, nine of the ten class rates for 100 miles are lower than the Texas scale, but in comparing the class rates we must not overlook the fact that the classification is different on the two scales. As an illustration, varnish in less than carloads is first-class in Texas classification and second-class in the western classification; therefore, for a 100-mile haul at the Texas scale, as first-class, the rate is 48.4c and with the interstate commerce scale at second-class, the rate for this distance would be 45c. That is an illustration of a reduction in rates and a reduction in the classification as well. Many illustrations could be pointed out where the rates would be very materially advanced, due chiefly to the change in the classification and rules; for instance, rule 30 of the Texas classificatios provides for ½c a mile per 100 pounds with a minimum of 30c for articles rated higher than first-class. This would have the effect of producing a rate on automobiles for a 100-mile haul 50c, while under the interstate commerce commission's scale, double first-class rate of $1.06 would apply for this distance; on an automobile weighing less than 2,000 pounds from Dallas to Waco, the present charge at 50c per cwt. is $10; under the new scale the charge would be $20.12, slightly more than double. On candy, less carload, the Texas classification provides third-class, while the western classification provides second-class, therefore, for 100 miles under the Texas scale the rate would be 41.8c and under the interstate commerce scale as second class the rate would be 45c. While it is true that the interstate commerce commission prescribes lower third-class rate for this distance, yet the change in the classification is responsible for the higher rate on candy.

An illustration of the change in the carload rates on eggs follows: Eggs, under the present Texas classification, are rated class A in carloads, and the rate fir 100 miles is 29.7c.

In the western classification, eggs are rated third-class in carloads and for this distance the rate is 37c. Sharper advances will be noted in the L. C. L. rates on eggs which are rated fourth-class in Texas and first-class in the western. For 100 miles the rate is 36.2c under the Texas scale and 53c under the first-class interstate commerce scale.

The minimum weights, generally, in Texas are lower than in the western classification, and the new order will result in increasing the minimum weights very materially. The general rule in Texas is 20,000 minimum on articles rated third-class and higher, and 24,000 pounds on articles rated fourth-class and lower. The minimum usually carried in the western classification is 30,000 pounds or higher. Texas classification provides for 1,000 pounds dunnage when freight is shipped in flat or gondola cars. The western classification only allows 500 pounds for this purpose. In Texas, tanks, cisterns or storm and vegetable cellars take a minimum of 3,000 pounds when loaded on flat cars. Under the western classification they take a minimum of 5,000 pounds. Texas classification also provided one-half rate on return shipments, while the western classification charges full rate. Texas also has a rule which provides for the mixing of carloads at the rating and minimum weight applicable on the highest rated article in the car, while no such provision is found in the western classification. Texas provides for a stop-over privilege of $5 for each stop on beer, beer packages, bottles, soda water, Coca-Cola, cottonseed cake, cottonseed oil, earthenware, eggs, fresh fruit, tropical fruit, junk, ice, melons, mineral water, poultry, soda water and Coca-Cola empties and vegetables. There is no provision in the western classification for stop-over privileges on any of these or other commodities.

A strict compliance with the order of the interstate commerce commission would also increase the maximum rates on agricultural implements in Texas from 43c to 45c, bagging and ties 18c to 24c, binder twine 31c to 38c, baskets from 25c to 45c, chocolate raw materials 33c to 38c, dry goods from 52c to 55c, window glass from 18c to 24c, glassware (table) from 43c to 45c, refined petroleum oil from 25c to 28c, printing paper 22c to 30c, tin articles from 49c to 55c, and wire nails 25c to 28c.

SWITCH THROWN CUT-OVER A FACT

LOCAL TELEPHONE USERS THIS MORNING HAVE ONLY ONE SYSTEM IN WACO.

Change Was Made at 11 O'clock Last Night in a Twinkling—First Proposed in 1914.

By the simple throwing of a switch last night at 11 o'clock, in the new telephone building on North Ninth street, the Southwestern exchange in Waco passed out of existence, and Waco has this morning but one telephone system. The "old 'phone" and "new 'phone" system of the last fifteen years will soon remain but a memory. The Southwestern exchange, on Fourth and Washington streets, is closed this morning and the switchboard is silent and "dead" for the first time since it was installed. years ago, while the subscribers of the Southwestern system in Waco have automatically become patrons of the Independent 'phone.

As announced by the Texas Telephone company in the press earlier in the week, the hour of 11 o'clock was set for the "cutover." All preparations for the final act had been practically completed by noon Saturday, and the telephone company merely awaited an hour when the traffic would be light, so that none would be discommoded by the switching of the Southwestern subscribers to the Texas Telephone company's switchboard.

New directories, giving the names of all the telephone subscribers to the consolidated exchange, with the numbers that would be correct after the cutover, were distributed to all subscribers early in the week, with instructions that they should not be used until after the consolidation.

The duplicate telephone instruments will be removed by the telephone company next week. So ends the chapter of Waco's dual telephone system.

CONSOLIDATION PROPOSED IN 1914.

The telephone consolidation proposition was first agitated in Waco by the McLennan County Medical society in 1914, and, after being approved by the Chamber of Commerce and the Y. M. B. L., each organization having investigated the matter, upon request of the city commission, the commission granted the home company the right to purchase the Southwestern exchange here and merge the two, at an increased rate of $1 a month for business telephones. The new rate, effective today, is $5 a month for business telephones, and $2 a month for residence telephones, the latter remaining at the same price as was charged by each company separately.

The merger will, it was calculated at the time the matter was considered, save the telephone users of Waco a matter of some $70,000 a year in lowered telephone bills, by the elimination of the "duplicated" telephones.

NEW BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT.

The city has gained a handsome new building, erected by the Texas Telephone company on North Ninth street, and said to be the most modern structure of its kind in the South, but has a complete new exchange, equipped with the latest improved apparatus and equipment. The Texas Telephone company has spent, for the building and equipment, and for the new work on the outside plant, several hundred thousand dollars, not including the amount paid to the Southwestern company for that company's exchange.

SEVERAL OTHER PLACES MERGE.

Since the authorization by Waco of a merger of its telephone plants, eight smaller cities and towns in this part of the state have approved similar mergers and a number of these plants have been consolidated, including those at Ennis, Moody, Mart, Marlin, Port Arthur, Meridian and Clifton. Temple has also authorized a merger, and the Texas Telephone company will take over the local Southwestern plant in that city in a few months.

WACO HEADQUARTERS FOR THE COMPANY.

The Texas Telephone company is a Waco company, with its headquarters and general offices here. It is incorporated for $2,000,000. J. B. Earle of Waco is president of the company, Ben C. Hyde of Kansas City, vice president, and Lyman S. Gardner, secretary. E. C. Blomeyer is assistant to the president, H. E. Kepler, general superintendent; Will Green, chief engineer; H. B. Wagner, traffic superintendent; H. W. Birtch, general foreman, and Ben C. Moulden, local manager.

Why Did Colquitt Refuse to Black Station Agent's Shoes?

A LITTLE MORE QUALITY
ALWAYS PAYS

A friend of mine bought a lawn mower. I forget what he paid, but it was the cheapest he could find.

He cut his lawn twice, then took the lawn mower to the repair shop.

Every time he finished mowing the grass the cheap machine had to go back to the repair shop to be sharpened or tuned.

"That's the most expensive lawn mower I ever owned" he told me one day.

He had learned the lesson I've been trying to teach people about motor cars. And that lesson is—the cheapest car is often the most expensive. It pays enormously to pay a little more.

By paying $1090 for a Chalmers, for example, you get a five-year car. A car that will do everything you expect of it for at least five years.

And at the end of that time it will be in fair condition.

The motor—it's the famous 3400 r.p.m. It will never worry you. Never cause you to lose your temper.

For it has been tested in the hands of 30,000 owners and found 99.21 percent perfect.

NEWS FROM HARLINGEN WHERE NATIONAL GUARD MAKES HEADQUARTERS

Harlingen, Tex., Aug. 18.—Just at present we are very busy preparing a camp site for the Texas brigade; the third regiment is already here, and the second will be by Saturday night. Later I believe the fourth will come in from the Big Bend country, also the cavalry and artillery belonging to the Lone Star brigade. With the second will come your boys from Waco, who are now at Mission, forty miles west of here; I met a bunch of them last Tuesday when in that city, but do not recall the names well enough to repeat them here. If all the others in the company look as healthy as the sample I saw, their mothers and girls have no cause for anxiety.

Since the end of June like the balance of the state we have had plenty of rain, in fact too much for the good of the crops or the comfort of the boys. The nights however have been as pleasant as South Texas nights always are. Fodder crops are looking well, and the pasturage is now so good that cattle that are to be moved north in the spring are being returned. I have never seen so much grass at this time of the year on the ranges.

After the arrival of the second, and when I have become familiar with some of the men from Waco and their names I may be able to give some items of more interest to the home people. Harlingen has been more or less of a military point for the past two and a half years; we having the headquarters of the twenty-sixth infantry here and about half of the regiment, besides a considerable quartermaster's depot, though not so large as at Brownsville. With the arrival of the second there will be over 3,500 men here, and when the large Texas camp is finished I am sure that a visit to it would be of much interest to the families of the soldier boys, though it might remove some amount of sympathy for any who have been reporting the hardships of border camp life.

This letter has run to sufficient length for a starter and I will therefore bring it to a close. Let me hear from you along the lines you wish, and make any suggestions that may occur to you.

Very truly yours,
LINDSAY WATERS.

Lost Child Found on South Eighth

A child which had strayed away from its mother on South Eighth street last night was found crying by a lady passing along on Eighth between Franklin and Austin streets, and the little fellow was taken to the Moose home, upstairs at the corner of the alley.

In some manner the mother of the child, a German woman who spoke English indifferently, found the child was there, and came after it, showing much feeling over recovering the little chap. The finding of the child was reported to police headquarters after it was located by th elady on the street.

SHREVEPORT RATE CASE DECISION IS EXPLAINED

H. D. Driscoll, Traffic Commissioner of Waco Chamber of Commerce, Shows Effect of Federal Action on Commerce of Texas, With Resultant Effects on Business Men of Waco.

It is doubtful if there is a man in Texas who has not heard or read somthing about the "Shreveport rate case." On the other hand, it is doubtful if there are one hundred men in the entire state who understand the meaning of the case and the effect it will have on the commerce of Texas, and particularly the city of Waco.

Following its usual custom of getting its information from people who know, the Morning News requested H. D. Driscoll, traffic commissioner of the Waco Chamber of Commerce, to prepare a complete resume of the case, giving the resultant effects upon the business men of this city.

Mr. Driscoll has the reputation of being one of the best informed traffic men in the country. He has had much experience in that line, and has appeared frequently before the interstate commerce commission and various state railroad commissions.

The following statement of the case is undoubtedly the most complete that has ever appeared in any Texas paper:

"The railroad commission of Louisiana, by direction of the legislature of that state, brought the original proceeding before the interstate commerce commission in what is known as the Shreveport rate case, alleging that rates for the transportation of freight from Shreveport to points in eatsern Texas were unreasonable and unduly prejudicial as compared with rates on like traffic from competing Texas points to destinations in Texas.

"The original order of the commission required the carriers to abstain from exacting any higher rates for the transportation of any article from Shreveport to Dallas and points intermediate, by the Texas and Pacific and from Shreveport to Houston, and points intermediate by the Houston and Shreveport and Houston, East and West Texas, than were contemporaneously exacted for transportation of such articles from Dallas or Houston for an equal distance towards Shreveport. The carriers appealed to the commerce court, where the order was upheld, and that court's decision was later sustained by the supreme court of the United States. The Louisiana commission filed another complaint asking for additional relief and the interstate commerce commission made a supplemental order on June 7, 1915, which applied to many carriers which were not parties to the original proceedings, and required the carriers to maintain rates from Shreveport to all points in what is known as East Texas, that is, east of the line drawn through Gainesville, Fort Worth and Waco, and then via the Brazos river to the gulf. In this order the commission presrcibed a scale of class rates to apply between Shreveport and the Texas points in question, and also requried the carriers to apply the provisions of the western classification on such business instead of the Texas classification which applied out of the Texas points.

"After the rates were published certain of them were suspended by the interstate commerce commission and handled in two different dockets, and these suspension cases, together with the formal cases were, by agreement of counsel for all interested, consolidated for hearing and argument and disposed of in one report. Here, as before, the railroad commission was represented at the hearing, but entered no appearance.

THREE ISSUES INVOLVED.

"The issues in the consolidated cases may be didvided into three parts:

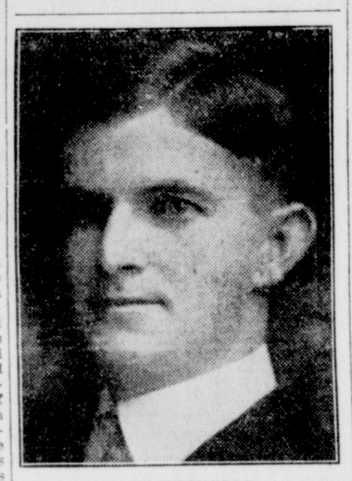

"First, the reasonableness of defendant's class and commodity rates between Shreveport and points in Texas.

"Second, whether or not such class and commodity rates are unduly prejudicial to Shreveport as compared with rates maintained by the defendants for the transportation of like property for similar distances within the state of Texas, and,

"Whether or not the application of the provisions of the western classification to the transportation of property between Shreveport and points in Texas, while contemporaneously applying the provisions of the Texas classification to the transportation of like property within the state of Texas, is not an undue prejudice to Shreveport.

"In response to a suggestion by the commission at the argument, and with the consent of counsel for all parties, the carriers filed a list of commodities upon which they were willing to apply for the transportation between Shreveport and Texas stations, rates equivalent to the current Texas rates, or those recently approved by the Texas commission.

"The list includes fertilizer, scrap iron (not junk) lime, salt, sugar, molasses, logs, fence posts, packing house products and fresh meat, canned goods, cartridges, hides, in carloads and less than carloads, oil (crude and fuel, including distillates and creosote), iron rails and fastenings and railway supplies and material. This arrangement being satisfactory to the complainants, the commission made no finding with respect to the reasonableness of the rates on such commodities.

Traffic Commissioner Waco Chamber of Commerce.

"Commodities on which the rates were left in issue were cattle, horses and mules, stone, sand and gravel, brick, junk, lignite, cordwood, tan bark, gin and irrigation machinery, glass fruit jars and bottles, iron and steel articles, potatoes and turnips, fruits, melons and vegetables, empty barrels and kegs, blackstrap molasses, cottonseed and products, unshelled peanuts, flour, wheat, corn and hay, and (2) various commodities which move within Texas on class rates up to certain distances, beyond which the rates are blanketed. These commodities include agricultural implements, except hand implements, bagging and ties, cans, cases and pails, baskets, chocolate raw materials, dry goods, window glass, table glassware, horse and mule shoes, oil (refined petroleum), iron and steel pipe, wrapping paper, printing paper, tin articles, wire and nails, door locks, tools, files and rass.

"The commission in passing on the rates on these latter commodities, as well as the class rates, state that it has been established beyond any possibility of doubt that 'the present relationship of rates and the difference in classification has been and is now unduly prejudicial to Shreveport and operate to unduly restrict the trade and commerce of that city. The only excuse for this apparent and admitted discrimination against Shreveport is the claim of the carriers that the interstate rates in Texas are under the control of the Texas railroad commission, and that the carriers are powerless to increase them except by permission of that body.'

"They take it that the power and authority of the interstate commerce commission to make such an order in this case has been fully sustained by the supreme court of the United States in Houston and Texas railway versus United States, 234 U. S. Page 342. In that case the court said:

"'Whenever the interstate and intrastate transactions of carriers are so related that the government of one involves the control of the other, it is congress and not the state that is entitled to prescribe the final and dominant rule, for, otherwise, congress would be denied the exercise of its constitutional authority, and the state and not the nation would be supreme within the national field.'

"The interstate commission could have made an order requiring defendants to remove the discrimination and allowed the carriers to increase the Texas rates to the level of the interstate rates ,or to reduce the interstate rates to the intrastate basis. But they go on to say that should the interstate rates be reduced to the Texas basis, the Texas rates and regulations would be given extra territorial force and would become the standard for interstate commerce.

"The effect would not stop with Shreveport but would include Alexandria and Monroe, La., Vicksburg, Miss., and other points that are in competition with Shreveport, and in their opinion they state there is no more reason for extending the Texas rates and classifications to Shreveport than to other points in Louisiana or to states east of the Mississippi.

To remedy the situation the interstate commerce commission prescribed the following scale of class rates for single line application for distances up to four hundred miles, which rates are to be observed as a maximum in common point territory, and prescribed a scale of differentials to apply in differential territory for distances up to three hundred miles.

Cents	8	7	6	5	4	4	4	3	2	2

The maximum rates to be applied in the state is $1.36, first-class, as against $1.05 at the present time.

Carriers operating circuitous routes and desiring to meet competition at competitive points and maintain higher rates at intermediate points, will be expected to make application to the commission for authority to depart from the fourth section violation, and no order is entered with respect thereto. In the decision they decline to say what relationship should exist between rates from Galveston and other gulf points on one hand, and Houston and other inland points on the other. On Texas state traffic, Galveston has been on a differential basis over Houston ranging from 7c on first-class to 2c on class E. In a recent order of the Texas commission, the Galveston differential was abolished; those rates, however, have not as yet become effective, and Galveston, today, is shipping under the same differential as existed for some years.

The following table showing the Texas scale and the interstate commerce commission scale on the ten classes and twenty-two commodities for 10, 50, 100, 200, 300 and 400 miles, respectively, will give a fair idea of the changes that will be made necessary in the Texas rates to comply with the interstate commerce commission's orders:

*Rates per ton of 2,000 pounds.

A number of the rates prescribed by the interstate commerce commission are lower than the new Texas scale, which is to go into effect September 1. As an illustration, nine of the ten class rates for 100 miles are lower than the Texas scale, but in comparing the class rates we must not overlook the fact that the classification is different on the two scales. As an illustration, varnish in less than carloads is first-class in Texas classification and second-class in the western classification; therefore, for a 100-mile haul at the Texas scale, as first-class, the rate is 48.4c and with the interstate commerce scale at second-class, the rate for this distance would be 45c. That is an illustration of a reduction in rates and a reduction in the classification as well. Many illustrations could be pointed out where the rates would be very materially advanced, due chiefly to the change in the classification and rules; for instance, rule 30 of the Texas classificatios provides for ½c a mile per 100 pounds with a minimum of 30c for articles rated higher than first-class. This would have the effect of producing a rate on automobiles for a 100-mile haul 50c, while under the interstate commerce commission's scale, double first-class rate of $1.06 would apply for this distance; on an automobile weighing less than 2,000 pounds from Dallas to Waco, the present charge at 50c per cwt. is $10; under the new scale the charge would be $20.12, slightly more than double. On candy, less carload, the Texas classification provides third-class, while the western classification provides second-class, therefore, for 100 miles under the Texas scale the rate would be 41.8c and under the interstate commerce scale as second class the rate would be 45c. While it is true that the interstate commerce commission prescribes lower third-class rate for this distance, yet the change in the classification is responsible for the higher rate on candy.

An illustration of the change in the carload rates on eggs follows: Eggs, under the present Texas classification, are rated class A in carloads, and the rate fir 100 miles is 29.7c.

In the western classification, eggs are rated third-class in carloads and for this distance the rate is 37c. Sharper advances will be noted in the L. C. L. rates on eggs which are rated fourth-class in Texas and first-class in the western. For 100 miles the rate is 36.2c under the Texas scale and 53c under the first-class interstate commerce scale.

The minimum weights, generally, in Texas are lower than in the western classification, and the new order will result in increasing the minimum weights very materially. The general rule in Texas is 20,000 minimum on articles rated third-class and higher, and 24,000 pounds on articles rated fourth-class and lower. The minimum usually carried in the western classification is 30,000 pounds or higher. Texas classification provides for 1,000 pounds dunnage when freight is shipped in flat or gondola cars. The western classification only allows 500 pounds for this purpose. In Texas, tanks, cisterns or storm and vegetable cellars take a minimum of 3,000 pounds when loaded on flat cars. Under the western classification they take a minimum of 5,000 pounds. Texas classification also provided one-half rate on return shipments, while the western classification charges full rate. Texas also has a rule which provides for the mixing of carloads at the rating and minimum weight applicable on the highest rated article in the car, while no such provision is found in the western classification. Texas provides for a stop-over privilege of $5 for each stop on beer, beer packages, bottles, soda water, Coca-Cola, cottonseed cake, cottonseed oil, earthenware, eggs, fresh fruit, tropical fruit, junk, ice, melons, mineral water, poultry, soda water and Coca-Cola empties and vegetables. There is no provision in the western classification for stop-over privileges on any of these or other commodities.

A strict compliance with the order of the interstate commerce commission would also increase the maximum rates on agricultural implements in Texas from 43c to 45c, bagging and ties 18c to 24c, binder twine 31c to 38c, baskets from 25c to 45c, chocolate raw materials 33c to 38c, dry goods from 52c to 55c, window glass from 18c to 24c, glassware (table) from 43c to 45c, refined petroleum oil from 25c to 28c, printing paper 22c to 30c, tin articles from 49c to 55c, and wire nails 25c to 28c.

SWITCH THROWN CUT-OVER A FACT

Change Was Made at 11 O'clock Last Night in a Twinkling—First Proposed in 1914.

By the simple throwing of a switch last night at 11 o'clock, in the new telephone building on North Ninth street, the Southwestern exchange in Waco passed out of existence, and Waco has this morning but one telephone system. The "old 'phone" and "new 'phone" system of the last fifteen years will soon remain but a memory. The Southwestern exchange, on Fourth and Washington streets, is closed this morning and the switchboard is silent and "dead" for the first time since it was installed. years ago, while the subscribers of the Southwestern system in Waco have automatically become patrons of the Independent 'phone.

As announced by the Texas Telephone company in the press earlier in the week, the hour of 11 o'clock was set for the "cutover." All preparations for the final act had been practically completed by noon Saturday, and the telephone company merely awaited an hour when the traffic would be light, so that none would be discommoded by the switching of the Southwestern subscribers to the Texas Telephone company's switchboard.

New directories, giving the names of all the telephone subscribers to the consolidated exchange, with the numbers that would be correct after the cutover, were distributed to all subscribers early in the week, with instructions that they should not be used until after the consolidation.

The duplicate telephone instruments will be removed by the telephone company next week. So ends the chapter of Waco's dual telephone system.

CONSOLIDATION PROPOSED IN 1914.

The telephone consolidation proposition was first agitated in Waco by the McLennan County Medical society in 1914, and, after being approved by the Chamber of Commerce and the Y. M. B. L., each organization having investigated the matter, upon request of the city commission, the commission granted the home company the right to purchase the Southwestern exchange here and merge the two, at an increased rate of $1 a month for business telephones. The new rate, effective today, is $5 a month for business telephones, and $2 a month for residence telephones, the latter remaining at the same price as was charged by each company separately.

The merger will, it was calculated at the time the matter was considered, save the telephone users of Waco a matter of some $70,000 a year in lowered telephone bills, by the elimination of the "duplicated" telephones.

NEW BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT.

The city has gained a handsome new building, erected by the Texas Telephone company on North Ninth street, and said to be the most modern structure of its kind in the South, but has a complete new exchange, equipped with the latest improved apparatus and equipment. The Texas Telephone company has spent, for the building and equipment, and for the new work on the outside plant, several hundred thousand dollars, not including the amount paid to the Southwestern company for that company's exchange.

SEVERAL OTHER PLACES MERGE.

Since the authorization by Waco of a merger of its telephone plants, eight smaller cities and towns in this part of the state have approved similar mergers and a number of these plants have been consolidated, including those at Ennis, Moody, Mart, Marlin, Port Arthur, Meridian and Clifton. Temple has also authorized a merger, and the Texas Telephone company will take over the local Southwestern plant in that city in a few months.

WACO HEADQUARTERS FOR THE COMPANY.

The Texas Telephone company is a Waco company, with its headquarters and general offices here. It is incorporated for $2,000,000. J. B. Earle of Waco is president of the company, Ben C. Hyde of Kansas City, vice president, and Lyman S. Gardner, secretary. E. C. Blomeyer is assistant to the president, H. E. Kepler, general superintendent; Will Green, chief engineer; H. B. Wagner, traffic superintendent; H. W. Birtch, general foreman, and Ben C. Moulden, local manager.

Why Did Colquitt Refuse to Black Station Agent's Shoes?

San Antonio, Texas, Aug. 17, 1915.
Editor Waco Morning News:

Permit me to suggest the following conundrum: Why did Colquitt refuse to black the station agent's shoes? Answer: Because the agent was neither a brewer nor a vender of booze.

Quality First

A LITTLE MORE QUALITY
ALWAYS PAYS

A friend of mine bought a lawn mower. I forget what he paid, but it was the cheapest he could find.

He cut his lawn twice, then took the lawn mower to the repair shop.

Every time he finished mowing the grass the cheap machine had to go back to the repair shop to be sharpened or tuned.

"That's the most expensive lawn mower I ever owned" he told me one day.

He had learned the lesson I've been trying to teach people about motor cars. And that lesson is—the cheapest car is often the most expensive. It pays enormously to pay a little more.

By paying $1090 for a Chalmers, for example, you get a five-year car. A car that will do everything you expect of it for at least five years.

And at the end of that time it will be in fair condition.

The motor—it's the famous 3400 r.p.m. It will never worry you. Never cause you to lose your temper.

For it has been tested in the hands of 30,000 owners and found 99.21 percent perfect.

NEWS FROM HARLINGEN WHERE NATIONAL GUARD MAKES HEADQUARTERS

Harlingen, Tex., Aug. 18.—Just at present we are very busy preparing a camp site for the Texas brigade; the third regiment is already here, and the second will be by Saturday night. Later I believe the fourth will come in from the Big Bend country, also the cavalry and artillery belonging to the Lone Star brigade. With the second will come your boys from Waco, who are now at Mission, forty miles west of here; I met a bunch of them last Tuesday when in that city, but do not recall the names well enough to repeat them here. If all the others in the company look as healthy as the sample I saw, their mothers and girls have no cause for anxiety.

Since the end of June like the balance of the state we have had plenty of rain, in fact too much for the good of the crops or the comfort of the boys. The nights however have been as pleasant as South Texas nights always are. Fodder crops are looking well, and the pasturage is now so good that cattle that are to be moved north in the spring are being returned. I have never seen so much grass at this time of the year on the ranges.

After the arrival of the second, and when I have become familiar with some of the men from Waco and their names I may be able to give some items of more interest to the home people. Harlingen has been more or less of a military point for the past two and a half years; we having the headquarters of the twenty-sixth infantry here and about half of the regiment, besides a considerable quartermaster's depot, though not so large as at Brownsville. With the arrival of the second there will be over 3,500 men here, and when the large Texas camp is finished I am sure that a visit to it would be of much interest to the families of the soldier boys, though it might remove some amount of sympathy for any who have been reporting the hardships of border camp life.

This letter has run to sufficient length for a starter and I will therefore bring it to a close. Let me hear from you along the lines you wish, and make any suggestions that may occur to you.

Very truly yours,
LINDSAY WATERS.

Lost Child Found on South Eighth

A child which had strayed away from its mother on South Eighth street last night was found crying by a lady passing along on Eighth between Franklin and Austin streets, and the little fellow was taken to the Moose home, upstairs at the corner of the alley.

In some manner the mother of the child, a German woman who spoke English indifferently, found the child was there, and came after it, showing much feeling over recovering the little chap. The finding of the child was reported to police headquarters after it was located by th elady on the street.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York.

New York, Aug. 19.—Uncertainty as to weather and crop conditions restricted general business in the cotton market today and fluctuations were nervous and irregular. December contracts sold up to 14.50 during the middle of the morning, or 7 points net higher, but eased off later, closing at 14.41 with the general list closing steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 5 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points on October, but generally 2 to 6 points lower on reports that the tropical storm had passed into north Mexico and had caused only slight damage along the southern coast.

The map, however, failed to show the desired rains in drouthy sections of the western belt, while there was nervousness over reports that another tropical disturbance had appeared near the Bahamas and soon turned firmer. Some of the lated advices reported that open cotton had been blown out in Texas and apprehension that Monday's news might show more damage than was indicated by early reports were factors in the advance. Buying did not become general, however, and prices turned easier in the late trading.

Late weather advices indicated rainfall of over 2 inches at points in South Texas and the western belt forecast was for showers in Texas and unsettled weather in Oklahoma.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Aug. 19.—The hurricane in the western belt was the main influence in the cotton market today, but reports concerning its effects on the crop were so conflicting that traders were not able to get very far with prices one way or the other.

The market opened with selling, as the weather map indicated the center of the storm had not passed over Texas.

Later prices firmed up on private reports that wind and rain had beaten cotton from the bolls over a large area, but the market closed with selling again in evidence, based on telegrams from West Texas telling of good rains in drouth districts.

In the early trading prices were sent 4 to 7 points under yesterday's last figures. Later they were put 3 to 7 points above. The close was unchanged to 5 points down, compared to yesterday's close.

WHEAT

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The volume of trade in wheat here today was said to have been the largest on record. New price records for the crop were attained.

Top prices were 5c over yesterday. Heavy profit taking sales were absorbed on the bulge, but the close showed net gains of 3⅞@4⅜c. Corn advanced 1¼@2c; oats ¾@1c and provisions closed 2½@65c up.

Expert Snow's estimate of a total wheat yield of 596,000,000 bushels against domestic requirements of 610,000,000 bushels was the big new bull factor in the market for that cereal. This and the damage reports now grown familiar under Canadian and northwestern date lines provided all the impetus needed by an awakened trade to establish new high records for the crop.

Corn also attained a new price altitude. The factors were dry, hot weather.

Further sharp advances were witnessed in oats.

COTTON

New York.

New York, Aug. 19.—Uncertainty as to weather and crop conditions restricted general business in the cotton market today and fluctuations were nervous and irregular. December contracts sold up to 14.50 during the middle of the morning, or 7 points net higher, but eased off later, closing at 14.41 with the general list closing steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 5 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 2 points on October, but generally 2 to 6 points lower on reports that the tropical storm had passed into north Mexico and had caused only slight damage along the southern coast.

The map, however, failed to show the desired rains in drouthy sections of the western belt, while there was nervousness over reports that another tropical disturbance had appeared near the Bahamas and soon turned firmer. Some of the lated advices reported that open cotton had been blown out in Texas and apprehension that Monday's news might show more damage than was indicated by early reports were factors in the advance. Buying did not become general, however, and prices turned easier in the late trading.

Late weather advices indicated rainfall of over 2 inches at points in South Texas and the western belt forecast was for showers in Texas and unsettled weather in Oklahoma.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Aug. 19.—The hurricane in the western belt was the main influence in the cotton market today, but reports concerning its effects on the crop were so conflicting that traders were not able to get very far with prices one way or the other.

The market opened with selling, as the weather map indicated the center of the storm had not passed over Texas.

Later prices firmed up on private reports that wind and rain had beaten cotton from the bolls over a large area, but the market closed with selling again in evidence, based on telegrams from West Texas telling of good rains in drouth districts.

In the early trading prices were sent 4 to 7 points under yesterday's last figures. Later they were put 3 to 7 points above. The close was unchanged to 5 points down, compared to yesterday's close.

WHEAT

Chicago, Aug. 19.—The volume of trade in wheat here today was said to have been the largest on record. New price records for the crop were attained.

Top prices were 5c over yesterday. Heavy profit taking sales were absorbed on the bulge, but the close showed net gains of 3⅞@4⅝c. Corn advanced 1¼@2c; oats ¾@1c and provisions closed 2½@65c up.

Expert Snow's estimate of a total wheat yield of 596,000,000 bushels against domestic requirements of 610,000,000 busnels was the big new bull factor in the market for that cereal. This and the damage reports now grown familiar under Canadian and northwestern date lines provided all the impetus needed by an awakened trade to establish new high records for the crop.

Corn also attained a new price altitude. The factors were dry, hot weather.

Further sharp advances were witnessed in oats.

MAY BE FORCED TO GIVE UP 5 CENT LOAF

WACO BAKERS FIGHTING MOVE TO ADVANCE PRICE BY PUSHING SALE OF TEN CENT LOAF, BUT SAY THE PROSPECTS ARE BAD.

Mention was made a few days ago of the fact that the bakers of Waco feel that unless conditions change they will be forced to begin baking the 10c loaves of bread, leaving off the 5c loaves, but that they had not yet decided to take definite action in this respect.

Speaking yesterday with President Fred Goldman of the Master Bakers' association of Waco, President Goldman reiterated the statement that the bakers are having a hard time of it under present conditions, and said that unless matters change for the better the bakers will be forced to the 10c loaf exclusively. "At present, however, we will simply push the 10c loaf and also continue the 5c loaf," said President Goldman. "The 10c loaf is better value, decidedly, though, as the customer gets the benefit of the labor saved and the other economies in the larger loaf. We will have to reduce the size of the 5c loaf, and the customer will get more than twice as much bread in the 10c loaf, making it a better proposition for them. The high price of the flour makes it imperative to take some steps in the matter, but we do not want to move until we have it to do, and will put off the exclusive 10c loaf as long as possible, in the hope that prices of flour may come down so that we can continue the 5c loaf; at this time, however, it does not look very encouraging in this direction, and there must come a readjustment if we go on with the 5c loaf, even in reduced size."

Brick Addition to Waco Cotton Oil Co. Has Been Started

A building permit was yesterday taken out by the Waco Cotton Oil company, 615 Forest street, East Waco, for a large, two-story brick addition to their already extensive plant, and the work will be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible, in order that the new room may be used during the coming season.

The permit was issued by Building Inspector S. P. Herbert, and calls for a brick addition to cost $3,750. It will add a great deal of room to the big plant.

REMODELING A BUILDING.

Work has commenced on the remodeling of the brick building on Franklin street between Fourth and Fifth streets formerly occupied by the John Fall Undertaking company, and this work will make of this building a very up-to-date structure, as it will be practically rebuilt.

The building belongs to W. J. Neale, and he is making some most desirable improvements.

Over Fifty Counties Join Young Men's Democratic League

E. G. Senter, president of the Young Men's Democratic League of Texas, organized at Houston during the democratic state convention, said yesterday with reference to the movement: "Telegrams and letters from all over the state evidence the interest which is felt throughout the state in this organization. In reply to the general request for information about its plans and purposes, it may be stated that its slogan is 'clean politics' and its first object is submission and prohibition. It is democratic in name and in procedure. The young democrats of each community are requested to meet and organize at once, elect officers, and report their names and addresses to Mr. George W. Barcus, state secretary, Waco. A county chairman for each county will be named later on by the executive committee. Plans are on foot to furnish work for all and to keep the camp fires burning. The need for organization is universally recognized. The battle for clean politics is on in Texas, and it must be fought largely by the young men of the state, who will unselfishly devote their energies to this task. It is planned to hold a big state rally during the state fair at Dallas in October, and by that time the state will be thoroughly organized. The movement is frankly planned to fight the brewers' political organization and all other similar enterprises. It will attack the invisible agencies that are now seeking to control in Texas, and will contest every inch of ground with them."

Mr. Barcus, secretary, states that reports have already been received from over fifty counties, showing enlistment with the organization.

CAPTAIN M'COLLUM AT HOUSTON

Answers Call to Service and Is Now in Charge of Recruiting Station.

Among other officers of the Texas National guard who were on the reserve list, but have now re-entered the service, is Capt. W. B. McCollum, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McCollum, of this city. He is now stationed at Houston in charge of recruiting in that city for the Texas regiments on the border. Born and reared in Waco, Captain McCollum is well remembered by many here who were his schoolmates and who were associated with him in military life here. Receiving military training at the A. & M. college, he was always especially fond of military life. Starting as a private in company K (formerly known as the "Mayor's Guard"), Second Texas regiment of infantry, national guard, he had risen to the rank of captain. Among his schoolmates and military associates were Maj. Walter G. Lacy, Maj. H. P. Jordan, Capt. Neville Ross, William Cameron, William Edmond and many others now living here. Captain McCollum was also in the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company of New York, one of the large concerns that left the state after the passage of the Robertson insurance law, and for several years he has been stationed at Chicago in the employ of that company.

August Blanket Sale

Buy Your Winter Blankets Now—Pay for Them in November

Blankets in August? Yes! But they're Blankets that you don't have to pay for until Blanket-time, and Blankets at prices which cannot be duplicated later on. Such Blanket values as these are truly wonderful, when you know the facts of the Blanket situation: European countries are buying millions of Blankets for their armies; Blanket mills were called on to make tons and tons of Blankets for Uncle Sam's boys on the border. No wonder it is difficult for stores to get Blankets in any quantity—or to sell them at reasonable prices when they do get them. Many stores which formerly held August Blanket sales have been obliged to give it up this year—either because they could not get the Blankets or because they could not make the prices.

But Goldstein-Migel anticipated the situation—we placed our orders months ahead of time, and we now offer Blankets at prices that will save you many a dollar. Charge customers can buy now and have the Blankets charged on November bills; cash customers can pay one-third down and we will store the Blankets free until any time up to November 1st.

Why?

Why should you buy Blankets now?

Because you can buy them for less money than if you waited until later.

Because you have a better assortment to choose from now.

Because you don't have to pay for them any sooner than if you waited.

Because it brings us an enormous volume of Blanket business, enabling us to buy our Blankets in larger quantities, and thus get every advantage of price from the factories.

Because it brings many out-of-town customers to our store.

THE TIME SO MANY KNOW

By Judd Mortimer Lewis.

A time is coming to us some day
When the dimpled arms, in their baby way,
Won't creep up softly about our neck,
When the babe won't love us "about a peck;"
When never from corners will come a "Boo!"
When she won't look through her eyes of blue,
Laughingly deep in our eyes, and then
Kiss and snuggle us tight again.

A time is coming—our babe shall grow
From the baby ways we are loving so,
From the funny sayings and baby quips,
From the necklaced arms and puckered lips,
From the ways which tantalize us and tease,
From her happy perch on her daddy's knees—
A time is coming, a cold, gray dawn,
When the babe we love will be grown and gone.

Her skirts will lengthen as she grows tall,
And the cotton cat and the rubber ball,
And the Teddy-bear and the dolls to dress
Will lie in her lap, and the tenderness
She gives to them she will give no more;
Her eyes of a sudden will gaze out o'er
The years, as if she had heard a call—
Then she will arise and will leave them all.

Will follow a call that's beyond our ken
And return to her baby ways ne'er again;
She will coil her hair on her shapely head,
And then the baby that laughed and said:
"I'm loves you so!" and giggles glad,
And whispered: "Gi' me a nickel, Dad,"
Will be grown up and her eyes will meet
Our eyes and she will be twice as sweet!

And she will walk yet a little while
With us, and then, with a sudden smile,
She will turn and speak to another one—
And we shall walk toward the westering sun
Alone! And a mist shall bedim our eyes,
And she—she will never realize
In her new-found gladness the grief we know
At the loss of the baby that loved us so.

Punch and cake were served on the lawn to the attractive group of little folks by the aunt, Mrs. J. H. Barnard, and Mrs. Holding.

Mrs. George S. McGhee Hostess.

One of the very pleasing hospitalities of the week found Mrs. George S. McGhee hostess for a bouquet luncheon on Friday. This was a return courtesy from the hostess and also to privilege these same friends the first invitation into the attractive new home.

One o'clock found sixteen attractive matrons enjoying the faultlessly served menu. The dining table held as its center decoration an oblong basket filled with white clematis interlaced with pink sprays of queen's wreath. The rooms and halls held their quota of vivid colored zinias. Invited by Mrs. McGhee were Mesdames Brooks Pearson, Albert Boggess, J. M. Nash, E. R. Nash Jr., Joseph Mitchell, Erwin J. Clark, W. S. Witte, Buford McWhirter, Hal E. Moody, Reeves Halsey, R. B. Dupree, Clinton Padgitt, Allan D. Sanford, Gilbert Hay and W. M. Kelly.

Mrs. J. W. Blake for Mrs. A. F. Abernathy.

Mrs. J. W. Blake entertained with a morning party on Friday in courtesy to Mrs. A. F. Abernathy of New York who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Abernathy. Away back in New York Mrs. Abernathy was the close friend of Mrs. Blake's mother and this courtesy was in recognition of that friendship.

After introductions and exchange of greetings on the shaded porch, the hostess led the way to the dining room where dainty sandwiches were passed and refreshing punch enjoyed. The table was most attractive in its arrangements of pond lily leaves on which nestled the white lily buds with the dew still sparkling on them. In this lily mat rested the punch bowl.

The hostess was assisted during the morning by Mrs. G. H. Penland. Invited to meet Mrs. Abernathy were the Mesdames J. J. Abernathy, H. C. Dudgeon, Tom L. McCullough, N. S. Hill, W W Woodson, A L Skinner, J G. Wren, William Edmond, Robert Allen, C. C. Terry, B. B. Cobb, J. J. D. Cobb of Gatesville, W. B. Steele, James R. Wakefield of Sherman, G. H. Penland and Misses Kate Edmond and Lucile Wakefield of Oklahoma.

Society Notes.

Miss Mary Lou Bagby assumes her duties in the Meridian college with early September. Miss Bagby will join the household of her friend, Mrs. Jennie Crow, who is just now occupying her muchly admired new bungalow.

Greetings from Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Schuler are received. They speak of delightful weather and say they have seen lots of snow on top of the mountains in Colorado.

Mrs. Charles W. Atkins has returned from New York, where she has been pursuing advanced work in voice. Mrs. Atkins is numbered among Waco's sweetest singers, and her voice is ever in demand.

The recent linen shower given for Miss Leta Jaynes by Mrs. Moore and the Misses Lankford has occasioned many complimentary remarks, and Miss Jaynes still declares herself willing to have herself blindfolded several times over—if like results are forthcoming.

Girls have carried with them monkeys and dogs and lizards that were alive, but a prominent girl of El Paso is now driving wherever she goes a strutting peacock, held by bright ribbons, tied to her wrist.

Mrs. E. W. La Beaume of St. Louis, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. B. Small, at 4411 Ross avenue.—Dallas News.

Mrs. Earle Prade Lncheon Hostess.

It has not been more than two years since Mrs. Earle Prade was one of the girls who formed the Domestic Science class of the Waco high school and as one by one these girls are answering the call of Cupid, it is ever the pleasure of Mrs. Prade to gather the clan for a talk and a laugh over the old school days and bid the coming bride God-speed in her new life.

This pleasure came on Tuesday in Mrs. Prade's home and found Miss Grace Stone the honoree. She forsakes the ranks on next Wednesday when she leaves for her new home, Abilene, as Mrs. Lucian Stewart. To pay an old school debt, Miss Amelia Lewine was also named an honoree.

In remembrance of the happy days gone by, the high school colors of yellow and white were carried out. Sunflowers were in evidence as decorations. A muchly admired feature was the yellow cake in daisy design served with cream in daisy mould, "Daisies don't tell" and is therefore the class flower.

Suspended from the chandelier were mischevious Cupids who rejoiced over the work they had done. An immense white maline bow designated Miss Stone's chair, while a similar one

Why Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. The thousands who have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only, say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthrox mixture. You can enjoy this, the best that is known, for about three cents a shampoo by getting some canthrox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

"Until I saw the A-B Gas Range I never knew what real cleanliness, comfort and convenience a gas stove could possess."

That is the verdict of thousands of more than satisfied users of this remarkable range. The nickel parts are cleaned by a simple rub with a cloth—the enameled broiling pans are beautiful, sanitary and convenient—and the White Porcelain Enamel Dirt Trays are both ornamental and a sanitary convenience.

THE TIME SO MANY KNOW

By Judd Mortimer Lewis.

A time is coming to us some day
When the dimpled arms, in their baby way,
Won't creep up softly about our neck,
When the babe won't love us "about a peck;"
When never from corners will come a "Boo!"
When she won't look through her eyes of blue,
Laughingly deep in our eyes, and then
Kiss and snuggle us tight again.

A time is coming—our babe shall grow
From the baby ways we are loving so,
From the funny sayings and baby quips,
From the necklaced arms and puckered lips,
From the ways which tantalize us and tease,
A time is coming a cold, gray dawn,
When the babe we love will be grown and gone.

Her skirts will lengthen as she grows tall,
And the cotton cat and the rubber ball,
And the Teddy-bear and the dolls to dress
Will lie in her lap, and the tenderness
She gives to them she will give no more;
Her eyes of a sudden will gaze out o'er
The years, as if she had heard a call—
Then she will arise and will leave them all.

Will follow a call that's beyond our ken
And return to her baby ways ne'er again;
She will coil her hair on her shapely head,
And then the baby that laughed and said:
"I'm loves you so!" and giggles glad,
And whispered: "Gi' me a nickel, Dad,"
Will be grown up and her eyes will meet
Our eyes and she will be twice as sweet!

And she will walk yet a little while
With us, and then, with a sudden smile,
She will turn and speak to another one—
And we shall walk toward the westering sun
Alone! And a mist shall bedim our eyes,
And she—she will never realize
In her new-found gladness the grief we know
At the loss of the baby that loved us so.

Campers Off for Glen Rose.

Master Barnard Holding Is Nine Years Old.

Master Barnard Holding was nine years old on Thursday, and, as usual, the mother, Mrs. F. Holding, could not let the day go unnoticed for her only boy. So Barnard was told to invite only the neighborhood children in this time for a frolic on the lawn and to enjoy his birthday cake. Punch and cake were served on the lawn to the attractive group of little folks by the aunt, Mrs. J. H. Barnard, and Mrs. Holding.

The ladies' auxiliary of the B. of R. T. had a parcel post party at the residence of Mrs. M. A. Locke. Quite a jolly time was had fishing for the parcels, which contained many beautiful pieces of hand work. A contest, of things to be found on a penny, was conducted. Mrs. Palmer won the head prize, a boudoir cap, and Mrs. Raby the consolation. Punch was served to Mesdames Craven, Cargile, Maddex, Nance, Laws, Turner, Jeanes, O'Neil, Thomas, Raby, Daniels, Dyer, Usher, Slade, Grant, Hickerson, Gohagen, Hester, Morgan, King, Renand, Bain, Palmer, Willis and Misses Halton, Bonner and O'Neil.

Program Announced for Woman's Day next Thursday.

The general chairman, Mrs. Hal E. Moody, asks that announcement be made for Woman's Day at the Huaco club for next Thursday. The club will have a game of bridge, everybody forming their own parties as heretofore. A sweepstake prize will be given by the club. Those wishing to arrange tables of bridge are asked to 'phone Mrs. Irwin E. Colgin or Mrs. John F. Wright and let them know.

There will also be a putting match for those who prefer this diversion. Those desirous of putting are asked to phone either Mrs. Turner Hubby or Mrs. Buford McWhirter. There will be a prize given in the putting match.

There will be the usual 1 o'clock luncheon. No cards will be sent out this week.

Mrs. W. W. Lightfoot Honoree.

On Friday evening Mrs. Myrtle Tomlinson of 1315 North Fifth street, entertained for her sister, Mrs. W. W. Lightfoot of Somerville, Texas, who is here on a short visit and for Miss Mary Courtney, who will leave next week for El Paso, Texas, her future home.

The evening was most delightfully spent at playing progressive bunco and pit, with refreshments of cream and cake served on the lawn.

Among those present were Misses Mary Courtney, Margaret Burke, Inez Maaz, Anna Pruitt, Katherine Kimzie, Edna Brown, Grace Schweigart, Roxie Long, Beulah Oden; Mesdames W. W. Lightfoot, Milton McLaughlin, Leonard Studer, R. W. Seawell; Messrs. J. E. Simmons, C. R. Cooper, C. B. Simmons, Henry Harris, V. Aeri, E. R. Crotty, V. Stovall, Earl Woody, Clarence Studer, Claude Oden, Milton McLaughlin, Leonard Studer.

Mrs. T. A. Austin Honoree.

Mrs. T. N. McMullen invited friends in on Thursday to form two tables of bridge. This was for the pleasure of Mrs. T. A. Austin, who is visiting in the city from Laredo and who has been a life-long friend of the hostess. The players were chosen from those close in friendship to both hostess and honoree, as were those invited for the refreshment hour.

Mrs. L. M. Wells possesses a quaint little work basket for good playing while the guest of honor was gracefully presented with a basket of growing ferns.

With the close of the game delicious cream and cake were passed. Invited were Mesdames T. A. Austin, L. M. Wells, James Broadie, J. H. Barnard, Robert Tolson, A. E. Moore, Horace Pickett, R. B. Killough, William Lambdin, T. A. Blair, B. L. Scott, Misses Nettie Darrow and Mary Lambdin.

Mrs. George S. McGhee Hostess.

One of the very pleasing hospitalities of the week found Mrs. George S. McGhee hostess for a bouquet luncheon on Friday. This was a return courtesy from the hostess and also to privilege these same friends the first invitation into the attractive new home.

One o'clock found sixteen attractive matrons enjoying the faultlessly served menu. The dining table held as its center decoration an oblong basket filled with white clematis interlaced with pink sprays of queen's wreath. The rooms and halls held their quota of vivid colored zinias. Invited by Mrs. McGhee were Mesdames Brooks Pearson, Albert Boggess, J. M. Nash, E. R. Nash Jr., Joseph Mitchell, Erwin J. Clark, W. S. Witte, Buford McWhirter, Hal E. Moody, Reeves Halsey, R. B. Dupree, Clinton Padgitt, Allan D. Sanford, Gilbert Hay and W. M. Kelly.

Mrs. J. W. Blake for Mrs. A. F. Abernathy.

Mrs. J. W. Blake entertained with a morning party on Friday in courtesy to Mrs. A. F. Abernathy of New York who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Abernathy. Away back in New York Mrs. Abernathy was the close friend of Mrs. Blake's mother and this courtesy was in recognition of that friendship.

After introductions and exchange of greetings on the shaded porch, the hostess led the way to the dining room where dainty sandwiches were passed and refreshing punch enjoyed. The table was most attractive in its arrangements of pond lily leaves on which nestled the white lily buds with the dew still sparkling on them. In this lily mat rested the punch bowl.

The hostess was assisted during the morning by Mrs. G. H. Penland. Invited to meet Mrs. Abernathy were the Mesdames J. J. Abernathy, H. C. Dudgeon, Tom L. McCullough, N. S. Hill, W. W. Woodson, A. L. Skinner, J. G. Wren, William Edmond, Robert Allen, C. C. Terry, B. B. Cobb, J. J. D. Cobb of Gatesville, W. B. Steele, James R. Wakefield of Sherman, G. H. Penland and Misses Kate Edmond and Lucile Wakefield of Oklahoma.

Society Notes.

Miss Mary Lou Bagby assumes her duties in the Meridian college with early September. Miss Bagby will join the household of her friend, Mrs. Jennie Crow, who is just now occupying her muchly admired new bungalow.

Greetings from Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Schuler are received. They speak of delightful weather and say they have seen lots of snow on top of the mountains in Colorado.

Mrs. Charles W. Atkins has returned from New York, where she has been pursuing advanced work in voice. Mrs. Atkins is numbered among Waco's sweetest singers, and her voice is ever in demand.

The recent linen shower given for Miss Leta Jaynes by Mrs. Moore and the Misses Lankford has occasioned many complimentary remarks, and Miss Jaynes still declares herself willing to have herself blindfolded several times over—if like results are forthcoming.

Girls have carried with them monkeys and dogs and lizards that were alive, but a prominent girl of El Paso is now driving wherever she goes a strutting peacock, held by bright ribbons, tied to her wrist.

Mrs. E. W. La Beaume of St. Louis, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. B. Small, at 4411 Ross avenue.—Dallas News.

Mrs. Earle Prade Lncheon Hostess.

It has not been more than two years since Mrs. Earle Prade was one of the girls who formed the Domestic Science class of the Waco high school and as one by one these girls are answering the call of Cupid, it is ever the pleasure of Mrs. Prade to gather the clan for a talk and a laugh over the old school days and bid the coming bride God-speed in her new life.

This pleasure came on Tuesday in Mrs. Prade's home and found Miss Grace Stone the honoree. She forsakes the ranks on next Wednesday when she leaves for her new home, Abilene, as Mrs. Lucian Stewart. To pay an old school debt, Miss Amelia Lewine was also named an honoree.

In remembrance of the happy days gone by, the high school colors of yellow and white were carried out. Sunflowers were in evidence as decorations. A muchly admired feature was the yellow cake in daisy design served with cream in daisy mould, "Daisies don't tell" and is therefore the class flower.

Suspended from the chandelier were mischevious Cupids who rejoiced over the work they had done. An immense white maline bow designated Miss Stone's chair, while a similar one

Why Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. The thousands who have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only, say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthrox mixture. You can enjoy this, the best that is known, for about three cents a shampoo by getting some canthrox from your druggist and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

Better Than Spanking

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

——"as easy to clean as a china plate.

"Until I saw the A-B Gas Range I never knew what real cleanliness, comfort and convenience a gas stove could possess."

That is the verdict of thousands of more than satisfied users of this remarkable range. The nickel parts are cleaned by a simple rub with a cloth—the enameled broiling pans are beautiful, sanitary and convenient—and the White Porcelain Enamel Dirt Trays are both ornamental and a sanitary convenience.

Better Babies Feature at the Cotton Palace

So great has become the interest in the better babies conference to be held at the Cotton Palace, that a well known couple in this city have recently adopted a beautiful little blonde baby girl so that they would be on an equal footing with their neighbors and be able to enroll a baby in the conference.

This couple had lived a babyless existence for ten years and had become absolutely jealous of the other people who proudly carried their little ones to the Cotton Palace each year and amid the envious glances of others, walked home with a prize that conveyed the knowledge to the world that their youngsters were on the broad highway to health and happiness.

If the unfortunate married couples in Waco and the surrounding country who have not been blessed with little pink visitors in their homes, continue their deep interest in the better babies conference, there will not be a youngster left at the Methodist orphanage out on Hrring avenue.

Mrs. Charles Ivy, who is the chairman of the committee in charge of that part of the exposition, is delighted over the rapid manner in which the mothers are enrolling their babies. Requests for enrollment cards are coming in so rapidly that it has been found necessary to assign the enrollment work to one member of the committee. This important work has been placed in the hands of Mrs. F. H. Wilcox. Her phone number is 4422. Mothers desiring to enroll their babies or obtain any other information concerning the conference are requested to phone Mrs. Wilcox. She will gladly render all possible assistance.

The women of Texas believe that the babies should be given at least the same careful consideration as the men give their livestock of the four-footed variety. The following poem expresses their feelings clearly:

"WHAT ARE YOU DOING?"

(By Rose M. Trumbull.)

"You talk of your breed of cattle
And plan for a higher strain;
You double the food of the pasture,
You heap up the measure of grain;
You draw on the edits of the nation,
To better the barn and pen.
But what are you doing, my brothers,
To better the breed of men?

"You boast of your Morgans and Herefords,
Of the worth of a calf or a colt,
And scoff at the scrub and the mongrel,
As worthy a fool or a dolt;
You mention the points of your roadster,
With many a "wherefore" and "when,"
But ah, are you conning, my brothers,
The worth of the children of men?

"You talk of your roan-colored filly,
Your heifer so shapely and sleek,
No place shall be filled in your stanchions
By stock that is underfed, weak.
But what of the stock of your household?
Have they wandered beyond your ken?
Or what is revealed in the round-up
That brands the daughters of men?

"And what of your boy? Have you measured
His needs for a growing year?
Does your mark as his sire, in his features,
Mean less than your brand on a steer?
Thoroughbred—that is your watchword
For stable and pasture and pen;
But what is your word for the homestead?
Answer, you breeders of men."

You Can Nurse Your Baby Longer

Instead of weaning him at five or six months, you can nurse him the full nine months that you should if, when he is little, you substitute one feeding a day of Nestlés.

It is so like mother's milk that the baby will feel no difference.

Nestlés gives him just that little extra food he needs to help along his growing little body. And when weaning time comes, he will change to the bottle gradually and easily on

Nestlé's Food

(A Complete Food—Not a Milk Modifier)

It is better for the baby and is better for you. Your own health will be better because you are allowed to miss a nursing or two and go out into the fresh air.

When you wean your baby on Nestlé's you know he is safe, because Nestlé's is always the same, always free from germs, always contains the same things that your baby needs. Don't wean him on cow's milk. You can never be sure of cow's milk even if you know it comes from a clean dairy, even if you know it is free from sickness. It has a tough curd the baby can't digest, and home modifying is uncertain. You cannot modify it with such scientific care as Nestlé's does it for you.

In Nestlé's—milk from healthy cows, purified, free from germs—the call needs are modified, the baby needs are added. Reduced to a powder—it comes to you in an air-tight can. No hand has touched it—no germ can reach it. It is a complete food, so you add only water and boil one minute—and you know that you are giving your baby the food that his little body needs.

BAYLOR SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSING

The final feature lectures of the Baylor summer school will come this week with the three by Dr. H. T. Musselman of the Texas School Journal. These will be given on the campus on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 6:45.

On Monday evening he will speak on the subject, "Physical Vigor and a Forceful Personality," a lecture in which he presents some of the physical welfare.

Tuesday's lecture will be concerned with the problem of social life for the teacher and the talk will be entitled "The Social Life of the Teacher and Personality." The third of the series will be his lecture on "Books That Are Brain Builders."

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE LIBRARY.

Just now the attention of Baylor people is being attracted to the extensive improvements at the library. Librarian W. P. Lewis is very enthusiastic over the changes that are being made, and he says that as soon as they are complete the library staff will be able to serve the student body and the public much more efficiently than ever before. The room at the front of the building on the Speight street side, which has been used up to the present time as a recitation and general assembly room, is to be added to the library proper.

PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT.

Plans are now about complete for the commencement exercises of the university, which will be held Wednesday week, August 30. The commencement speaker will be Dr. John C. Granbery, the head of the department of political science in Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas. Those who know Dr. Granbery say that he is a very able speaker, and a man who is known for his active interest in political and religious affairs. The graduating class of about twenty will be the largest in the history of the institution. The final examinations for the summer quarter will begin on Friday afternoon and run through to Tuesday afternoon, according to the following schedule:

Friday afternoon, 7:30 classes; Saturday morning, 8:30 classes; Monday morning, 9:30 classes; Tuesday morning, 10:30 classes; Saturday afternoon, 2:00 classes; Monday afternoon, 3:00 classes; Tuesday afternoon, 4:00 classes.

Quite a number of people from the city who are interested in literature attended the lecture Friday morning on the Japanese drama of today, which was ably presented by E. W. Provence of the Baylor Book Concern. Mr. Provence related several interesting stories which he had taken from the native Japanese drama. These also involved many of the ideas and customs of the people during the reign of knighthood in Japan. Of interest were his descriptions of the native theatre, and of the modern European style theatre which is gradually supplanting it with the younger generation.

OF PERSONAL CHARACTER.

Miss Ola Gulledge, formerly of the fine arts faculty, came in from McGregor to hear the splendid organ recital of Professor Hoffmann Thursday evening.

Miss Lucile McFarlane of Frost, Texas, is visiting her cousin, Miss Landis Barton of South Seventh street. Miss McFarlane is a member of the class of 1918 at the university.

Roy M. Porter of the class of 1917 is on the campus for a few days. He has been spending a while at Cloudcroft where he reported seeing members of the Baylor party there.

T. E. Sanderford of the class of '16, and his nephew, Roy Sanderford, '18, have been in Waco and on the campus for a few days.

Misses Ella and Nora Oatman have returned to Baylor after a very pleasant vacation spent at Palacios.

H. S. Woods, '15, was in Waco the first of the week. He was on his way to Mount Calm, where he is superintendent of schools for the coming year.

Nature-Faking.

A Long Island teacher was recounting the story of Red Riding Hood. After describing the woods and the wild animals that flourished therein, she added:

"Suddenly Red Riding Hood heard a great noise. She turned about, and what do you suppose she saw standing there, gazing at her and showing all its sharp, white teeth?"

"Teddy Roosevelt!" volunteered one of the boys.—New York Times.

More than one hundred guests were seated in the dining room and galleries of the Huaco club on last Friday evening for dinner. McNish on North Ninth street, in honor of the coincident birthdays of Miss Florence Bennett, the charming young daughter of the household, and Mr. Charles Hooper, a popular young man of this city. WHOLE HEAD CRUST OF ERUPTIONS

Had to Keep It Wrapped Up. Hair Fell Out. Looked Terribly. In Three Weeks Completely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"The breaking out on my brother's head began in a small place like a rash and the parts around it were red and irritated looking. It kept spreading until his whole head became a crust of sore eruptions with matter in them, and we had to keep his head wrapped up. We had him treated but it did no good. He was very cross and fretful and his hair fell out gradually as the trouble spread. He looked terribly.

"A friend told us to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After we used them for two or three weeks he was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. J. G. Altman, 10 Hampstead St., Charleston, S. C., July 26, 1915.

What to Use and Avoid On Faces that Perspire

Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must perspire—must expel, through the pores, its share of the body's waste material. Certain creams and powders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing, especially during the heated period. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax they would have healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The fresher, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. The exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream, for a week or two, washing it off mornings.

To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment, which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion.

BAYLOR SUMMER SCHOOL CLOSING

The final feature lectures of the Baylor summer school will come this week with the three by Dr. H. T. Musselman of the Texas School Journal. These will be given on the campus on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 6:45.

On Monday evening he will speak on the subject, "Physical Vigor and a Forceful Personality," a lecture in which he presents some of the physical welfare.

Tuesday's lecture will be concerned with the problem of social life for the teacher and the talk will be entitled "The Social Life of the Teacher and Personality." The third of the series will be his lecture on "Books That Are Brain Builders."

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE LIBRARY.

Just now the attention of Baylor people is being attracted to the extensive improvements at the library. Librarian W. P. Lewis is very enthusiastic over the changes that are being made, and he says that as soon as they are complete the library staff will be able to serve the student body and the public much more efficiently than ever before. The room at the front of the building on the Speight street side, which has been used up to the present time as a recitation and general assembly room, is to be added to the library proper.

PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT.

Plans are now about complete for the commencement exercises of the university, which will be held Wednesday week, August 30. The commencement speaker will be Dr. John C. Granbery, the head of the department of political science in Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas. Those who know Dr. Granbery say that he is a very able speaker, and a man who is known for his active interest in political and religious affairs. The graduating class of about twenty will be the largest in the history of the institution. The final examinations for the summer quarter will begin on Friday afternoon and run through to Tuesday afternoon, according to the following schedule:

Friday afternoon, 7:30 classes; Saturday morning, 8:30 classes; Monday morning, 9:30 classes; Tuesday morning, 10:30 classes; Saturday afternoon, 2:00 classes; Monday afternoon, 3:00 classes; Tuesday afternoon, 4:00 classes.

Quite a number of people from the city who are interested in literature attended the lecture Friday morning on the Japanese drama of today, which was ably presented by E. W. Provence of the Baylor Book Concern. Mr. Provence related several interesting stories which he had taken from the native Japanese drama. These also involved many of the ideas and customs of the people during the reign of knighthood in Japan. Of interest were his descriptions of the native theatre, and of the modern European style theatre which is gradually supplanting it with the younger generation.

OF PERSONAL CHARACTER.

Miss Ola Gulledge, formerly of the fine arts faculty, came in from McGregor to hear the splendid organ recital of Professor Hoffmann Thursday evening.

Miss Lucile McFarlane of Frost, Texas, is visiting her cousin, Miss Landis Barton of South Seventh street. Miss McFarlane is a member of the class of 1918 at the university.

Roy M. Porter of the class of 1917 is on the campus for a few days. He has been spending a while at Cloudcroft where he reported seeing members of the Baylor party there.

T. E. Sanderford of the class of '16, and his nephew, Roy Sanderford, '18, have been in Waco and on the campus for a few days.

Misses Ella and Nora Oatman have returned to Baylor after a very pleasant vacation spent at Palacios.

H. S. Woods, '15, was in Waco the first of the week. He was on his way to Mount Calm, where he is superintendent of schools for the coming year.

Nature-Faking.

A Long Island teacher was recounting the story of Red Riding Hood. After describing the woods and the wild animals that flourished therein, she added:

"Suddenly Red Riding Hood heard a great noise. She turned about, and what do you suppose she saw standing there, gazing at her and showing all its sharp, white teeth?"

"Teddy Roosevelt!" volunteered one of the boys.—New York Times.

Better Babies Feature at the Cotton Palace

So great has become the interest in the better babies conference to be held at the Cotton Palace, that a well known couple in this city have recently adopted a beautiful little blonde baby girl so that they would be on an equal footing with their neighbors and be able to enroll a baby in the conference.

This couple had lived a babyless existence for ten years and had become absolutely jealous of the other people who proudly carried their little ones to the Cotton Palace each year and amid the envious glances of others, walked home with a prize that conveyed the knowledge to the world that their youngsters were on the broad highway to health and happiness.

If the unfortunate married couples in Waco and the surrounding country who have not been blessed with little pink visitors in their homes, continue their deep interest in the better babies conference, there will not be a youngster left at the Methodist orphanage out on Hirring avenue.

Mrs. Charles Ivy, who is the chairman of the committee in charge of that part of the exposition, is delighted over the rapid manner in which the mothers are enrolling their babies. Requests for enrollment cards are coming in so rapidly that it has been found necessary to assign the enrollment work to one member of the committee. This important work has been placed in the hands of Mrs. F. H. Wilcox. Her phone number is 4422. Mothers desiring to enroll their babies or obtain any other information concerning the conference are requested to phone Mrs. Wilcox. She will gladly render all possible assistance.

The women of Texas believe that the babies should be given at least the same careful consideration as the men give their livestock of the four-footed variety. The following poem expresses their feelings clearly:

"WHAT ARE YOU DOING?"
(By Rose M. Trumbull.)

"You talk of your breed of cattle
And plan for a higher strain;
You double the food of the pasture,
You heap up the measure of grain;
To better the barn and pen.
But what are you doing, my brothers,
To better the breed of men?

"You boast of your Morgans and Herefords,
Of the worth of a calf or a colt,
As worthy a fool or a dolt;
You mention the points of your roadster,
With many a "wherefore" and "when,"
But ah, are you conning, my brothers,
The worth of the children of men?

"You talk of your roan-colored filly,
Your heifer so shapely and sleek.
No place shall be filled in your stanchions
By stock that is underfed, weak.
But what of the stock of your household?
Have they wandered beyond your ken?
Or what is revealed in the round-up
That brands the daughters of men?

"And what of your boy? Have you measured
His needs for a growing year?
Does your mark as his sire, in his features,
Thoroughbred—that is your watchword
For stable and pasture and pen;
But what is your word for the homestead?

You Can Nurse Your Baby Longer

Instead of weaning him at five or six months, you can nurse him the full nine months that you should if, when he is little, you substitute one feeding a day of Nestlés.

It is so like mother's milk that the baby will feel no difference.

Nestlés gives him just that little extra food he needs to help along his growing little body. And when weaning time comes, he will change to the bottle gradually and easily on

Nestlé's Food

(A Complete Food—Not a Milk Modifier)

It is better for the baby and is better for you. Your own health will be better because you are allowed to miss a nursing or two and go out into the fresh air.

When you wean your baby on Nestlé's you know he is safe, because Nestlé's is always the same, always free from germs, always contains the same things that your baby needs. Don't wean him on cow's milk. You can never be sure of cow's milk even if you know it comes from a clean dairy, even if you know it is free from sickness. It has a tough curd the baby can't digest, and home modifying is uncertain. You cannot modify it with such scientific care as Nestlé's does it for you.

In Nestlé's—milk from healthy cows, purified, free from germs—the call needs are modified, the baby needs are added. Reduced to a powder—it comes to you in an air-tight can. No hand has touched it—no germ can reach it. It is a complete food, so you add only water and boil one minute—and you know that you are giving your baby the food that his little body needs.

He was very cross and fretful and his hair fell out gradually as the trouble spread. He looked terribly.

The exquisite new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercolized wax from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly like cold cream, for a week or two, washing it off mornings.

To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelously effective treatment, which also acts naturally and harmlessly: Dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel and use it as a wash lotion.

GIRL COULD NOT WORK

How She Was Relieved from Pain by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I had pains in both sides and when my periods came I had to stay at home from work and suffer a long time. One day a woman came to our house and asked my mother why I was suffering. Mother told her that I suffered every month and she said, 'Why don't you buy a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My mother bought it and the next month I was so well that I worked all the month without staying at home a day. I am in good health now and have told lots of girls about it."—Miss CLARICE MORIN, 22 Russell Street, Taunton, Mass.

Thousands of girls suffer in silence every month rather than consult a physician. If girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a safe and pure remedy made from roots and herbs, much suffering might be avoided.

General Science Bulletin.

A bulletin on general science by Carl Hartman, B. A. M., Ph. D., adjunct professor of zoology in the University of Texas, will be issued early this fall through the department of school visitation of the university. The University of Texas has done much practical work for the high schools of the state by issuing bulletins on subjects related to the high school courses of study. The demand for these bulletins is not only statewide, but requests are received from other states and Canada. Among the most popular of these bulletins are those on manual training, domestic science, German and chemistry.

It was a quiet wedding, only a few friends and relatives witnessing the ceremony, after which the bride and groom departed for a brief honeymoon trip.

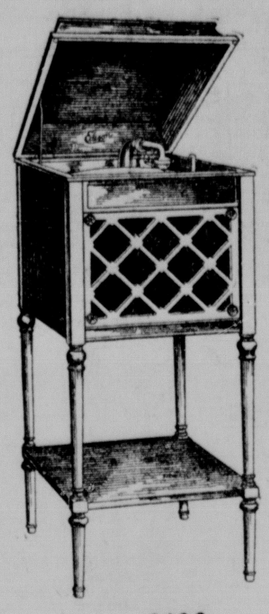

Informal Dance.

One of the smart affairs of the week was that given by Miss Nina Gill on last Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Evelyn Brown of Palestine. The entire lower floor of the elegant home on South Pearl street was thrown open for the pleasure and entertainment of the guests. A part of this very pleasant evening was spent at cards, although dancing was the predominant diversion. Delicious cream and cake were served at the close of the evening. Miss Gill's guests for this occasion included Misses Evelyn Brown of Palestine, Ozelle McCoy, Norma Parnell, Lillie Pearl Howard and Kenneth Davis, Joe Benson, William Barnes, Harry Shadowen and Willie Harden.

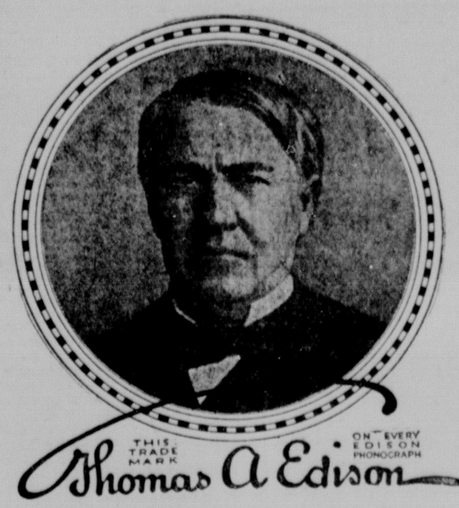

Mart, Tex., Aug. 19.—Some of our ladies have complained that smoke from our industrial plants spoil the tidiness of lace curtains and draperies. This is no doubt true, but we must not forget that these industrial plants, together with our broad acres of black land, are the forces that have made Mart the great little city that she is. It is only sixteen years ago since W. H. Criswell harvested a great cotton crop on the spot where Mart has since been builded. Now miles of paved streets, and cement walks lengthen out in every direction. Smoke stacks and black mud forecast full dinner pails, and prosperity and prosperity guarantees much that home needs, and woman loves. Remembering, let us therewith be content.

Strolling Party.

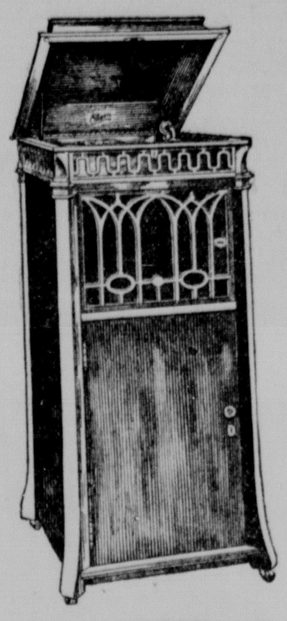

It was quite a pleasant little group of young people that composed what could be called a strolling party on last Monday evening. These socially inclined and congenial spirits, after having assembled at a given point, each couple provided with a dainty lunch, made a quick march to the park. Here lunch was spread, and a general free and easy time indulged in. After this, marching orders were again issued, and the jolly party made numerous calls on friends throughout the city, carrying with them much of the spirit of their outing. Informal dancing was engaged in at several places included in the itinerary, ending with a visit to the "own performance" at the Queen theatre. The personnel of this delightful outing consisted of Misses Evelyn Brown, Palestine; Allie Wolverton, Ozell McCoy, Lillie Pearl Howard, Pauline Harden, Nina Gill, Virginia Wolverton, Norma Parnell and Joe Benson, Kenneth Davis, Dick Smith, Howard Eason, Harry Shadowin, William Barnes and Willie Harden.

METHODIST ORPHANAGE NEEDS MORE HELP

Lately there was an article in our columns about the splendid cattle and the good farming ability of the Methodist Orphanage. You could readily see that although they have done well, considering their acreage, they have not been able to make as much as is needed to do until the next harvest season. They are badly in need of larger pieces of land and are planning as big things for another year, as their limited means will allow. But at present the feed proposition is the most pressing need.

Many of our wealthy farmers have made an abundant crop and what could be more fitting than that they should divide some of it with our own home. Will you not respond to this need? They also hope to increase the number of chickens raised. They have enough to furnish eggs, but can seldom give the children chickens. It takes forty for the big family there. It would be most gratifying if some of the good Waco people would donate some fowls.

Then three hundred dollars is necessary to build the kind of hen house that will be necessary. Contributions for this purpose will be greatly appreciated. Their idea is to make the institution not only a home for our orphans, but also a paying proposition. It is only reasonable that we should help an institution that is doing its best.

Manager Burroughs has asked the Methodists of Texas to assist in these improvements, and thinks it appropriate that the good friends of the home in Waco be allowed the privilege of helping in this, too. He says that they have ever been most kind and he feels sure that they will respond to his call, gladly. Shall we disappoint him and the needy children in our midst?

AS ENGLAND SEES CAMPAIGN.

Foreign Policy Seems Issue in America, London Globe Says.

(London Globe.)

Except insofar as they bear upon the attitude of the American people towards the war, we are not concerned with the domestic politics of the United States. But in that connection there are certain facts in the presidential contest which strike us as singularly significant. The chief weapon of the democratic party against Mr. Hughes appears to be to represent him as a "Prussian" candidate, though we may be permitted to say that to us the charge seems to rest on a singularly slight foundation.

On the other hand, the republicans base their campaign against Doctor Wilson on his alleged weakness towards Germany and his failure to prevent German plotters from using the United States as a base. In a word, each of the great American parties find its best resources in efforts to depict the candidate selected by the other as being either too friendly toward Germany or not sufficiently hostile to her. Presumably they know their own business and their own public much better than any outsider, and we must accept their action as indicating a true interpretation of the great mass of public opinion in the United States.

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.

MAYOR WAS NOT NATURALIZED.

Williamsport, Pa.—Action to test the naturalization of Mayor Jonas Fischer was taken when a petition signed by Williamsport citizens was placed in the hands of the attorney general at Harrisburg asking that a writ of quo warranto be issued directing Mr. Fischer to show by what authority he holds office and that a decree ouster be made.

The petition sets forth that Mr. Fischer was born a subject of a European nation and was never naturalized, and that he "unlawfully, wrongfully and fraudulently intruded himself into the office of mayor of Wilamsport.

Coming next week, Henry Walthall in "Pillars of Society," new Keystone comedies, Billie Burke and other pictures.

"The Payment."

"Our Bessie Barriscale, often called and justly called Barriscale, the Great, appears in a new play made by Thos. H. Ince, "The Payment," at the Hippodrome theatre today and tomorrow. In all her wok before the camera, in all of which she has won unstinted praise from even the severest critics, Miss Barriscale has neve had a more difficult role than this and has neve handled one with more real skill and understanding. The character is Phyllis is not admirable in all ways; yet the girl's great talent and ambition and longing wins the sympathy of her audience to the extent that they can forgive her for her sacrifice and have nothing but sorrow and sympathy in their hearts for her when the time for the payment comes. In less capable hands this character would be no more thought of than the woman of the street, but Bessie Barriscale has made Phyllis Page a human, lovable girl, overly ambitious but utterly unable in her first youth to realize the greatest of the sacrifice which she is making for fame. William Desmond gives a good portrayal of the young and impetuous lover who inspired love in return, and to Charles Millet goes many of the honors of the production because of his sane and natural portrayal of the business man who bargains with the girl through no desire to have under his power always but merely for his passing desire.

Knowing she has a God-given talent in art and also knowing that she can never be able to develop it, Phyllis Page agrees to the poposition of the business man to seal her honor for the pice of study in Europe. The bargain is carried through, and a few years later when she is famous and meets again the man, he agrees that they shall meet as acquaintances merely and assures er that he will never bother her in any way. Her fame seems easily bought; but then the young lover comes, handsome, impetuous and compelling, and Phyllis knows she loves for the first time. The business man merely says, "You've no right to cheat him," and the girl pays.

"Hell-to-Pay Austin."

Bessie Love, the little brown-eyed player found by David W. Griffith in the Los Angeles public schools who has taken the hearts of picture fans by storm, co-stars with Wilfred Lucas, recognized on stage and screen in an original story by Mary H. O'Connor, "Hell-to-Pay Austin," at the Hippodrome Wednesday and Thursday. This is considered the masterpiece of Miss Love and Mr. Lucas, and certainly it deserves the title. Bessie Love's phenomenal rise in pictures has been the subject of remark and wonderment in every part of the country since her first appearance in "The Flying Torpedo," last winter. As the servant girl, Miss Love was one of the big hits of the production. A little later she played the daughter of Wilfred Lucas in "Acquitted," the play in which Lucas gave his amazing portrayal of the ordinary, everyday, struggling family man. Then came the series with Douglas Fairbanks, the series which made Bessie Love and very recently she demonstrated her ability to carry on her little shoulders almost all the interest of a play in "Stranded." A strong cast is seen in the support of Mr. Lucas an Miss Love, Mary Alden being prominent.

The story is of life in a lumber camp, and many of the scenes of the story are interestingly educational as well as being necessary to further the story. Locations used were at San Diego, San Francisco, Bear Valley, Fresno, and Huntington Lake ,and Director Paul Powell secured the largest lumber camp and saw mill in the state of California at this last named place for many of his best scenes. The story is big and unusual. The theme is strong, and the treatment startling and wonderfully artistic. "Hell-to-Pay Austin" will linger long in the memory as a play worth while.

"Dare-Devil Kate."

A novelty in films is promised in the new Fox picture, "Dare-Devil Kate" starring beautiful Virginia Pearson and showing at the Hippodrome theatre Friday and Saturday. The novelty is in the fact that the star is a saloon-keeper in a tough western town, a position that a woman very, very seldom holds, certainly. This is a story of a woman's rise from this position to the wife of a prominent eastern club man, and Virginia Pearson makes of the character an interesting and sympathetic one. Miss Pearson declares the part is not a "vampire" one but is a near-vampire and a combination of many women. She says to her mind Kate is a combination of Cleopatra, Carmen, the Girl of the Golden West, and Cigarette; she is a woman of energy and courage absolutely fearless; she is a woman of kindness and virtue, without a spark of real evil in her heart; but she is a bandit girl, as changeable in her moods as a chamaleon. Victor Sutherland, a famed stage player, plays opposite Miss Pearson, and Mary Martin, Kenneth Hunter, little Jane and Katherine Lee, and many others are in the cast.

Kate has not always been a saloon keeper in the rough western town, but remembers well the time when she and her sister, orphans, parted and each took half of their mother's wedding ring. But now she is a hail-fellow-well-met, a courageous woman in the midst of rough men. The workmen of the munition plant grow dissatisfied, and from the east young West and his supposed brother-in-law, Stone, come to investigate the trouble. West takes his wife and two little girls. Out here Stone meets and loves Kate, but the wife of West, Irene, learns her supposed character and tells Stone. The engagement is broken, so Kate joins with the workmen in a plot to involve West. The outcome is a tremendous surprise and climax.

QUEEN.

Tuesday, "Soul Mates."

First, last and always manly vigor is demanded of a picture star. It is this attribute which has led to the overwhelming popularity of William Russell, the star of the Mutual Star production, "Soul Mates," which comes to the Queen theatre on Tuesday. From the moment he makes his appearance on the screen the spectator subconsciously knows that here is a man,

Russell is first a man and then an actor. He has had wide experience in various roles and has always made the role he played stand out above the creation of the author. He is gifted with the knowledge of human emotions and understands how to express them.

Wednesday, "The Man Who Found Himself."

The World Film corporation presents Robert Warwick in the five-part photoplay, "The Man Who Found Himself," based upon George Broadhurst's successful drama, "The Mills of the Gods," also called, at the time of its production, a few years ago, "The Coward."

James Clarke, young cashier, robs his employers in order to provide medical attention for his sick sister. She dies and a fellow employe of Clarke discovers his theft and blackmails him. Both are found out, prosecuted and sent to gaol.

By a series of chances James Clarke escapes from gaol, gets a job, is earning an honest living and has won the love of a girl whose life he saved.

He has "found" himself. He knows that when he finally leaves the gaol, Catherine, who has promised to be his wife, will be waiting to help him start life afresh.

Thursday, "The Devil's Toy."

Scores of magnificent gowns, each a creation of fantastic loveliness. Huge and massive sets, hundreds of people in the big ensembles, marvelous spectacular scenes of unbelievable splendor, powerful, vivid story; an unforgettable production throughout.

Inspiring—exciting—unforgettable—big drama presented in a big way—the strongest, most sensational society screen play of the century.

Saturday, "Far from the Madding Crowd."

A film adaptation of the famous novel by Thomas Hardy has been selected for the initial release of the Florence Turner series of Mutual Star productions. Miss Turner, the first actress to be starred on the screen, has been called "the Bernhardt of the cinema," and she justly earned this approbation. There is little doubt that she will be a great attraction.

NEWS SOCIETY PAGE MAKES MAN GROUCHY

CALLS UP AND COMPLAINS WIFE AND DAUGHTERS WON'T LET HIM READ WAR, MEXICO, POLITICAL OR BASEBALL NEWS TILL THEY GET THROUGH.

B-r-r-r-r-r, b-r-r-r-r b-r-r. The telephone bell in the business office of the Morning News rang with unusual vigor and noise. The bookkeeper slid from the high stool with unwonted haste, convinced that a terrible tragedy had occurred, such as the completion of the lock and dam on the Brazos, or the breaking of five or six legs belonging to the members of the Shreveport baseball team, and that central had gotten excited and was calling the business office instead of the reportorial rooms.

"Say, man, for the love of heaven, please send two papers to my house every morning hereafter. I'm sick and tired of waiting for my wife and daughters to read that old society department of the paper before I can get my clutches on it and find out what is doing in Europe, who won the game, or whether Wilson has decided to send the national guard into Mexico and clean up."

"You know, it wouldn't make a bit of difference to my women folks if the United States had declared war on Villa had slipped up to Washington and shoved a chunk of dynamite under the white house and the capitol and blown the whole blooming government into the middle of McLennan county. That wouldn't be considered half as important to them as the doings told about in the society columns. I'd have to slip my java and crunch my bacon without any information about the rest of the world until they got good and through with the bridges, stocking winnings, hand painted plate getting and personals. So please tell your man to deliver two papers commencing in the morning—and say, tell him to leave one against the front door and the other in the back yard. I'll nail the back yard one."

Hon. O. B. Colquitt to Speak in Waco Next Tuesday Night

Friends and supporters of former Gov. O. B. Colquitt are making the closing arrangements for the appearance here August 22, next Tuesday, of the former governor, and he will at that time deliver an address in behalf of his candidacy to secure the office of United States senator from Texas.

The speaking, so it is announced, will be held on the lawn of the court house, in the open air, where everybody may be comfortable. It is intended to make this a big affair, and arrangements to that end are being rapidly completed.

Later announcement will be made of the name of the party who will introduce Mr. Colquitt and of other details.

C. C. M'DONALD BELIEVES COLQUITT HAS RACE WON

"Colquitt has the senatorial race won right now. There is no question but what he will defeat Charles A. Culberson by at least 50,000 majority."

The above statement was made yesterday by C. C. McDonald, former secretary of state, and present assistant attorney general of Texas.

Mr. McDonald, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, spent several hours at the Raleigh yesterday afternoon while en route to Marlin, where he went for the benefit of his health.

He says he has recently visited Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Bonham and Kaufman and finds that the Colquitt sentiment in those places is running high, and that the former governor will receive flattering majorities.

This condition of affairs, he believes to exist in other sections of state, judging from the information he has received from friends who have been investigating the situation.

Mr. McDonald referred to the difference between the Culberson and Colquitt rallies held at Houston during the recent state convention, as an indication of the feeling of voters throughout the state. He claims the Culberson rally was a decided frost and that it was absolutely lacking in enthusiasm, while the Colquitt rally was one of the most enthusaistic meetings ever held in the state.

Y. W. C. A. GIRL DESCRIBES VISIT TO FISH POND

From the time I joined the girls in the large, open car of one of our chaperons until I arrived at my own front door at ten minutes of ten, I was perfectly, unrestrainedly happy.

We spun along at a lively clip through the slanting rays of the setting sun, the wind relentlessly whipped our hair and cooled our tired brains. Every girl in the car was distinctly labeled, "Out for a good time," and we were determined to have it, for in the Young Women's Christian association we are learning how.

A final swerve of the car, a last magnificent dash brought us right up to the porch of the club house at the Fish Pond, where we were nailed by other blithe members of the association. Some one said, "Scatter!" and scatter we did, all over the woodsy grounds and to the bank of the pond. The departing splendor of the sun was tinting the water in beautiful hues of gold and purple too lovely and delightful for description.

Boats full of girls glided over the pond and the pleasant splash of the oar in the water was sweeter far than the tick of the typewriter keys.

After a little singing under the trees in the twilight, a little romping in the shadows before night descended, we were called in to supper. The drive out, the late hour of serving and general live spirits had made all hungry for the famous "bacon and eggs" supper which is the special of the Y. W. C. A. excursions. After the reverent hush which announced the invoking of God's blessings, we ate as only hungry, frolicking girls can eat. We had forgotten that we had worked all day and that tomorrow was to come. We flavored our food with fun and sweetened it all with joyous good fellowship.

Our dignified chaperons forgot their dignity and were girls with us in playing "Going to Jerusalem" and in the "Virginia Reel." Their laughter was just as free and their hearts just as light as ours.

The only drop of bitter in our cup of joy was that all the girls who should have been enjoying the evening with us were not there. If they could have peeped in and seen just how happy we were, they would have registered a vow never to miss another Y. W. C. A. good time.

We have only one more Friday for frolics and good fellowship at the Fish Pond this summer. Girls, register before Thursday and invite your friends who are business girls to be with us. Let us make it a joyous occasion for all our young business women.

Thanks to our social committee and to our friends with their cars for making this lovely outing possible, and thanks indeed to Mrs. J. D. Willis for her hospitality in inviting us to the Fish Pond. A Y. W. C. A. GIRL.

A famous scientist was present at a dinner at which one of the guests began to deride philosophy. He went on rudely to express the opinion that the word "philosopher" was but another way of spelling "fool."

"What is your opinion, professor?" he asked, smiling. "Is there much distance between them?"

Our dignified chaperons forgot their dignity and were girls with us in playing "Going to Jerusalem" and in the "Virginia Reel." Their laughter was just as free and their hearts just as light as ours.

The only drop of bitter in our cup of joy was that all the girls who should have been enjoying the evening with us were not there. If they could have peeped in and seen just how happy we were, they would have registered a vow never to miss another Y. W. C. A. good time.

We have only one more Friday for frolics and good fellowship at the Fish Pond this summer. Girls, register before Thursday and invite your friends who are business girls to be with us. Let us make it a joyous occasion for all our young business women.

Thanks to our social committee and to our friends with their cars for making this lovely outing possible, and thanks indeed to Mrs. J. D. Willis for her hospitality in inviting us to the Fish Pond. A Y. W. C. A. GIRL.

A famous scientist was present at a dinner at which one of the guests began to deride philosophy. He went on rudely to express the opinion that the word "philosopher" was but another way of spelling "fool."

"What is your opinion, professor?" he asked, smiling. "Is there much distance between them?"

The professor surveyed his vis-avis keenly for a moment, then, with a polite bow, responded:

WACO GETS DISTRICT DISTRIBUTING AGENCY FOR OVERLAND CARS

One of the most important transactions that has been consummated in the automobile world of Waco, took place yesterday when a distributing agency for Overland cars was placed here. Walter Roach and J. W. McDonald of Temple, Texas, better known throughout Central Texas as the owners of the Temple Motor Car company of Temple, together with John M. Hendricks of Galveston, Texas, formed a distributing agency of which Mr. Hendricks will be sales manager .

The Overland people were the pioneers in establishing district agencies, and the agency established here means much for Waco and Ovrland car owners and dealers. An immense stock of repairs and parts will be kept on ha..d as well as an extra large supply of Overland cars. In fact ,arrangements have been made, whereby near a thousand cars will be distributed throughout Waco's trade territory, the coming year within a radius of fifteen counties around.

The new distributing agency will be known as the Overland Sales company and will have offices in the same building with the Percy Willis Automobile company at 714-716 Austin street. Plans are under way now for an immense warehouse location of which will be announced later.

In behalf of the people of Waco, the News wishes to welcome Messrs. Roach, McDonald & Hendricks and their estimatable families and their automobile editor wishes to congratulate them on their coming to the best city of its size in the world and most certainly the best automobile town in Central Texas.

Clint Padgitt now possesses one of those much sought after Buick Sixes. Mr. Padgitt has been a close observer of cars for many years and was at one time a dealer in automobiles, and his selection of a Buick Six is still another proof of the popularity of the Buick with people who are familiar with the many different makes.

Robert Russell, nee "Bob" Russell, of the Herrick & McLarty sales force, sold another Royal Mail roadster Chevrolet to Mr. Ferris of seven and one-half miles northeast of Waco the past week. Mr. Ferris tells us that he has contemplated buying a car for some time, deciding on the Chevrolet after a thorough demonstration by Mr. Russell.

"I've got a carload of Maxwells on the road and will keep one coming each week as long as business keeps as good as it has been the past two or three weeks. Messrs. James Herrick and Randolph Ball of the automobile department of the Herrick & McLarty and Herrick Hardware company, are spending the week end at Mineral Wells. The sale of second-hand cars conducted by the Herrick Hardware company and Herrick & McLarty Auto company the past week has been quite a success, a number of cars having been sold. Louis Rosen of the firm of Rosen & Cory, on his extended trip through Bosque, Coryell and Williamson counties, found business on Mohawk Quality tires and accessories exceptionally good, which he attributes to good crops and fair prices for cotton, as people in that territory always want the best, and since the outlook for a prosperous fall season, they are looking forward for the best money can buy.

Bob Russell reports a most remarkable test for the Oakland Six the past week. Bob tells us that he had in the car the Jim Tinsley family, four in number; started in high at the Cameron park bridge and proceeded up the hill to the top, the car registering a speed of fifteen miles when the top was reached. Mr. Ryburn, manager of the Automobile department at McLendon's, has just returned from a trip to Gatesville, where he placed another one of the Light Six Chalmers. Bob tells us that he had in the car the Jim Tinsley family, four in number; started in high at the Cameron park bridge and proceeded up the hill to the top, the car registering a speed of fifteen miles when the top was reached. According to Bob, which is authentic authority, this particular feat had not been performed up to date; notwithstanding, space will be available for the record of any other car doing the stunt.

Mr. Hays of the Hays Tire company reports a splendid tire business the past week—Ajax as well as Miller tires. "Due, I suppose, to the fact that things are picking up for fall," said Mr. Hays. "I have never seen business pick up any faster at this time of the year," he continued. Mr. Hays has taken on the Goodyear line of tires and is now in position to fill orders for this line of goods. The Hays Tire company makes their own adjustments and invites all customers who have tire troubles to bring them in.

F. E. Haley, probation officer of Falls county and manager of the Marlin Lumber company, was in the city Friday in his new Chalmers Light Six.

Mr. Ryburn, manager of the Automobile department at McLendon's, has just returned from a trip to Gatesville, where he placed another one of the Light Six Chalmers. He feels elated over the sales in that country, as a car has to prove itself to get around the mountains, and he says he made every hil in the county on his. He reports crops in fine condition and the people in high spirits.

EARTH ROADS SHOULD BE MENDED EARLY

SPRING TIME GOOD SEASON FOR FILLING IN DEEP HOLLOWED PLACES.

Patrolman Can Keep from Five to Eight Miles in Condition With Split-log Drag.

(By H. G. Shirley, Chief Highway Engineer of Maryland.)

It will be many years before the earth road will be in the minority, and in many places it will neither be economical nor will the taxable resources justify the construction of a higher type.

The earth road has often been maintained by the most ignorant men, in fact, it has not been maintained at all. It has been generally believed that it would take care of itself, requiring no work except, perhaps, the cutting away of bushes and possibly shaping with a road machine in the spring to give it better drainage to the side ditches. I know of no other type that has been so abused or has received the careless and inefficient maintenance to which the earth road has been subjected. There is no type upon which so much money is being wasted as the earth road, primarily through ignorance and neglect.

I have seen instances where a soft place existed in a hollow badly underdrained. Year after year a large amount of stone was hauled to this place and dumped on it, where it disappeared by the close of spring. Nevertheless, this procedure would be steadily adhered to every successive year until the stone finally formed a compact mass. But the moisture in the earth made a mud-hole at each end, and the same performance had to be repeated at each end the next year, until a large quantity of stone finally displaced the mud. This is expensive road.

Earth roads should be worked in the early spring. If the roadbed is rutted, in bad condition, and flat, without the proper cross-section, it should be ployed from gutter to gutter, shaped with a road machine until it has the proper cross-section, and then kept constantly dragged until it is properly consolidated. After the road has been given this attention, then with a little constant care, it can be kept in good condition until the freezing and thawing are at hand, when it is necessary to dig it up again just as soon sa the frost leaves the ground.

In maintaining earth roads we find that after the road has been properly shaped, the ditches opened, and the road given the proper cross-section, a patrolman with a split-log drag can keep from five to eight miles in good condition for at least ten months in the year. The patrolman drags the road after each rain, when the earth is in a moist and damp condition, and thus the road is kept smooth and has the proper cross-section. A description of the method of making and using such a drag can be obtained without charge from the United States Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering, at Washington.

When the road is dry and the surface is in good condition, the patrolman spends his time in opening up the gutters, filling any small washes tha tmay occur in the shoulders, and if there are any spots in the road where the earth is soft and of such a nature that it will not bear the traffic, he digs it out and replaces it with good material. In places where there are wet spots, owing to the lack of proper underdrainage, the patrolman digs them out and fills them with stone or logs, making blind drains. I have found that by first putting down a layer of field stone, next placing three logs so as to form a kind of trough, and then filling in over the logs with stone, an efficient underdrain can be made to eliminate a wet spot.

To maintain a mile of earth road properly will cost from $40 to $100 a year, depending largely upon the character of soil upon which the road is built as well as upon the amount and kind of traffic.

A prominent scientist, in a paper dealing with steel used in the manufacture of motor cars, made the following statement recently:

"The heat-treatment of steel in a way is the most important operation to which it is subjected. There can be no unimportant details. It is essential that the work be done by skillful men, supplied with accurate pyrometers and well designed and constructed furnaces capable of maintaining a uniform heat and of being properly regulated."

Which seems to have expressed precisely the opinion of Dodge Brothers. Not only do they insist upon expertness in every branch of the heat-treating department, but they see that scientific research work precedes the actual heating, so that there may be no error in determining in advance the exact degree of heat to which a bar of steel should be subjected to give it the proper wearing qualities.

Every different kind of steel, for every different part of the car, must be put through the research test to determine what degree of heat is best adapted to its quality and to its function in service. To determine that degree, hundreds of sampled specimens of steel are heated at different temperatures in small electric furnaces. The results of tests on these specimens, as made by various types of special instruments, are used in determining the exact treatment to be used in regular production. For instance, one of the first tests which a piece of steel undergoes after emerging from the electric furnace is the Brinnell test for hardness.

Electric furnaces are used because electricity, more so than other fuels, may be regulated to a final point of exactness. The heat is confined within a drum or shell, heavily insulated. The pyrometer attachment will record as high as 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit. After it is heated, the steel is cooled, either fast or slow, in one of the numerous different solutions standing nearby.

Every step of the long and careful process is a step in the direction of the exceptional durability that has given the Dodge Brothers motor car its high standing among motor car buyers.

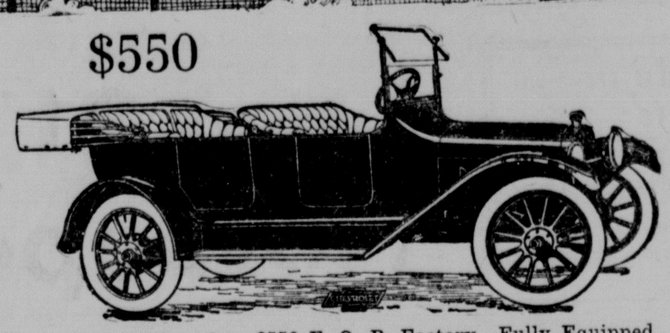

During the present season Goodyear Cord tires have been selected as tire equipment in the entertainment of America's three most distinguished citizens. On the recent visits of President Woodrow Wilson, Charles E. Hughes and Col. Theodore Roosevelt, each was shown the city in a Packard, equipped with Goodyear Cord tires.

GOOD MANNERS THROWN TO WINDS

Still they come. In the July 20 issue of Motor Age were printed the tales of woe of old Joe Stephenson and the mysterious Mr. X. J. W. Hayden attempted to soothe the wrought nerves of these two unfortunates who had suffered at the hands of motorists by an open letter printed last week, in which he suggested they buy "one of the gol darn things," and give dust for dust and noise for noise, 50-50, so to speak. The morning search through the editor's basket unearthed the following, which comes from the Dakotas, but is, according to writer, applicable to "most any ol' place:"

"Why the possession of a motor car should so often work a disastrous change in ordinary considerate persons is one of the psychological phenomena that scientists as yet have not explained. Motorists who would be hurt to the quick if accused of being ill-mannered, nevertheless constantly indulge in practices which convict them of callous inconsiderateness of the comfort and convenience of others. And, after all, good manners are nothing in the world but a due regard for the feelings of others.

"Yet the average man, generally well mannered and considerate, starts his car and throws good manners to the winds. Late at night, passing houses whose occupants have long been in bed, he wakes the hours with his horn, or, in order to save a fancied ounce or two of power, opens wide his muffler and with it the eyes of would-be sleepers. Almost it would seem that, like whisky, gasoline and good manners will not mix.

"Unfortunately, the observations are not only pertinent, but admit of no denial. There is no reason why good training should not manifest itself as much at the wheel of a motor car as at the dinner table. Stirring soup with one's finger or eating pie with one's knife are no less signs of ill manners than their parallels on the street or road.

"The motorist's horn may demonstrate regard for others even in greater degree than a soup spoon. The noise of an open cutout popping saucily at the driver of a car just passed is no less offensive than the noise of soup syphoned from a ladle into pursed lips. The raucous tooting of horns at unnecessary times is rasping on the disposition, no less a demonstration of ungainliness than treading on one's feet at a fancy ball.

"True enough, good manners all too frequently are left at the front door when one goes motoring. When cars become the general vehicle for nearly all the people, it is time that we give some thought to our manners on the road. Let us be considerate in one place as well as in another, and let evidence of good or bad training be as effective in one place as in another."—Motor Age.

Daring Air Man Buys Willys-Knight

Another tribute to the Willys-Knight motor was paid the other day by Art Smith, America's foremost "stunt" aviator, when he cabled a purchase order for a Willys-Knight car to the Overland and Willys-Knight dealer in his home town, Fort Wayne, Ind.

For years Smith had been ranked among the foremost exponents of "loop-the-loop" and "up-side-down" flying, but it was during the past twelve months that he achieved his greatest fame by feats of daring at the two Pacific coast expositions.

Not long ago Smith started for the Orient, where he is now spending his vacation. While in Japan he happened to see a Willys-Knight touring car in action. The absolute silence of the motor, its reliability, power, flexibility and economy aroused his curiosity. Being an expert on gasoline-driven motors, he at once realized the immense advantage of the sleeve-valve type.

Without further delay he cabled to the Overland dealer in Fort Wayne to deliver immediately to his mother one Willys-Knight touring car, so that it would be at home when he returns from abroad later in the summer.

ARE YOU FROM DIXIE?

There's something I'd like to say to you—
Don't be surprised,
You're recognized!
I'm no detective, but I've just surmised.
You're from the place where I long to be.
Your smiling face seems to say to me,
You're from my own land—my sunny homeland—
Tell me, can it be?

CHORUS.

Are you from Dixie?
I said from Dixie!
Where the fields of cotton beckon to me.
I'm glad to see you; tell me how be you
And the friends I'm longing to see?
If you're from Alabama, Tennessee or Carolina,
Any place below the Mason and Dixon line—
Then you're from Dixie;
Hurray for Dixie!
'Cause I'm from Dixie, too! Are you from Dixie, too?

Made in Dixie— Sold All Over the World

It was away back, back in eighty-nine,
I crossed the old Mason and Dixon line.
Gee, but I've yearned—
Longed to return
My home is 'way down in Al-a-bam'
On a plantation near Birmingham,
And one thing's certain,
I'm surely flirtin',
With those southbound trains.

Dodge Cars Make High Records in Mountain Climbing

A strange coincidence occurred at the Dodge Brothers plant Thursday when letters were received in the same mail from Cape Town, South Africa, and Fairbanks, Alaska, each announcing a record-breaking performance by a Dodge Brothers car.

In South Africa, a Dodge Brothers car had climbed to the top of Pearl Rock mountain, a mass that looms on the horizon of Cape Town. Almost since the day motoring began in Africa, Pearl Rock's peak has been the objective of ambitious motorists. Failure after failure was recorded, but that did not deter others from attempts. For several months a prize of 50 pounds ($250) has been posted for the first car making the ascent.

A Dodge Brothers car owner conceived the idea that the money might be of some benefit to the martyrs of war, so he took the rock trail. "It will interest you to know," writes H. W. Allkin, Dodge Brothers district representative in South Africa, "that one of our standard model cars made the climb without difficulty on June 24. The fact has been vouched for and certified by the editor of 'Motoring in South Africa.' The 50 pounds will be turned over to the editor for distribution among the war funds."

The Alaskan feat was that of Grover Frame, who, in a standard Dodge Brothers touring car, brake all records inatripfrom Fairbanks toChitna, Alaska. The time for the 360 miles was 46 hours, 30 minutes, including stops. This is six hours less than ever accomplished before.

The French aviator who dropped handbills on Berlin missed a trick. He should have created a riot by dropping a tenderloin steak.—Philadelphia North American.

Yacht Nokomis to Be Judge's Boat in Coming Race in Detroit River

It will be easy going for the judges in the gold challenge cup race and one mile championship of North America, on the Detroit river, September 2, 4, 5 and 6. The famous yacht Nokomis, owned by H. E. Dodge, Detroit motor car manufacturer and yacht enthusiast, is to be the judge's boat during the entire speed fastival. The No-Romis is one of the largest and most elaborately equipped yachts in the country and attracted wide attention while building in the east several years ago. She is a steel steam craft, 180 feet long, 23 feet 7 inches beam.

Mr. Dodge, the owner, as well as his brother, John F. Dodge, will be among the most interested spectators. H. E. Dodge is a member of the Miss Detroit Power Boat association, with the rank of rear commodore.

The race course is along the Detroit river front, with admirable facilities on all sides for spectators. At least ten of the fastest boats in the country will participate.

When the Little Old Home Town Is Missed.

(Indianoplis News.)

It gives you a queer feeling to be transplanted from the little home town to a crowded city street made up of houses, houses, houses, where you don't know a soul, and never expect to. City folk don't care who lives across the street or next door. They have their friends scattered about in various places where they find them when they want them. But we small town folk just wonder and wonder who lives behind all those lovely front doors, and when we catch a glimpse of the inhabitants we're interested in them and wonder where they came from, and what names they all bear.

If by chance we find, from the telephone directory, that the people just back of us wear the very same name we wear we wonder if they might be some of our long lost kith and kin, and if we'd like 'em if we knew 'em! It's always risky business hunting up kinfolk, so we'll not try it; but really, the woman is so pretty and the baby so cunning and the young man who comes home in the machine at the end of the day is so proud of both of them, that we'd just like to say "Howdy—you've got the same name we have!" and take the consequences.

There's the two-year-old baby three houses down the street who waves her tiny hand and calls "by-by" when we pass. We'd like so to know her name and answer the friendly little greeting. And there is the lonely boy across the street who isn't used to city ways yet. He sits on the front steps with his elbows on his knees and his chin in his hands, the most dejected looking lump of boyhood that you could imagine. You want to cheer him up and tell him things will be better when he gets acquainted, but how in the world is he to get acquainted? And the young woman who walks up and down the back yard of the house across the alley, carrying a tiny baby in her arms and looking anxiously down into its little face. If I was only a little grayer I'd risk assuming a grandmotherly air and ask her if the baby is sick.

And there's the old man who sits on the front porch of the handsome house nearer the car line. We can't decide for certain whether he is sad or grouchy—feeling the bitterness of having to live off a son-in-law—or whether he is a hectoring old duffer, worrying the soul out of his daughter-in-law. Back home, we'd know all about it. And the handsome woman who sometimes buys fruit on one side of the Italian's cart, while you're buying on the other side—you'd like to know her, or you think you would.

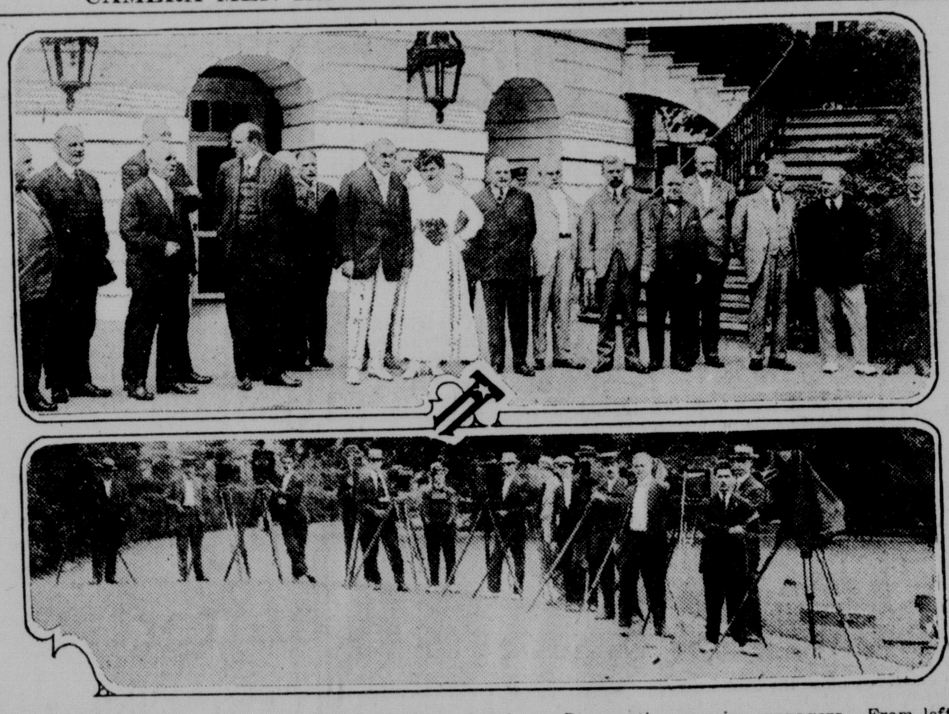

That's the trouble in the city, you can't know for certain whom you want to know, until you know—which makes things complicated. Gradually you grow accustomed to the strange houses and strange faces, and form your own ideas.

Gradually you get on speaking terms with the shy baby boy next door, so that when you go out he doesn't make a wild dive for his back porch, but stands up in his sand pile, waving his hands excitedly while he tells you some wonderful rigamarole about his bucket and spoon and you find him quite as lovable as any baby at home.

The city throws its spell about you, and you find it mighty interesting and entertaining, and you grow to love the strange street because it seems home after the little trips away from it, but, for country folk used to country ways, give us the home town, where every house beams on us like a familiar face as we pass—where we know the people behind the front doors, and love them, just because they are our home folk.

GOOD MANNERS THROWN TO WINDS

Still they come. In the July 20 issue of Motor Age were printed the tales of woe of old Joe Stephenson and the mysterious Mr. X. J. W. Hayden attempted to soothe the wrought nerves of these two unfortunates who had suffered at the hands of motorists by an open letter printed last week, in which he suggested they buy "one of the gol darn things," and give dust for dust and noise for noise, 50-50, so to speak. The morning search through the editor's basket unearthed the following, which comes from the Dakotas, but is, according to writer, applicable to "most any ol' place:"

"Why the possession of a motor car should so often work a disastrous change in ordinary considerate persons is one of the psychological phenomena that scientists as yet have not explained. Motorists who would be hurt to the quick if accused of being ill-mannered, nevertheless constantly indulge in practices which convict them of callous inconsiderateness of the comfort and convenience of others. And, after all, good manners are nothing in the world but a due regard for the feelings of others.

"Yet the average man, generally well mannered and considerate, starts his car and throws good manners to the winds. Late at night, passing houses whose occupants have long been in bed, he wakes the hours with his horn, or, in order to save a fancied ounce or two of power, opens wide his muffler and with it the eyes of would-be sleepers. Almost it would seem that, like whisky, gasoline and good manners will not mix.

"Unfortunately, the observations are not only pertinent, but admit of no denial. There is no reason why good training should not manifest itself as much at the wheel of a motor car as at the dinner table. Stirring soup with one's finger or eating pie with one's knife are no less signs of ill manners than their parallels on the street or road.

"The motorist's horn may demonstrate regard for others even in greater degree than a soup spoon. The noise of an open cutout popping saucily at the driver of a car just passed is no less offensive than the noise of soup syphoned from a ladle into pursed lips. The raucous tooting of horns at unnecessary times is rasping on the disposition, no less a demonstration of ungainliness than treading on one's feet at a fancy ball.

"True enough, good manners all too frequently are left at the front door when one goes motoring. When cars become the general vehicle for nearly all the people, it is time that we give some thought to our manners on the road. Let us be considerate in one place as well as in another, and let evidence of good or bad training be as effective in one place as in another."—Motor Age.

Daring Air Man Buys Willys-Knight

Another tribute to the Willys-Knight motor was paid the other day by Art Smith, America's foremost "stunt" aviator, when he cabled a purchase order for a Willys-Knight car to the Overland and Willys-Knight dealer in his home town, Fort Wayne, Ind.

For years Smith had been ranked among the foremost exponents of "loop-the-loop" and "up-side-down" flying, but it was during the past twelve months that he achieved his greatest fame by feats of daring at the two Pacific coast expositions.

Not long ago Smith started for the Orient, where he is now spending his vacation. While in Japan he happened to see a Willys-Knight touring car in action. The absolute silence of the motor, its reliability, power, flexibility and economy aroused his curiosity. Being an expert on gasoline-driven motors, he at once realized the immense advantage of the sleeve-valve type.

Without further delay he cabled to the Overland dealer in Fort Wayne to deliver immediately to his mother one Willys-Knight touring car, so that it would be at home when he returns from abroad later in the summer.

ARE YOU FROM DIXIE?

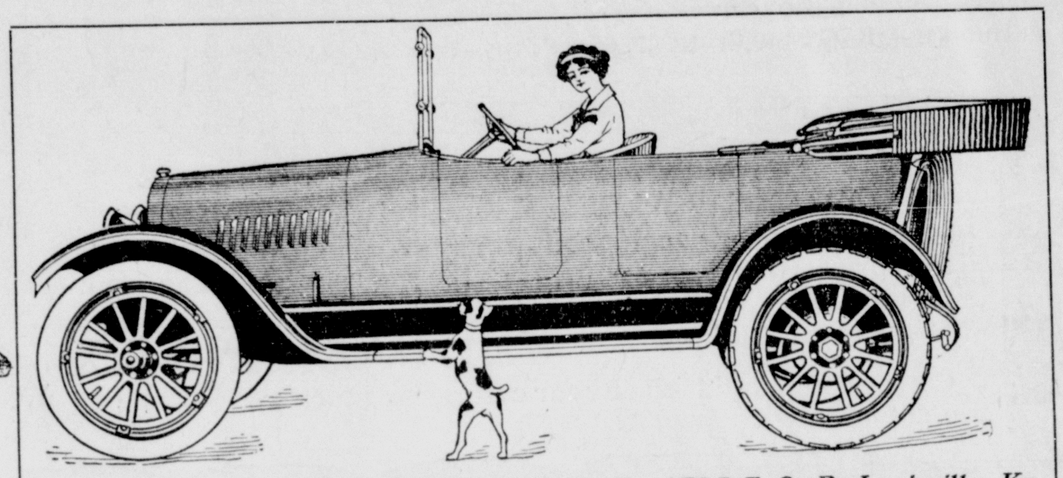

Hel-lo there, stranger! how do you do?
There's something I'd like to say to you—
Don't be surprised,
You're recognized!
I'm no detective, but I've just surmised.
You're from the place where I long to be.
Your smiling face seems to say to me,
You're from my own land—my sunny homeland—
Tell me, can it be?

Made in Dixie— Sold All Over the World

It was away back, back in eighty-nine,
I crossed the old Mason and Dixon line.
Gee, but I've yearned—
Longed to return
My home is 'way down in Al-a-bam'
On a plantation near Birmingham,
And one thing's certain,
I'm surely flirtin',
With those southbound trains.

CHORUS.

Are you from Dixie?
I said from Dixie!
Where the fields of cotton beckon to me.
I'm glad to see you; tell me how be you
And the friends I'm longing to see?
If you're from Alabama, Tennessee or Carolina,
Any place below the Mason and Dixon line—
Then you're from Dixie;
Hurray for Dixie!
'Cause I'm from Dixie, too! Are you from Dixie, too?

Dodge Cars Make High Records in Mountain Climbing

A strange coincidence occurred at the Dodge Brothers plant Thursday when letters were received in the same mail from Cape Town, South Africa, and Fairbanks, Alaska, each announcing a record-breaking performance by a Dodge Brothers car.

In South Africa, a Dodge Brothers car had climbed to the top of Pearl Rock mountain, a mass that looms on the horizon of Cape Town. Almost since the day motoring began in Africa, Pearl Rock's peak has been the objective of ambitious motorists. Failure after failure was recorded, but that did not deter others from attempts. For several months a prize of 50 pounds ($250) has been posted for the first car making the ascent.

A Dodge Brothers car owner conceived the idea that the money might be of some benefit to the martyrs of war, so he took the rock trail. "It will interest you to know," writes H. W. Allkin, Dodge Brothers district representative in South Africa, "that one of our standard model cars made the climb without difficulty on June 24. The fact has been vouched for and certified by the editor of 'Motoring in South Africa.' The 50 pounds will be turned over to the editor for distribution among the war funds."

The Alaskan feat was that of Grover Frame, who, in a standard Dodge Brothers touring car, brake all records inatripfrom Fairbanks toChitna, Alaska. The time for the 360 miles was 46 hours, 30 minutes, including stops. This is six hours less than ever accomplished before.

The French aviator who dropped handbills on Berlin missed a trick. He should have created a riot by dropping a tenderloin steak.—Philadelphia North American.

(Indianoplis News.)

It gives you a queer feeling to be transplanted from the little home town to a crowded city street made up of houses, houses, houses, where you don't know a soul, and never expect to. City folk don't care who lives across the street or next door. They have their friends scattered about in various places where they find them when they want them. But we small town folk just wonder and wonder who lives behind all those lovely front doors, and when we catch a glimpse of the inhabitants we're interested in them and wonder where they came from, and what names they all bear.

If by chance we find, from the telephone directory, that the people just back of us wear the very same name we wear we wonder if they might be some of our long lost kith and kin, and if we'd like 'em if we knew 'em! It's always risky business hunting up kinfolk, so we'll not try it, but really, the woman is so pretty and the baby so cunning and the young man who comes home in the machine at the end of the day is so proud of both of them, that we'd just like to say "Howdy—you've got the same name we have!" and take the consequences.

There's the two-year-old baby three houses down the street who waves her tiny hand and calls "by-by" when we pass. We'd like so to know her name and answer the friendly little greeting. And there is the lonely boy across the street who isn't used to city ways yet. He sits on the front steps with his elbows on his knees and his chin in his hands, the most dejected looking lump of boyhood that you could imagine. You want to cheer him up and tell him things will be better when he gets acquainted, but how in the world is he to get acquainted? And the young woman who walks up and down the back yard of the house across the alley, carrying a tiny baby in her arms and looking anxiously down into its little face. If I was only a little graver I'd risk assuming a grandmotherly air and ask her if the baby is sick.

And there's the old man who sits on the front porch of the handsome house nearer the car line. We can't decide for certain whether he is sad or grouchy—feeling the bitterness of having to live off a son-in-law—or whether he is a hectoring old duffer, worrying the soul out of his daughter-in-law. Back home, we'd know all about it. And the handsome woman who sometimes buys fruit on one side of the Italian's cart, while you're buying on the other side—you'd like to know her, or you think you would.

That's the trouble in the city, you can't know for certain whom you want to know, until you know—which makes things complicated. Gradually you grow accustomed to the strange houses and strange faces, and form your own ideas.

Gradually you get on speaking terms with the shy baby boy next door, so that when you go out he doesn't make a wild dive for his back porch, but stands up in his sand pile, waving his hands excitedly while he tells you some wonderful rigamarole about his bucket and spoon and you find him quite as lovable as any baby at home.

The city throws its spell about you, and you find it mighty interesting and entertaining, and you grow to love the strange street because it seems home after the little trips away from it, but, for country folk used to country ways, give us the home town, where every house beams on us like a familiar face as we pass—where we know the people behind the front doors, and love them, just because they are our home folk.

THE WAY FRANCE MAKES CHAUFFEURS

W. F. BRADLEY TELLS A MOST INTERESTING STORY IN THE MOTOR AGE.

He Has Been on the Ground and Hence Knows What He Is Talking About.

W. F. Bradley tells a very interesting story in this week's Motor Age entitled "How France Makes Chauffeurs." Mr. Bradley has won his spurs as a writer and has also been on the ground, so the story is interesting. In part he says:

"If the military authorities of France had possessed prophetic vision two years ago, it is probable that they would have picked out every man possessing a government motor driving license and placed him in a special military motor corps, but it was not given to anybody to foresee the immense development of motor vehicles to warfare, and men were estimated according to their fighting and not according to their motoring value.

"Thus it has been necessary, while the war is in progress, to train men to handle the trucks, touring cars, ambulances, tractors and other mechanical vehicles employed by the thousands in connection with the armies in the field. Military economy says that the men to be trained as motor truck drivers shall be those standing lowest in the army scale of efficiencies. The healthy young fellow in his twenties is wanted in the firing line; the workman's place is in the shell factories; the young wounded soldier, no longer capable of heavy marching and exposure to all weathers, can be transformed into the expert driver of a fast car. The man who is nearing or who has passed the age of 40, the laborer with no special qualifications, the man of mediocre intelligence, the man who has managed, despite conscription, to reach middle age without having handled a gun—this is the man military economy designates as suitable for licking into shape as a truck driver at the front.

"And they want these men urgently. They get them in fifteen days, and after only fifteen hours' actual driving experience. At the end of that time they are really good drivers. They are not men you would send out alone with a 90-horsepower semi-racing car; but put them at the wheel of a White, Packard, Pierce, Kelly or any other make of truck, and they will go up to the firing line, over shell-swept roads, with the regularity and correctness of a team of veterans.

FARM HANDS BECOME GOOD DRIVERS.

"The transformation in those fifteen days is marvelous. It must be remembered that France is primarily an agricultural country and that only the elite of its farmers have heard of Henry Ford. The men passed into the truck schools are mostly workers on the land who never have found it a handicap to be unable to differentiate between a steam locomotive and an internal combustion motor, yet it is men such as these who helped to save Verdun and elicited praise from General Joffre for the way in which they carried out their duties.

"From their various regimental depots these future drivers are sent to a camp established to provide theoretical instruction and form touring car drivers, but the officers of this school want only the best men for touring cars; the others are turned out, four or five days later, to the school specially established for the formation of truck drivers. In four days you cannot do much with a man who never previously looked under a motor hood, and whose experience with machinery has been limited to a hay chopper. Thus, while it has to be assumed that the men can name the various components of a motor car and know the functions of the different levers and pedals, the officers must handle them as babes in motordom.

"The quick results are obtained by a good system intelligently applied, and also by an ever-present willingness on the part of the men. Unlike many military schemes the system is not a fetish. As each new arrival reports he has to sign on his equipment card a statement that he possesses or does not possess the government driving license which is delivered only after a practical test."

Thinks Farmers of This Section in Good Condition

After traveling all over six or seven counties in this section for the last several months, and seeing probably every school house in half a dozen counties, E. H. Allcorn is firmly convinced that the farmers, the backbone of the country, are in good condition and are cheerful as to the future; he also is of the opinion that the crops this year in most of the section visited will be better than an average, and with the high prices obtaining, thinks that certainly times ought to be good next fall.

The counties visited by Mr. Allcorn in such thorough manner are McLennan, Bosque, Corvell, Falls, Bell and Hill, and as stated above he has seen every school house in these counties in his peregrinations, the trips being made in a machine, which afforded excellent opportunity for observations.

Speaking yesterday, Mr. Allcorn said that the crops are generally good, and that he had seen a good deal of cotton that would make a bale to the acre, while in a few sections, notable beyond Crawford and above Chilton, it had been dry and the cotton was not good, but farmers stated that they had made good crops of small grain, and that with the cotton they would get, they would be all right. In many places all crops had turned out well.

All in all, Mr. Allcorn feels that Central Texas is going into the fall season in fine form, and with a cheerful and contented people.

MULE AND LOCOMOTIVE.

In Northumberland county, where many remarkable things occur, or where many things occur that would be remarkable anywhere else, some railroad men are meanly seeking to deprive a mule of the credit of kicking a locomotive off the track. The railroad men have revolutionized transportation and thrown horses and mules out of their jobs, and it is extremely unfair to them to deprive a mule of the honor to which his heels entitle him.

The facts are that a mule, drawing a wagon, started to cross a railroad track, when his attention was attracted by an approaching train. He was curious to see which of them had the right of way. The engineer blew his whistle, which further excited the interest of the mule, who has a pretty powerful whistle of his own. He misunderstood its significance, thinking the whistle a challenge which no free-born and high-strung American mule would evade, or he may have recognized it as an order to move on and have resented its impudence.

At any rate, he stood where he was, watching the engine with close attention. He was clear of the tracks, but the wagon was not. The locomotive struck the wagon and knocked it free of the mule. In military parlance, this unmasked the mule's battery. The wagon would have saved the locomotive from disaster. The engineer, feeling the contempt of his class for the mule, ignored this and allowed his machine to set the mule free. Instantly the mule exercised his constitutional rights in this land of liberty, where a mule is as good as a locomotive, and there are no class distinctions in traction appliances. He planted his two heels against the cowcatcher of the locomotive, which was never intended to catch mules, and the locomotive turned over and fell into the ditch.

The mule claims that he kicked a locomotive off the track, and the facts support him. The trainmen try to break the force of this overwhelming defeat at the hands—or rather at the feet—of an humble quadruped by saying the brakes were out of order and that their misconduct threw the engine from the track. This won't do. When brakes are in order their application will stop a train. When they are out of order their application will not stop a train. But what have the brakes to do with a locomotive leaving the rails and lying down in the ditch?. Nothing whatever. If the brakes had been in order the engine would probably have stopped before it reached the wagon, but beyond that they can have nothing to do with the fact that the engine left the rails.

The facts are unquestionably on the side of the mule. It is not disputed that he kicked the locomotive. It is admitted that the locomotive immediately thereafter toppled over and lay down in the ditch. This Northumberland county mule undoubtedly kicked a locomotive off the track.—Philadelphia Record.

Cuban Motorist Rides 13,000 Miles on Goodyear Tires

American motorists have become so accustomed to reckoning the life of their tires in terms of miles that many of them will undoubtedly be surprised to learn that in Cuba, where American automobiles have rapidly been increasing in numbers, actual mileage service is rarely taken into consideration. It is seldom that the Cuban motorist can tell you the mileage of any of his tires, as the worth of an automobile tire is based almost entirely on the length of time it has been in service.

"This unusual manner of determining tire satisfaction is well illustrated in an experience which one of our representatives has just reported," says J. C. MacFadyean, manager of the export department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, Ohio.

"Our representative recently called on a Cuban motorist who had been using Goodyear tires, with the object, of course, of keeping him supplied with them, but was met with the frank statement that no more Goodyears would appear on his car. The last one had lasted only three months.

"When asked concerning the mileage secured he merely gestured toward the speedometer, stating that the tires came with the car. The Goodyear man might see for himself.

"The speedometer registered 13,000 miles. But when this remarkable mileage was explained to him, he remained as unmoved as Mount Olympus, declaring with a shrug of the shoulders, 'The Goodyear did not last LONG enough.'

"When it became known that he had purchased a tire of other make, a Goodyear tire was offered him free if the new tire would show as great mileage as the Goodyear taken off.

"This is but one of the many problems which the introduction of American-made tires has encountered in other lands, and emphasizes the need of studying the consumer's viewpoint, and at the same time point out the standards by which tire satisfaction shoul dbe computed. Goodyear is carrying a campaign to motorists in this and other lands to sell miles with Goodyear tires instead of mere length of service."

The Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia recently purchased a fleet of ten Autocar trucks. The entire fleet came equipped with Goodyear tires.

Beauty Hints for the Woman Motorist

As the theatre season approaches, the woman who has neglected her skin while motoring finds herself wishing that she could remove the tan makeup which she has acquired. For tan and other ravages of the sun and wind are not improved to any great extent under artificial light. And for the woman there is a consummation also devoutly to be wished that she be able to exchange the motorist role for an indoors role without advertising her former avocation by her face.

Tan, freckles and sunburn are no necessary evils, however. Carelessness is responsible for most of the ills that summer and outdoor sports seem to make the skin heir to. In warm weather the skin relaxes. The pores are more open, and hence more quickly clogged. In spite of this, you probably sit on the beach in the sun with no protection for your face or hair. Your hair becomes dry and sunburned. Your skin, aided by long motor trips in the dust and grime, also becomes dry and sunburned. But you can motor, swim and live outdoors most of the time with only slight effect on your skin if you follow a few precautions.

One thing that hinders the prevention of freckles, tan and sunburn is the almost universal practice of using powder as a cure-all. This is harmful rather than helpful, and especially so when care is not taken in the selection of the powder. Of course the powder itself may not be harmful, but there is always a danger of clogging the pores with it, and this is as much to be avoided as clogging the pores with dust.

Powder is one of the first-aid means of prevention, moreover. The judicious use of a pure cold cream, followed by a light dusting with a pure powder, will protect the skin as no veil ever does without adding the discomforts of heat and closeness to its protection.

No doubt many have let the summer go by so far without paying much attention to the skin. But if the sun and wind have not caused too much damage already, prompt steps will save future trouble in bleaching.

Thinks Farmers of This Section in Good Condition

After traveling all over six or seven counties in this section for the last several months, and seeing probably every school house in half a dozen counties, E. H. Allcorn is firmly convinced that the farmers, the backbone of the country, are in good condition and are cheerful as to the future; he also is of the opinion that the crops this year in most of the section visited will be better than an average, and with the high prices obtaining, thinks that certainly times ought to be good next fall.

The counties visited by Mr. Allcorn in such thorough manner are McLennan, Bosque, Corvell, Falls, Bell and Hill, and as stated above he has seen every school house in these counties in his peregrinations, the trips being made in a machine, which afforded excellent opportunity for observations.

Speaking yesterday, Mr. Allcorn said that the crops are generally good, and that he had seen a good deal of cotton that would make a bale to the acre, while in a few sections, notable beyond Crawford and above Chilton, it had been dry and the cotton was not good, but farmers stated that they had made good crops of small grain, and that with the cotton they would get, they would be all right. In many places all crops had turned out well.

All in all, Mr. Allcorn feels that Central Texas is going into the fall season in fine form, and with a cheerful and contented people.

MULE AND LOCOMOTIVE.

In Northumberland county, where many remarkable things occur, or where many things occur that would be remarkable anywhere else, some railroad men are meanly seeking to deprive a mule of the credit of kicking a locomotive off the track. The railroad men have revolutionized transportation and thrown horses and mules out of their jobs, and it is extremely unfair to them to deprive a mule of the honor to which his heels entitle him.

The facts are that a mule, drawing a wagon, started to cross a railroad track, when his attention was attracted by an approaching train. He was curious to see which of them had the right of way. The engineer blew his whistle, which further excited the interest of the mule, who has a pretty powerful whistle of his own. He misunderstood its significance, thinking the whistle a challenge which no free-born and high-strung American mule would evade, or he may have recognized it as an order to move on and have resented its impudence.

At any rate, he stood where he was, watching the engine with close attention. He was clear of the tracks, but the wagon was not. The locomotive struck the wagon and knocked it free of the mule. In military parlance, this unmasked the mule's battery. The wagon would have saved the locomotive from disaster. The engineer, feeling the contempt of his class for the mule, ignored this and allowed his machine to set the mule free. Instantly the mule exercised his constitutional rights in this land of liberty, where a mule is as good as a locomotive, and there are no class distinctions in traction appliances. He planted his two heels against the cowcatcher of the locomotive, which was never intended to catch mules, and the locomotive turned over and fell into the ditch.

The mule claims that he kicked a locomotive off the track, and the facts support him. The trainmen try to break the force of this overwhelming defeat at the hands—or rather at the feet—of an humble quadruped by saying the brakes were out of order and that their misconduct threw the engine from the track. This won't do. When brakes are in order their application will stop a train. When they are out of order their application will not stop a train. But what have the brakes to do with a locomotive leaving the rails and lying down in the ditch? Nothing whatever. If the brakes had been in order the engine would probably have stopped before it reached the wagon, but beyond that they can have nothing to do with the fact that the engine left the rails.

The facts are unquestionably on the side of the mule. It is not disputed that he kicked the locomotive. It is admitted that the locomotive immediately thereafter toppled over and lay down in the ditch. This Northumberland county mule undoubtedly kicked a locomotive off the track.—Philadelphia Record.

THE WAY FRANCE MAKES CHAUFFEURS

W. F. BRADLEY TELLS A MOST INTERESTING STORY IN THE MOTOR AGE.

He Has Been on the Ground and Hence Knows What He Is Talking About.

W. F. Bradley tells a very interesting story in this week's Motor Age entitled "How France Makes Chauffeurs." Mr. Bradley has won his spurs as a writer and has also been on the ground, so the story is interesting. In part he says:

"If the military authorities of France had possessed prophetic vision two years ago, it is probable that they would have picked out every man possessing a government motor driving license and placed him in a special military motor corps, but it was not given to anybody to foresee the immense development of motor vehicles to warfare, and men were estimated according to their fighting and not according to their motoring value.

"Thus it has been necessary, while the war is in progress, to train men to handle the trucks, touring cars, ambulances, tractors and other mechanical vehicles employed by the thousands in connection with the armies in the field. Military economy says that the men to be trained as motor truck drivers shall be those standing lowest in the army scale of efficiencies. The healthy young fellow in his twenties is wanted in the firing line; the workman's place is in the shell factories; the young wounded soldier, no longer capable of heavy marching and exposure to all weathers, can be transformed into the expert driver of a fast car. The man who is nearing or who has passed the age of 40, the laborer with no special qualifications, the man of mediocre intelligence, the man who has managed, despite conscription, to reach middle age without having handled a gun—this is the man military economy designates as suitable for licking into shape as a truck driver at the front.

"And they want these men urgently. They get them in fifteen days, and after only fifteen hours' actual driving experience. At the end of that time they are really good drivers. They are not men you would send out alone with a 90-horsepower semi-racing car; but put them at the wheel of a White, Packard, Pierce, Kelly or any other make of truck, and they will go up to the firing line, over shell-swept roads, with the regularity and correctness of a team of veterans.

FARM HANDS BECOME GOOD DRIVERS.

"The transformation in those fifteen days is marvelous. It must be remembered that France is primarily an agricultural country and that only the elite of its farmers have heard of Henry Ford. The men passed into the truck schools are mostly workers on the land who never have found it a handicap to be unable to differentiate between a steam locomotive and an internal combustion motor, yet it is men such as these who helped to save Verdun and elicited praise from General Joffre for the way in which they carried out their duties.

"From their various regimental depots these future drivers are sent to a camp established to provide theoretical instruction and form touring car drivers, but the officers of this school want only the best men for touring cars; the others are turned out, four or five days later, to the school specially established for the formation of truck drivers. In four days you cannot do much with a man who never previously looked under a motor hood, and whose experience with machinery has been limited to a hay chopper. Thus, while it has to be assumed that the men can name the various components of a motor car and know the functions of the different levers and pedals, the officers must handle them as babes in motordom.

"The quick results are obtained by a good system intelligently applied, and also by an ever-present willingness on the part of the men. Unlike many military schemes the system is not a fetish. As each new arrival reports he has to sign on his equipment card a statement that he possesses or does not possess the government driving license which is delivered only after a practical test."

Cuban Motorist Rides 13,000 Miles on Goodyear Tires

American motorists have become so accustomed to reckoning the life of their tires in terms of miles that many of them will undoubtedly be surprised to learn that in Cuba, where American automobiles have rapidly been increasing in numbers, actual mileage service is rarely taken into consideration. It is seldom that the Cuban motorist can tell you the mileage of any of his tires, as the worth of an automobile tire is based almost entirely on the length of time it has been in service.

"This unusual manner of determining tire satisfaction is well illustrated in an experience which one of our representatives has just reported," says J. C. MacFadyean, manager of the export department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, Akron, Ohio.

"Our representative recently called on a Cuban motorist who had been using Goodyear tires, with the object, of course, of keeping him supplied with them, but was met with the frank statement that no more Goodyears would appear on his car. The last one had lasted only three months.

"When asked concerning the mileage secured he merely gestured toward the speedometer, stating that the tires came with the car. The Goodyear man might see for himself.

"The speedometer registered 13,000 miles. But when this remarkable mileage was explained to him, he remained as unmoved as Mount Olympus, declaring with a shrug of the shoulders, 'The Goodyear did not last LONG enough.'

"When it became known that he had purchased a tire of other make, a Goodyear tire was offered him free if the new tire would show as great mileage as the Goodyear taken off.

"This is but one of the many problems which the introduction of American-made tires has encountered in other lands, and emphasizes the need of studying the consumer's viewpoint, and at the same time point out the standards by which tire satisfaction shoul dbe computed. Goodyear is carrying a campaign to motorists in this and other lands to sell miles with Goodyear tires instead of mere length of service."

The Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia recently purchased a fleet of ten Autocar trucks. The entire fleet came equipped with Goodyear tires.

Beauty Hints for the Woman Motorist

As the theatre season approaches, the woman who has neglected her skin while motoring finds herself wishing that she could remove the tan make-up which she has acquired. For tan and other ravages of the sun and wind are not improved to any great extent under artificial light. And for the woman there is a consummation also devoutly to be wished that she be able to exchange the motorist role for an indoors role without advertising her former avocation by her face.

Tan, freckles and sunburn are no necessary evils, however. Carelessness is responsible for most of the ills that summer and outdoor sports seem to make the skin heir to. In warm weather the skin relaxes. The pores are more open, and hence more quickly clogged. In spite of this, you probably sit on the beach in the sun with no protection for your face or hair. Your hair becomes dry and sunburned. Your skin, aided by long motor trips in the dust and grime, also becomes dry and sunburned. But you can motor, swim and live outdoors most of the time with only slight effect on your skin if you follow a few precautions.

One thing that hinders the prevention of freckles, tan and sunburn is the almost universal practice of using powder as a cure-all. This is harmful rather than helpful, and especially so when care is not taken in the selection of the powder. Of course the powder itself may not be harmful, but there is always a danger of clogging the pores with it, and this is as much to be avoided as clogging the pores with dust.

Powder is one of the first-aid means of prevention, moreover. The judicious use of a pure cold cream, followed by a light dusting with a pure powder, will protect the skin as no veil ever does without adding the discomforts of heat and closeness to its protection.

No doubt many have let the summer go by so far without paying much attention to the skin. But if the sun and wind have not caused too much damage already, prompt steps will save future trouble in bleaching.

Percy Willis Auto Company Renews Overland Contract

The Percy Willis Auto company closed negotiations yesterday whereby they will represent exclusively the Overland automobile for another year in McLennan county. This firm will be extremely fortunate the coming year in that they will have in Waco a district agency handling cars and parts in large quantities, thus being able to supply any demand in the shortest time.

The Percy Willis Auto company have among the most successful automobile dealers in Central Texas and their past year's business, ending yesterday, is very satisfactory from every standpoint.

The Overland Sales company, the district agency for the Overland car will have offices with the Percy Willis Auto company. This, of course, will necessitate quite a larger amount of office space, floor space, etc., and work will start immediately getting things in shape for a greater year's record than ever before.

U. S. ARMY USING DODGE CAR AS "THE ARMY CAR"

GENERAL PERSHING ORDERS HIS STAFF TO USE DODGE CARS EXCLUSIVELY.

Decision Is Made After a Thorough Test Has Been Made in Service.

The tremendous significance which attaches to the fact that the United States army is using Dodge Bros. motor cars almost exclusively is just beginning to be appreciated by the car buying public.

The vast importance of the Dodge Brothers car as a factor in the present military operations is indicated by the fact that General Pershing after about the month's experience in Mexico with practically every well known car in operation, issued a general order that Dodge Brothers motor cars must be used exclusively by his staff. Since that time other army departments have, after varied experiences with other makes of automobiles, followed General Pershing's lead until hundreds of Dodge Brothers motor cars have been furnished the government to the practical exclusion of other makes.

The American army is so thoroughly convinced that the Dodge Brothers motor car has become known as "The Army Car."

A car that will stand up under the constant strain of service for week after week and month after month and continue to win the admiration of the most exacting army officers, is a car to be relied upon.

New Uses Found for Goodyear Tires by Ingenious Footmen

A new use has been found for Goodyear tires, reports an American business man who has just returned from an expedition into the Mexican interior. Although the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. has for more than a year been making soles of Neolin, a synthetic substance discovered in the Goodyear laboratories, which is replacing leather to a large degree, the Mexican peon serving as a guide on this expedition evidently is satisfied with Goodyear tires, themselves, when it comes to footwear.

Cotton canvas has for centuries been used to dress the feet. In China, for instance, only a small percentage of the natives, even in the colder sections, ever wear anything else. It would seem, therefore, that if the predictions of leather shortages in the near future prove true, many motorists might economize in footwear by using their discarded automobile casings, in emulation of the example of this enterprisnig peon.

In a recent fight near Vera Cruz, in which a detachment of Carranza soldiers surprised a band of raiders in a stolen automobile, the car was captured, but not until there was practically nothing salvable except the Goodyear tires. And these had suffered in the scramble, too.

The peon secured two pieces of the damaged tires and fashioned them into a pair of sandals which he declares are much better than the old leather ones, being more springy and durable. One of them bears the world-wide Goodyear trade mark, the Wingfoot. After the roughest kind of service over Mexican mountain trails, they showed but little wear. Twenty pesos were offered for them, but refused, although ordinary sandals can be purchased for twelve pesos.

During the entire time the Goodyear-equipped peon piloted the party through the Mexican wilds, his Goodyear sandals were the envy of the other peons in the outfit—so much so that he was compelled to wear them day and night to retain ownership.

Not long ago the trip from Oakland to the Yosemite valley in California was a week's journey, due partly to the prohibition of automobiles from the valley roads and to the forced stage ride. Just how near together these two places now are was demonstrated recently when four Oakland business men, in a Peerless car, equipped with Goodyear tires, made the round trip in eighteen hours and forty-one minutes. This remarkable record was made possible largely through the consistent performance of the Goodyear tires, not a minute's delay having been experienced.

In the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company's factory school more than a dozen subjects are being taught. Sixty-five classes are in operation. The school is open from 6:45 in the morning to 10:15 at night, five days a week, and classes convene at proper periods throughout the day to accommodate the men, no matter what shift they may be working on. All the educational courses are free of charge. The established policy of the company is to help all Goodyear men who wish to help themselves.

ROADS UNSATISFACTORY WITH POOR CULVERTS

Complete List of Defectives Should Be Supplied So Cost May Be Divided Among Taxpayers.

No matter how good the surface of a road may be, if the bridges are weak and the culverts poor, the highway is far from satisfactory. The annual record of bridge failures under threshing machines and other heavy loads makes a long list, and the cost of repairing the annual damage to poor culverts is a large sum. In progressive communities, therefore, strong steel and concrete bridges and well built culverts are being constructed before expensive road surfacing is done. This work is often paid for out of the annual tax levy for road and bridge construction, and absorbs such a large part of the funds that too little money is left for grading the surfacing. Good bridges and culverts are permanent structures, and the deputy minister of highways of Ontario, Hon. W. A. McLean, has advised the taxpayers of that province to pay for them by a bond issue when the total expenditure for the purpose is large. In such a case he suggests compiling a complete list of the bridges and culverts needed, preparing plans and estimates for their construction, and then financing the work so that its cost will be equitably distributed over a period of years rather than be concentrated on the taxpayers of a few years. Where there are few of these structures and none is expensive, the policy of paying for them out of the annual tax levy cannot be criticised, in his opinion, for it does not interfere appreciably with satisfactory progress in grading, drainage, surfacing and maintenance.

LOCAL ROAD CLUBS.

Only a few persons get what they wish without working for it. Good roads cannot be obtained by merely wishing for them. It is necessary to work for them, and to work continually and forcefully. This is just as true of good dirt roads as of the most expensive types. Furthermore, one or two men in a community can accomplish very little, except to persuade others to help actively in the campaign for improvements. Roads are community energy, expended continuously. It is not enough for a man to say he is interested in good roads; he must prove his faith by his works. Hundreds of good road clubs have been organized, but few have lived long or accomplished much because they did not work continuously along well-laid plans. Yet there is hardly a community where a good roads club cannot become a strong influence in improving the local highways and byways. The main roads receive the attention of the state and the county officials, but the much greater mileage of roads which are not parts of through routes must always be of local concern only. The improvement of through routes by the active, united effort of numerous persons interested in touring is one of the most noticeable results of a large part of the present methods of road propaganda. The same kind of work in a community will bring about equally good results in the betterment of local roads. It is the system of local roads which means most to a large portion of the rural taxpayers, for it is over the local roads that they go to market, their children go to school, and they take part in the social life of their neighborhood. The local club can accomplish a great deal of good for these roads, as has probably been shown most noticeably by the results of the work of the 365-Day Road club of Carthage, Mo.
